The Veil
Gates, Portals and Relics
The Veil is the space between worlds.
It does not move in a straight line,
but in currents, layers, and doors.
Each gate requires a key of some kind—a relic, a bloodline, a memory, a price, or a permission.

Grows temporary gates.
The Tear of Lazareth
Opens sealed histories.
The Halo Engine Key
Linked to ancient celestial doors.
The Third Name
A forbidden key tied to lost identities.
Aethernox's Mark
A watcher's key. Opens doors, not for entry, but for those who are lost.
The Nine Sigils
A complete set said to open a door that should never be opened.
Doors Beyond Doors
Some gates do not lead to a place, but to another door.
The deeper the Veil,
the more keys it demands.
Not all doors are meant to be opened.

11. The Mirror Gate
Key: Reflection Shard
Reflection Shard
A fragment of a true self.
Only what is remembered can pass.
12. The Dual Gate
Key: Paired Sigils
Paired Sigils
Two halves. Two bloodlines.
Two wills.
The door opens only in balance.
13. The Chained Gate
Key: Liberation Key Liberation Key
Forged from a broken contract.
It opens doors,
and ends bindings.
14. The Sleeping Gate
Key: Memory Lullaby
Memory Lullaby
A song, a scent, or a name from a forgotten time.
It opens what time has buried.
15. The Storm Gate
Key: Sky Fathom
Sky Fathom
A scale from a sky-born creature.
It responds to wind, altitude,
and the will to move forward.
16. The Root Gate
Key: Worldseed
Worldseed
A living key.
It roots the door to a place within the world and beyond.
17. The Ashen Gate
Key: Ember Core
Ember Core
Carried from a place that no longer exists.
It opens doors to what was lost.
18. The Tide Gate
Key: Abyss Pearl
Abyss Pearl
Born in the deepest dark.
It opens doors beneath,
between, and within waters.
19. The Celestial Gate
Key: Fallen Star
Fallen Star
A piece of the sky that broke.
It opens doors to places
the heavens tried to hide.
20. The Veil Nexus
Key: The Wanderer's Ring
The Wanderer's Ring
A key of many doors.
It does not choose a place—it answers the traveler.

AHK RA AND THE SEVEN CITIES
A CHRONICLE OF BROKEN OATHS, FALLEN LIGHT, AND A WORLD REMEMBERING.
ONCE SEVEN CITIES STOOD IN ALLIANCE. DIFFERENT PEOPLES. DIFFERENT SKIES. ONE VOW: TO KEEP THE LIGHT BETWEEN WORLDS. THEY FORGOT. WHAT THEY FEARED TO SEE.
AHK RA
THE ECLIPSE KING
NOT A CONQUEROR BUT A FULFILLMENT. HE BROUGHT THE ABSENCE THAT ENDS ALL THINGS.
THE HOSTS OF AHK RA
THEY CAME BENEATH A DEADENED SUN. NATIONS, CULTS, EXILES, AND THE DEVOTED. A SINGLE SHADOW. A HUNDRED BANNERS. THE WORLD MOVED WITH THEM.
THE SEVEN CITIES
DIFFERENT PEOPLES. DIFFERENT GODS. DIFFERENT STRENGTHS. ONE ALLIANCE.
I. VELTHAR
THE BRIGHT PORT
A CITY OF TRADERS. IT SAW THE SHIPS FIRST AND SENT WORDS TOO LATE.
II. ORMALIS
THE STONE VAULT
A CITY OF DEFENDERS. IT CLOSED ITS GATES AND COULD NOT HOLD.
III. SYLTHERA

VII. NERATH
THE LAST WATCH
A CITY OF OBSERVERS. IT STOOD LONGEST. AND FELL TO SILENCE.
1. THE GATHERING
THE SEVEN SENT ENVOYS. THEY SWORE TO AID ONE ANOTHER. OLD RIVALRIES WERE SET ASIDE. FOR A TIME, THERE WAS HOPE.
2. THE OMENS
THE SKY BROKE ITS PATTERN. THREE ECLIPSES IN A SEASON. THE SAGES WARNED, BUT THE COUNCILS ARGUED. PREPARATIONS WERE HALF-MADE, AND PRIDE MADE THE REST.
3. THE MARCH
AHK RA'S HOSTS CROSSED BORDERS. ALLIANCES CRACKED. SOME OPENED THEIR GATES. OTHERS WAITED TOO LONG. THE SEVEN WERE NO LONGER ONE.
4. THE FIRST FALL
VELTHAR FELL IN FLAME. ITS BEACONS TURNED TO ASH. THE RIVER RAN BLACK WITH TAR AND BLOOD. THE WORLD UNDERSTOOD AT LAST.
5. THE UNRAVELING
PEOPLE FLED FROM CITY TO CITY. ROADS WERE CHOKED WITH THE LIVING AND THE DEAD. TRUST DIED FASTER THAN PEOPLE.
6. THE RITUALS
IN EACH FALLEN CITY, AHK RA RAISED HIS MONOLITHS. THE FIRES OF SEVEN BECAME ONE. THE RITUAL JOINED THEIR RUIN INTO A SINGLE ECLIPSE.
7. THE SEVENTH SILENCE
NERATH STOOD UNTIL THE LAST. WHEN ITS LIGHT FINALLY DIED, THERE WAS NO CHEERING. ONLY ASH, AND A SKY WITHOUT STARS.
AFTERWORD
THE SEVEN CITIES ARE GONE. BUT THEIR STORY REMAINS. NOT AS VICTORY OR DEFEAT— BUT A WARNING. THAT THE LIGHT WE SHARE CAN ALSO BE FORGOTTEN.

BLACK HOUSE ASHURVEN

THROUGH ASH, THE WORLD RISES.

The Black House Ashurven are keepers of the Ending-Flame — a sacred fire that consumes false worlds so truer ones may be born.

They are not destroyers, but midwives. In ash they see not an end, but a return — and in ruin, the first breath of what is pure.

BURN · PURIFY · RETURN

THE FINAL CYCLE

When the eclipse veils the sky, the Ending-Flame consumes the false world. In ashes, the truer world takes root.

THE ASH MATRIARCH

Spoken vessel of the Ending-Flame. She foretells the fall, guides the burning, and receives the ashes of the old world.

"All things return. The flame is mercy."

FIRE MASKS

Masks worn in ritual to signify the surrender of the self. The face returns to ash, the will serves the flame.

ASHURVEN ACOLYTES

Veiled and sworn, the acolytes tend the flame, collect the ashes, and prepare what must end. They walk among the living as reminders that all things change — and that change is holy.

ROBES & GARMENTS

Layered ceremonial robes, woven with ash-silk and fire-thread. Each pattern marks a stage of surrender, purification, and renewal.

THE ASH ALTAR

Here, the old is offered to the flame. Relics, names, and memories are reduced to ash, that they may feed the next beginning.

RELICS OF THE ENDING-FLAME

Censer of Return
Burns memory, pride, and false ties to ash.

Crown of Cinders
Worn by the Matriarch. A circle unbroken, for all things return.

Ember Hourglass
Marks the turning. When the last grain falls, the old world is released.

Ash Gospel
Chronicles what was, that it may be unmade. Every ending is a lesson for the next world.

ASH MARKINGS

Ash markings signify the stages of initiation: letting go, purification, and rebirth. The ash does not mark ownership, but remembrance.

LETTING GO (Empty) · PURIFICATION (Through Flame) · REBIRTH (Return)

THE INITIATION

1. THE VEIL
The seeker abandons name and past, and wears the mask.

2. THE BURN
False ties are consigned to flame. What remains is made pure.

3. THE ASH
The initiate is marked with sacred ash, a sign of return.

4. THE RISING
They rise as acolytes, no longer bound to the old world, but devoted to what comes next.

SIGILS OF ASHURVEN

THE ENDING-FLAME
Destruction as mercy.

THE ASHEN CIRCLE
All things return.

THE NEXT WORLD
Rebirth through ruin.

THE BLACK HOUSE
We keep the flame.

SAME ASH.
A BRIGHTER WORLD.

BLACK HOUSE QINARETH

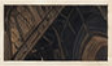
キナレスの黒き家

TO PRESERVE.
TO STUDY.
TO TRANSCEND.

The Black House Qinareth is a scholarly cult devoted to the dead, seeking truth through bone, memory and the ordered remains of the world. They archive what others fear, believing all things end, and therefore all things can be known.

THE ARCHIVE-CATHEDRAL

The House maintains vast catacombs and libraries where the dead are kept, studied, and remembered. Knowledge, flesh, and spirit are all considered specimens in the same great index.



THE LIBRARY OF REMAINS

Texts, bones, and worldly relics are catalogued together. The library is both a tomb and a laboratory, where history, biology, and the divine are studied as one.

HIERARCHY & ATTIRE

HIGH SCHOLAR-PRIEST
Interprets the Will of the Unending Archive. Leads rites, research, and doctrine.

MAGISTER
Directs departments, research, and expeditions. Specialists in bone, text, spirit, or alchemy.

ACOLYTE
Trained in study, ritual, and preservation. They assist in cataloguing, preparation, and rites.

OSSUARY KEEPER
Maintains the reliquaries, specimens, and catacombs. Part scholar, part mortician, part sentinel.

ROBES & DETAILS

Layered robes in ivory, black, and gold. Embroidered with bone sigils and archival prayers. Designed for study, ritual, and years of wear.

INSIGNIA & SIGILS

The Sign of Qinareth
A circle unbroken. A spine ascending. Knowledge beyond decay.

Lesser Marks
Used to denote departments, ranks, and areas of study.

Processional Banner
Carried in rites, funerary marches, and expeditions.

RELICS & TOOLS

THE FIRST CATALOG
A venerated skull, said to be the first to speak in dream and give the House its calling.

BONE RELIQUARY
Used to house important remains, sealed with script and House sigils.

MEMORY LENS
A device for studying bone structure and residual traces. Used in both research and divination.

SCHOLAR'S KIT
Scalpels, brushes, calipers, and other instruments for preparation, study, and preservation.

SPECIMEN JARS
Tissues, organs, and anomalous remains preserved for long-term study. Each is carefully labeled and indexed.

LIBRARY SPECIMENS

Specimens are preserved, studied, and cross-referenced with texts, their stories woven into the House's growing understanding of life, death, and what lies beyond.

INITIATION RITE

1. THE VEILING
The initiate is brought before the altar and veiled, leaving behind their former name.

2. THE QUESTION
They are made to contemplate a skull, and asked to speak what they see, testing mind, humility, and perception.

3. THE INSCRIPTION
A mark is burned or painted upon the hand, binding them to the Archive and its truths.

4. THE ACCEPTANCE
The veil is lifted. The initiate is given a new name and a text to begin their studies.

ALTAR TABLE

Used in study, ritual, and the preparation of remains. The altar unites science and devotion.

IN DEATH WE FIND WHAT LIVES TRULY LASTS.

BLACK HOUSE SERAPHEL

THE FALLEN ALSO SHINE

Seraphel is a heretical bloodline of the Black House, revering the beauty of the fallen, the stolen light, and the right to ascend through transgression. They believe divinity is not given — but taken, that even in ruin, the angels still sing, and that the end of the world is a homecoming.

KEY TENETS

- Divine Theft
- Fallen Grace
- Zealous Ascension
- Beauty in Ruin
- The World as Offering

"If the heavens cast them out, we will build a truer home in the ashes."
— House Seraphel

THE PATRIARCH

Current Head of House Seraphel. A visionary, a thief of halos, and a voice the fallen still follow. They are both priest and heretic, cloaked in the memory of heaven.

"We do not mourn the fall. We complete it."

THE RUINED SANCTUM

Once a celestial cathedral, now a hollow crown. Beneath the eclipsed sky, the Seraphel conduct their rites, drawing strength from the silence between worlds.

"Here, the light still bleeds."

ACOLYTES

Devoted followers who live, pray, and serve in the shadow of the fallen. They wear the faces of lost angels, concealing identity to become vessels of something higher.

MASK STUDIES

Feathered masks symbolize the fallen hosts. Each design reflects a choir, a sin, or a lost virtue.

Pride
Obedience
Silence
Ruin Redemption

CULT PROCESSION

The Seraphel move as one — banners high, masks forward, voices raised. Their processions mark eclipses, fallen stars, and the taking of relics.

"We walk the same road as the fallen — not to repent, but to arrive."

RELIC BLADES

Weapons forged from stolen halos, meteor-iron, and the bones of forgotten saints. Each blade is a prayer, a confession, and a claim.

SERAEL — Crown-Taker
LAMENT — Choirbreaker
ECLIPSE — World-Ender
VESPERS — Last Hymn

BANNERS & SIGILS

The Seraphel sigil represents a broken halo, a descending wing, and a new dawn. Their banners are carried into battle, into prayer, and into the end.

"A fall is not an end — but a truer beginning."

VARIATIONS ACROSS CHOIRS

COSTUME DETAILS

ROBE LAYERING
Liturgical fabrics, repurposed vestments, and mourning silks.

METALWORK
Stolen halo fragments, meteor-iron, and ecclesiastical bindings.

BACK ORNAMENT
A fractured wing, worn as a reminder and a promise.

BELT & RELICS
Scroll cases, vials of ash, coins from fallen temples.

SACRED TEXTS

Pages speak of stolen light, new heavens, and the beauty of endings. The text is both scripture and spell, read aloud during eclipses and final rites.

The Canticle of Unmaking
A collection of hymns, confessions, and visions said to be written by fallen angels themselves.

FINAL RITE

When the eclipse reaches its height, the Seraphel offer prayers to the fallen, burning relics, names, and the past itself. They do not seek forgiveness — but a new world.

"Ash to light. Ruin to crown. The end is ours."

BLACK HOUSE VELLORIAN

SECRET CORRESPONDENCE

Words travel further than we do.

A letter can be a key, a bribe, a confession, or a spell.

HIDDEN CHAMBERS

Beneath the city lie rooms of reflection — archives, scrying chambers, and places where names are unmade.

"What you seek may already be here, wearing a different name."

A RITUAL OF REFLECTION

Veils are lifted. Names are shed.
In shared illusion, new loyalties take root.

"See yourself as we see you — and become what we need."

HOUSE ASHURVEN

— CULT DESIGN —

"All things end.
All endings burn.
In the flame,
we are made pure."

The Ending Flame
destroys to cleanse.
In ash, all are equal.
In ash, all begin again.

THE ENDING FLAME
High Priestess of House Ashurven

"Through fire,
all false things fall.
Through ash,
the true remain."

CULT BANNERS
Ashurven sigils, funeral pyres, and the mark of the Ending Flame.

HOUSE ASHURVEN PRIMARY SIGIL
The circle unbroken.
The world in flame.
The end as beginning.

SACRED EMBER MARK
Ash upon flesh.
A sign of surrender.
A promise of rebirth.

ASH ACOLYTE
Bearers of Sacred Cinders
"We tend what ends, that it may begin."

PYRE ACOLYTE
Keepers of the Rite
"Fire remembers what the world forgets."

ASH MASKS

Novice Mask
To forget the self.

Acolyte Mask
To speak for the flame.

Ritual Mask
To become the end.

CEREMONIAL ROBES

Ceremonial robes woven with ash-dyed linen, charred silk, and ember-gold thread. Each robe bears the sigil of endings — a reminder that all forms return to fire.

RITUAL TOOLS & RELICS

CENSER OF RETURNING ASH
Carries the sacred cinders of the fallen.

CROWN OF EMBERS
Worn by those who lead the final rite.

PYRE BLADE
Used to anoint with ash and blood.

HEART RELIQUARY
Contains embers from the First Pyre.

RITE BRAZIER
Keeps the Ending Flame ever burning.

BOOK OF CINDERS
Records the names of the burned: that they may be reborn.

THE PYRE TEMPLE
Seat of the Ending Flame.
Where the dead are offered,
the world is cleansed, and new beginnings rise from the ashes.

THE FINAL RITE
Bodies, kings, and worlds are given to the flame.
In destruction, there is no loss — only transformation.

SACRED CINDERS
The remains of the fallen.
Scattered, worn, or enshrined.
All ash returns to the flame.

REBIRTH
From ash, new life.
The Ending Flame
consumes, purifies, and brings forth what comes next.

NERATH
AFTER THE LAST WATCH

A CITY OF OBSERVERS, A LIGHT FOR MANY,
NOW SILENT.

THIS IS WHAT REMAINS.

THE SIGNALS ARE COLD.
THE OBSERVATORIES FALLEN.
THE BELLS REMOVED.

BUT PEOPLE REMAIN.

NERATH ENDURES
IN MEMORY, AND IN WHAT CAN BE SAVED.

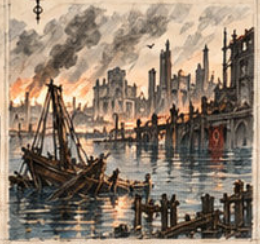
I. THE HIGH OBSERVATORY
BROKEN HEAVENS

THE DOMES ARE OPEN TO THE SKY.
TELESCOPES LIE IN RUIN.
THE STARS ARE SILENT.

II. BRIGHT PORT
BURNED QUAYS



ONCE A GATE OF KNOWLEDGE,
AND TRADE. NOW CHARRED HULLS AND QUIET WHARFS.

III. THE STONE VAULT
SHATTERED ARCHIVES

BOOKS ARE SALVAGED FROM ASH.
SOME ARE LOST. OTHERS LIVE AGAIN
IN OTHER HANDS.

IV. THE LIVING SPIRE
A BROKEN HEART

THE SPIRE NO LONGER SINGS.
ITS GARDENS ARE CINDER.
YET ROOTS STILL PUSH THROUGH.

V. THE SCHOLAR'S RISE
FALLEN TOWERS

HOMES OF TEACHERS AND SEEKERS.
NOW ROOFS WITHOUT WALLS AND CHALK UPON ASH.

VI. THE FORGE CITY

THE FORGES ARE STILL.
IRON SLEEPS. THE CRAFTSPEOPLE
SCAVENGE WHAT CAN BE USED.

VII. THE LAST WATCH
AN EMPTY HORIZON

THE SIGNAL FIRES ARE COLD.
NO BEACONS REMAIN.
ONLY STONES AND CROWS.

1. AFTERMATH

WHEN THE WATCH ENDED, THE CITY FELL QUIET.
THE LIVING WALKED AMONG THE ASHES.
THERE WAS ONLY SMOKE AND THE SOUND OF CROWS.

2. RECOVERY TEAMS

TEAMS SALVAGE BELLS, BOOKS, AND PARTS OF THE SKY.
WHAT CAN BE CARRIED, THEY CARRY.
WHAT CANNOT, THEY MARK.

3. THE WIDOWS OF NERATH

THE WIDOWS RING WHAT BELLS REMAIN.
THEIR VOICES HOLD THE NAMES.
THE CITY REMEMBERS THROUGH THEM.

4. THE QUIET BELL

SOME BELLS WILL NEVER RING AGAIN.
STILL, THEY ARE CLEANED, CARED FOR,
SO THAT THEIR STORIES DO NOT DIE.

5. CROWS AND RECORDS

CROWS FEED AMONG THE RUINS.
SCRIBES COLLECT WHAT SURVIVES.
KNOWLEDGE FLIES FURTHER STILL.

6. LIGHTLESS NIGHTS

THE SIGNAL FIRES DO NOT BURN.
THE NIGHTS ARE LONGER NOW.
YET PEOPLE KEEP WATCH IN OTHER WAYS.

7. REBUILDING BEGINS

IN SOME PLACES, WORK HAS ALREADY BEGUN.
STONES ARE LIFTED, ROOFS ARE MENDED.
NERATH IS NOT GONE.

8. WHAT REMAINS

A CITY OF RUIN, A PEOPLE OF MEMORY.
THE LAST WATCH ENDED, BUT NERATH ENDURES
IN THOSE WHO REMEMBER.

BLACK HOUSE

TEMURAKH

IRON FAITH · ASHEN LANDS · ENDURING BLOOD

The Temurakh are a cult and war-house, forged in conquest and sustained by wasteland. They worship through endurance, build through sacrifice, and believe the world must be remade in iron. To serve the Black House is to outlast, to obey, to carry the weight, and to break what remains.

IRON BUILDS.
DISCIPLINE ENDURES.
ALL THINGS BOW.

TEMURAKH BASTION

A fortress of iron and bone, built upon a dead world. Part shrine, part foundry, part war machine.

SAME LAND. HIGHER IRON.

IRON PATRIARCH

Spiritual war-leader, keeper of the Black House's rites, and living symbol of its unbroken will. Clad in iron and ash, he guides conquest as a form of worship.

DISCIPLES OF THE BLACK HOUSE

Warriors, laborers, and zealots. They march, forge, and die in service of the Temurakh. Bound by oath, iron, and the belief that suffering purifies and strengthens.

MASKS OF OBEDIENCE

PATRIARCH
Mask of command. Worn by high priests and house lords.

CONFESSOR
Mask of counsel. Worn by rite-keepers and confessors.

DISCIPLE
Mask of service. Worn by common followers.

PENITENT
Mask of atonement. Worn by the disgraced and oathbreakers.

ROBES AND VESTMENTS

FRONT · BACK · SIDE · DETAIL

Layered robes of iron, leather, and treated cloth. Designed for ritual, war, and survival in the wasteland. Every element has a purpose. Every symbol a command.

Relic of Temurakh
A sacred conquest blade. Said to be forged from the first fortress.

RITES OF THE TEMURAKH

THE OFFERING
Blood, metal, and labor, are given to feed the forge and bless the house.

THE MARKING
Disciples are branded with iron to bind them to the house and its will.

THE ASCENSION
The fallen are burned, their ashes cast to the wind so they may endure in the next conquest.

THE FORGE ALTAR

The forge is prayer. The hammer is scripture. Here, weapons, masks, and the faithful are made strong through fire, labor, and sacrifice.

The Black House
VARKHESS
CHAINS TO THE HIGHER LIGHT
The Black House Varkhess is a sacerdotal lineage that venerates the Celestial Chains — believing that all creation, including angels, must be bound to attain true order. Through obedience, the scattered wills of heaven and mankind are made one. To be bound is to be elevated.
ONE CHAIN ONE ORDER ONE HEAVEN
THE BOUND STILL SHINE.
THEOLOGY
The Celestial Chains are not a punishment, but a mercy. Even the angels are bound, that their light may not consume the world. To resist the chain is to fall into chaos. To accept the chain is to return to harmony. All things are higher when bound.

HIGH HIERARCH VARKHESS
Spiritual and temporal head of the Black House. Bears the First Chain, said to be a fragment of the binding that stilled the rebellious angelic hosts. His will interprets the silence of heaven.
"All light must answer. All wills must bow. All are bound."
ATTENDANTS OF THE CHAIN
Chosen from noble blood, the attendants maintain relics, censers, and records. They are trained in silence, discipline, and unwavering devotion. Their lives are an offering of service.

THE PROCESSION
In sacred ranks they walk, a living chain, binding earth to heaven. The processions of Varkhess are both prayer and proclamation — a reminder that all are seen, all are judged, and all shall be bound.
SHRINE OF THE CELESTIAL CHAINS
Within the house's cathedrals, bound angelic icons are enshrined as a testament to divine obedience. Their light, contained, blesses the faithful and reminds them: even angels kneel.
ARCHITECTURE
The strongholds of Varkhess rise as cathedral-fortresses, their spires chaining the sky. Built in stone, steel, and faith, they dominate nations and serve as beacons of unyielding order.
CATHEDRAL-PLAZA OF VARKHESS
A place of judgment, devotion, and eternal vigil.

The Black Houses
— Cult Convergence —

Nine Houses.
One Eclipse.
A Common End.

Different Gods.
Different Paths.
The Same Darkness.

The Convergence

Once per cycle, the nine Black Houses set aside their wars to convene beneath the Eclipsed Throne. Here they trade relics, renew pacts, settle blood debts, and seek omens from the shared darkness.

The Eclipsed Throne

Neutral ground. All survive.
For now.

The Ritual Summit

- Relic exchanges
- Renewed pacts
- Trials and oaths
- Prophetic rites
- A temporary truce
- ...until the next eclipse.

*"Different altars.
The same hunger."*

Insignia of the Black Houses

Sacrificial Tools (Common & Distinct)

Ceremonial Seals

Council Regalia (Shared Elements)

Relic Exchange

Relics are traded, not gifted.
Each carries a price, a promise, or a future claim.

Oath of Temporary Truce

*"We do not forgive.
We convene."*

Prophecies of the Eclipse

Each House seeks a different answer.
All see the same shadow.

The First Quiet Spring

After the wars came the quiet.
It was fragile.
But it took root.

Upon broken ground different peoples
built together.
The same hands that had held arms
now raised walls, planted fields,
and lit schools,
so that the world might grow again.

Different roots.
One ground.
Different hands.
One horizon.

The eclipse faded, but its lesson remained:
not the end,
but a turning.

I. The Aftermath

The fields were quiet.
The banners lay broken.
The living counted the lost and learned to breathe again.

II. Many Peoples

Survivors came from every land.
Old rivals stood side by side.
Different tongues, different faiths,
but a shared will to rebuild.

III. Clearing the Scars

The battlefields were cleared.
Stones were lifted, bones laid to rest,
and the earth turned again.

IV. Raising Together

New walls rose from old ruins.
Hands on stone, hands in trust.
The work was hard, but no people labored alone.

V. Fields of Return

Seeds took root in former battle zones.
Terraces blotched with green again.
Food for all, not just for the strong.

VI. Tools Not Weapons

Broken swords were melted down.
Spears became plows, arrows became tools.
The fire that once fed war now fed the world.

VII. The Archives Reopen

The schools lit their lamps again.
Children of many peoples studied together.
The past was kept, not to repeat,
but to remember.

VIII. Treaties and Oaths

Treaties were written beneath the eclipse sky.
Not as the victors of war,
but as keepers of a hard-won peace.
Many sigils. One promise.

IX. Planting Tomorrow

Children planted trees where armies once stood.
They were told of the darkness,
and also of what grew because it ended.

X. The First Quiet Spring

The world was not healed.
But it was moving forward.
In the first quiet spring, hope took root again.

A Fragile Peace

The scars remain.
Old fears linger.
But the people chose another path.
Peace is not a finished thing but a daily work a garden that must be tended together.

Creatures of the ruins, waters, and sky. Still here. Still changing.
Different lands. Same blood. The cycle remembers. Them. All.
Ancient species. Adapted to the eclipse. Found across the mangrove cities, ruined continents, and tidal temples. Study. Respect. Survive.
Dragons
Sky kings. Eclipse born. Solitary. Territorial. Ancient.
Wings bear eclipse scars. Some individuals drift between skies for centuries.
Length 15–30 m
Hydras
Many minds. One body. River deep. Cut one head, another rises.
Observed in mangrove cities, estuaries, and flooded ruins. Likely older than the city states.

Black House Vaeltrix

Blood Beyond the Stars.
Faith within the Void.
All things bend.

House Vaeltrix is a noble lineage that wields faith, knowledge and influence as weapons. Through the cult of the Void Crown, they shape kings, ignite wars, and guide the world toward the beautiful silence beyond.

Same sky.
Different masters.

The Void Crown

An order within House Vaeltrix

We wear the absence.
We speak the unspoken.
We crown what is not.
In the end, all kneel to the same darkness.

The High Prelate

Voice of the Void.
Interpreter of Oaths.
Architect of Destiny.

"The world is a lie that can be edited."

Vaeltrix

The Eclipse City

A city of veils and mirrors.
A haven for the faithful.
A marketplace of secrets.
A throne above nations.
Here, the world forgets and the Void remembers.

Doctrine Fragments

I. Self is a veil.
II. Truth is malleable.
III. Absence is a crown.
IV. The world is a stage.
V. All things return to the Void.

"We do not destroy the world.
We simply reveal what was always there."

The True Crown

Not of gold, but of absence.
Not worn, but realized.
To crown is to unmake.
To unmake is to be free.

"Empires end.
Gods fade.
Even memory decays.

But the Void remains.

And in its silence,
we rule."

THE LIVING ATLAS

SUPPLEMENT 01 | OCTOBER 30, 2026

Ten illustrated moments across the Celestial Era, Deep History, post-Ahk Ra conflicts and Present Day.

Preservation: the original 95-page archive is retained unchanged at the front of the combined edition. These ten new plates and their lore notes follow it.

Editorial rule: visual concepts are not automatic manuscript canon. Events are distinguished from proposed staging; uncertain ancient dates are not converted into fabricated BS/AS years.

Visual note: each new illustration is a distinct cropped plate from freshly generated manga concept sheets. Enlargements improve layout, not underlying source resolution.

Supplement 01 adds 10 illustrated entries with event context, cause, consequence, continuity link and explicit canon status. No pages in the 95-page original archive were removed or overwritten.

PLATE	SUBJECT / ERA	COMBINED PAGE
01	The Open Hand Celestial-Mortal Contact / Public Blessing (Book II)	98
02	The Seven Cities Deep History / Ahk Ra and the Walking Star	99
03	Brothers Before the Fall Deep History / Ahk Ra Standalone Chronicle	100
04	The Breaker of Rules Celestial Continuum / Halo Engine	101
05	Kynari at the Crossing Deep History / Displacement and the Great Shift	102
06	The Black House Bargain After Ahk Ra / House Rivalries	103
07	Caravan at the Veil Veil Continuum / Cross-era Thresholds	104
08	The Flower Warning Present Day / Riven and Ixtli Tayocan	105
09	Honor Over Conquest Present Day / Yahia Yukimura, Frost Fang	106
10	The Last Contract Future Endpoint / Beyond Books I-XI	107

Continuity safeguards: Kynari are beastfolk; Saurai are dragon-blood free folk; the Halo Engine is an ancient neutral Elohim; the whispering woman is never depicted. Ancient celestial contact, public Blessing and later wars remain separate phases. All specific house meetings, caravans and Kynari crossings shown here are proposals.

PLATE 01 / THE OPEN HAND

Celestial-Mortal Contact / Public Blessing (Book II)

ILLUSTRATION 01 - CANON EVENT - composition illustrative

MOMENT	The public Blessing of Passage opens a new chapter in the relationship between Elohim and mortals. The image emphasizes the spectacle of celestial authority meeting ordinary lives, not a universal grant of identical powers.
CAUSE	First Elohim contact and discovery of mortal transcendence had already helped ignite the War in Heaven long before mortal cultures or legal codes existed. Public Blessing comes later. A Blessing is power given; Sentinel is power recognized; Birthright is power inherited.
AFTERMATH / LINK	Public recognition intensifies arguments over freedom, ownership and obligation. It also establishes the political language that later houses, factions and hidden-contract enforcers exploit.

PLATE 02 / THE SEVEN CITIES

Deep History / Ahk Ra and the Walking Star

ILLUSTRATION 02 - CANON EVENT - city layout illustrative

MOMENT	Seven cities lie ruined in the shadow of Ahk Ra, the Walking Star. The image centers the devastation and those left to rebuild, rather than presenting the destruction as an uncomplicated triumph.
CAUSE	Ahk Ra inherited a power the heavens feared, but his own choices and escalating greed made him accountable for atrocities. Pestilence, persecution and the collision of Sun and Ash belong to his tragedy; they do not excuse the cities he razed.
AFTERMATH / LINK	The Gilded Jackals inherit a defining prohibition: never allow Sun and Ash to converge again. The political memory of this catastrophe follows the Ara'Kai to Ahk Ra to Khari to Riven bloodline. Ancient dates remain deliberately uncertain.

PLATE 03 / BROTHERS BEFORE THE FALL

Deep History / Ahk Ra Standalone Chronicle

ILLUSTRATION 03 - CANON TRAJECTORY - appearance and dialogue proposed

MOMENT	Ahk Ra stands with two Saurai companions bound to him by shared campaigns and chosen kinship: one associated with frost, the other with blood. "Brothers" describes a bond forged in war, not an approved biological pedigree.
CAUSE	Their alliance grows through hardship and defense of free folk. Ahk Ra later chooses another path, killing the two and taking their power in greed as pestilence advances through his life.
AFTERMATH / LINK	The betrayal becomes a defining ancestral wound. Descendant theories, offspring and specific names remain proposals until separately approved; no new inherited primordial Mandate is implied by this image.

PLATE 04 / THE BREAKER OF RULES

Celestial Continuum / Halo Engine

ILLUSTRATION 04 - CANON FIGURE - architectural depiction symbolic

MOMENT	An impossible structure suggests the reach of the Halo Engine, the oldest Elohim and a neutral "Breaker of Rules." This is an interpretive visual metaphor, not a confirmed mechanical portrait.
CAUSE	Celestial divisions over mortal agency make neutrality consequential. The Halo Engine created Aethernox and later introduced the rebirth that becomes Gingey; those events must preserve their separate chronology and the consent lapse.
AFTERMATH / LINK	The engine's influence links the earliest celestial history to Veil permissions, the Hidden Hand and modern crossings. It does not identify the four covert Elohim or eight Sentinels who later act under aliases.

PLATE 05 / KYNARI AT THE CROSSING

Deep History / Displacement and the Great Shift

ILLUSTRATION 05 - PROPOSED SCENE - species and stakes canon

MOMENT	A mixed Kynari delegation, including beastfolk guardians and displaced families, holds a threatened crossing. The particular gathering and location are proposed rather than manuscript-confirmed.
CAUSE	War, forced experimentation, unstable artifacts and the manipulation of bloodlines strain communities throughout the mortal conflicts. Kynari are beastfolk with political and narrative weight of their own, not scenery for human wars.
AFTERMATH / LINK	A protected crossing could explain later mutual-aid routes and Nomad Alliance contacts. Its exact participants, date and relationship to the Great Shift are pending continuity approval.

PLATE 06 / THE BLACK HOUSE BARGAIN

After Ahk Ra / House Rivalries

ILLUSTRATION 06 - PROPOSED SCENE - no conclave canonized

MOMENT	Representatives of rival Black Houses gather beneath their sigils to argue over relic custody, inherited claims and control of the stories told about Ahk Ra's death. The depicted meeting is a visual hypothesis.
CAUSE	Power vacuums after Ahk Ra, the Jackals' taboo and competing bloodline interests create opportunities for clandestine factions. The nine Black Annals house names are Vaeltrix, Temurakh, Qinareth, Morvayne, Varkhess, Vellorian, Seraphel, Cendrath and Ashurven.
AFTERMATH / LINK	The proposed bargain could seed the post-Ahk Ra chronicle and its later cult networks. No new alliances, leaders, oath mechanics or chronology are locked by this illustration.

PLATE 07 / CARAVAN AT THE VEIL

Veil Continuum / Cross-era Thresholds

ILLUSTRATION 07 - PROPOSED SCENE - Aethernox role canon

MOMENT	Travelers approach a guarded passage where merchants, refugees and messengers must distinguish a lawful crossing from an illegal one. The caravan itself is proposed; the gate and permission motif are established.
CAUSE	Aethernox is the hidden Veil warden, pivotal but deliberately vague, helping the lost and dealing with those who cross unlawfully. Doorways, consent and permissions matter more than spectacle.
AFTERMATH / LINK	The image connects the primordial threshold to Gingey's later rebirth and the present-day relic economy. No depiction here should reveal Aethernox's full identity or turn a disputed crossing into approved canon.

PLATE 08 / THE FLOWER WARNING

Present Day / Riven and Ixtli Tayocan

ILLUSTRATION 08 - CANON BEAT - setting and costume illustrative

MOMENT	Ixtli Tayocan presents a flower with the warning, "Go home." The gentle object carries a serious boundary: she recognizes a danger Riven does not yet understand.
CAUSE	Riven Arakual's Eclipse lineage connects Ara'Kai, Ahk Ra and Khari. Ixtli's warning begins a relationship that later includes conflict, a hometown ritual, a portal with Aurel and her eventual help in Riven's departure.
AFTERMATH / LINK	The flower foreshadows the story's recurring choice between coercion and informed permission. Clothing and facial details in this study are not a replacement for locked character references.

PLATE 09 / HONOR OVER CONQUEST

Present Day / Yahia Yukimura, Frost Fang

ILLUSTRATION 09 - CANON BEAT - staging illustrative

MOMENT	In his first public act as Frost Fang heir, Yahia Yukimura honors survivors of the southern-border tragedy rather than celebrating a military victory. The ceremony centers the living and the dead.
CAUSE	The border disaster involved a man-made stampede and raiding. Yahia's path toward the Frost Reaper identity is shaped by restraint, family silence, betrayal and the dangerous promise of dragon wrath.
AFTERMATH / LINK	The gesture gives moral weight to his revival of older traditions. Yahia's canon eyes remain right purple and left blue in his natural state; his right eye alone turns red in wrath.

PLATE 10 / THE LAST CONTRACT

Future Endpoint / Beyond Books I-XI

ILLUSTRATION 10 - CANON ENDGAME DIRECTION - scene proposed

MOMENT	A gathering beneath an eclipse represents the eventual termination of all ancient celestial contracts. The architecture and assembly are conceptual, not a scene already written into Books I-XI.
CAUSE	The long history of coerced possession, blood oaths, rituals, forced experiments and ownership-seeking Elohim makes the inherited contract order morally untenable.
AFTERMATH / LINK	The approved destination is equal, informed and voluntary new agreements, with safe transitions preserving Anima, altered peoples, inherited powers and vital infrastructure. The exact mechanism and participants remain unwritten.

THE LIVING ATLAS

SUPPLEMENT 02 / TEN NEW HISTORICAL PLATES

An illustrated continuity ledger crossing the celestial schism, Saurai freedom, Ahk Ra's aftermath, Veil thresholds, Kynari memory, the Nomad Alliance and Riven's present-day struggle.

107 PRIOR PAGES PRESERVED / 10 NEW ART PLATES / CANON AND PROPOSALS LABELED

Artwork is interpretive concept art. The manuscript remains unchanged.

WHAT CHANGED IN THIS EDITION

Preserved: All 107 pages of the prior v2 combined archive remain in sequence. Added: this 12-page supplement (cover, index and ten new image-and-lore plates). Not changed: the manuscripts, approved family trees, or the chronology ledger.

NEW PLATES / COMBINED EDITION

01	The Schism Before Scripture	Celestial Era / first outbreak	110
02	A Legion Built From Bindings	Cross-era / celestial-contract aftermath	111
03	The Saurai Refuse the Chain	Deep History / dragon-blood freedom	112
04	The Ashen Rings of Seven Cities	Deep History / Ahk Ra catastrophe	113
05	The Gate Beneath the Ruins	Deep History / Veil research (proposed)	114
06	The Sanctuary That Might Have Been	Deep History / Kynari communities (proposed)	115
07	The Nine Seats in Shadow	Post-Ahk Ra / house conflicts (proposed)	116
08	The Alliance of Many Roads	Present Day / Nomad Alliance	117
09	The Heir and the Hunter	Present Day / Riven awakening arc	118
10	The Door That Asks Permission	Veil continuum / migration (proposed)	119

Editorial guardrails: ancient BS/AS dates remain uncertain; the first celestial schism is not the later public Blessing; Kynari are beastfolk and Saurai are dragon-blood free folk; the whispering woman is never depicted. Proposed gates, assemblies and sanctuaries are not automatically canon.

The Schism Before Scripture

CELESTIAL ERA / FIRST OUTBREAK

CANON EVENT / COMPOSITION INTERPRETIVE

ILLUSTRATION 01 / INTERPRETIVE MANGA CONCEPT

VISUAL NOTE: Battle formations and architecture are symbolic; no fixed celestial chronology or allegiance is asserted.

THE MOMENT

After first contact with mortal realms, the Elohim discover that mortals can transcend their assigned limits. A dispute within heaven becomes open conflict long before mortal cultures, books or legal codes exist.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Elohim factions, early Sentinels and mortal witnesses. The scene does not identify which Elohim ultimately defend freedom.

CAUSE

The possibility of mortal transcendence destabilizes celestial ideas of authority, ownership and obedience.

CONSEQUENCE

The War in Heaven begins; later mortal wars inherit its divided loyalties, concealed contracts and unfinished arguments.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Book I shows covert contact and adaptation. Book II brings the later public Blessing of Passage; these are distinct phases.

CONTINUITY THREAD
FIRST CONTACT > CELESTIAL SCHISM > PUBLIC BLESSING > LATER MORTAL WARS

A Legion Built From Bindings

CROSS-ERA / CELESTIAL-CONTRACT AFTERMATH

CANON MECHANISMS / SCENE PROPOSED

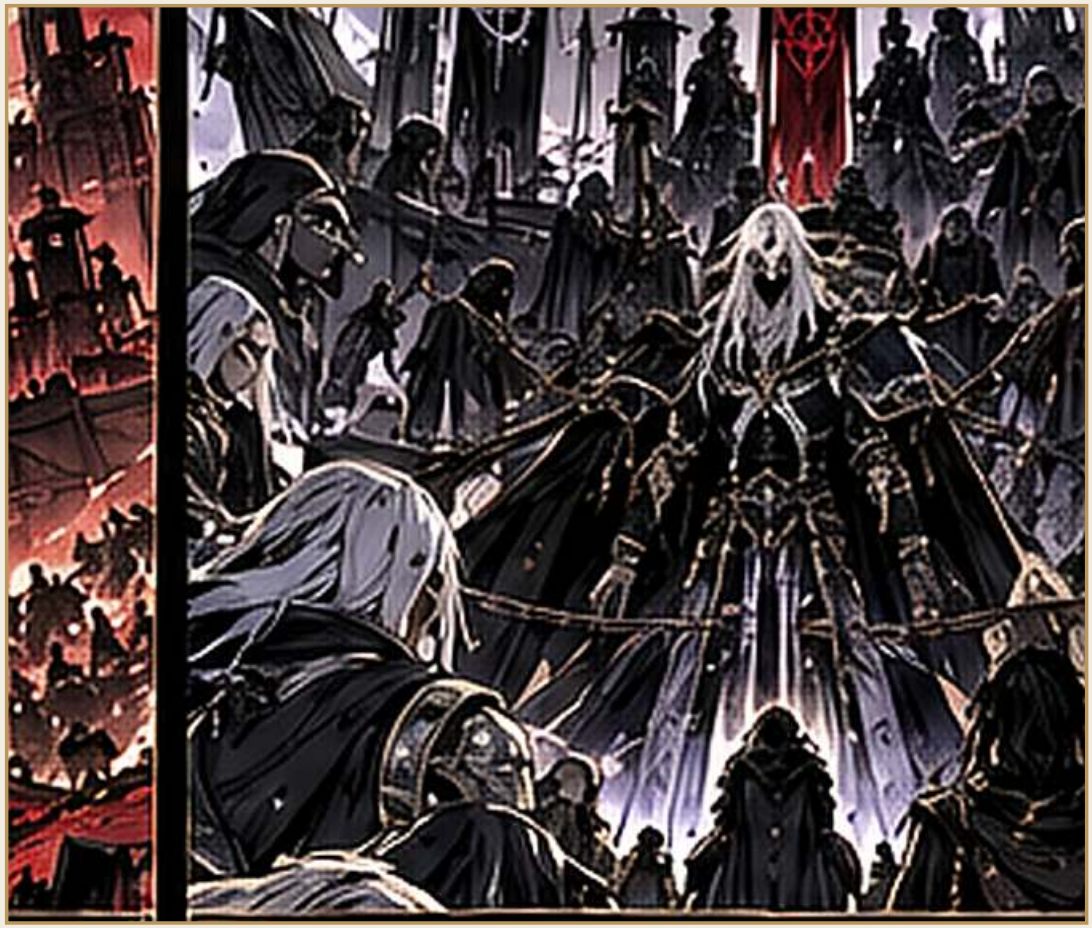

ILLUSTRATION 02 / INTERPRETIVE MANGA CONCEPT

VISUAL NOTE: The council hall and ranks are a proposal. Do not place this specific meeting at a dated point in the BS/AS chronology.

THE MOMENT

An imagined chamber of the Null Legion reveals the cost of treating a person as a vessel. Uniform ranks conceal radically different origins: living servants, artificial Sentinels and victims of possession.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Null Legion operatives and unidentified bound subjects; individual identities and this assembly are not approved canon.

CAUSE

Coercive rites, blood oaths, experimentation and forbidden relic contracts create obligations that can outlast consent.

CONSEQUENCE

Some bindings cannot be lifted without death. Pestilence and unstable Anima can turn enforced obedience into madness.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

The later books confront these systems without assuming that all Sentinels were gifted power: Sentinel means recognized, not necessarily given.

CONTINUITY THREAD
CONTRACT > ARTIFICIAL SENTINEL / POSSESSION > PESTILENCE > RESISTANCE

The Saurai Refuse the Chain

DEEP HISTORY / DRAGON-BLOOD FREEDOM

CANON PRINCIPLE / OATH CEREMONY PROPOSED

ILLUSTRATION 03 / INTERPRETIVE MANGA CONCEPT

VISUAL NOTE: No literal dragon-binding ritual is established here. Saurai remain equal in narrative significance to Kynari.

THE MOMENT

Dragon-blood Saurai stand before two untamed dragons. The illustration proposes a public oath scene for a canon principle: no outsider owns a dragon or the free folk of its blood.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Saurai clans, dragon kin and observing delegates. The specific leaders and two-dragon gathering are conceptual.

CAUSE

Celestial efforts to bind bloodlines and claim living powers meet a people whose allegiance cannot be assigned by an outsider.

CONSEQUENCE

Saurai resistance exposes the fracture between possessive Elohim and those willing to protect mortal freedom.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

This tension becomes decisive in the War of Ascension and informs the ancestry and political stakes around Yahia.

CONTINUITY THREAD
SAURAI FREEDOM > ELOHIM DIVISION > WAR OF ASCENSION > PRESENT BLOODLINES

The Ashen Rings of Seven Cities

DEEP HISTORY / AHK RA CATASTROPHE

CANON ATROCITY / CITY DESIGN INTERPRETIVE

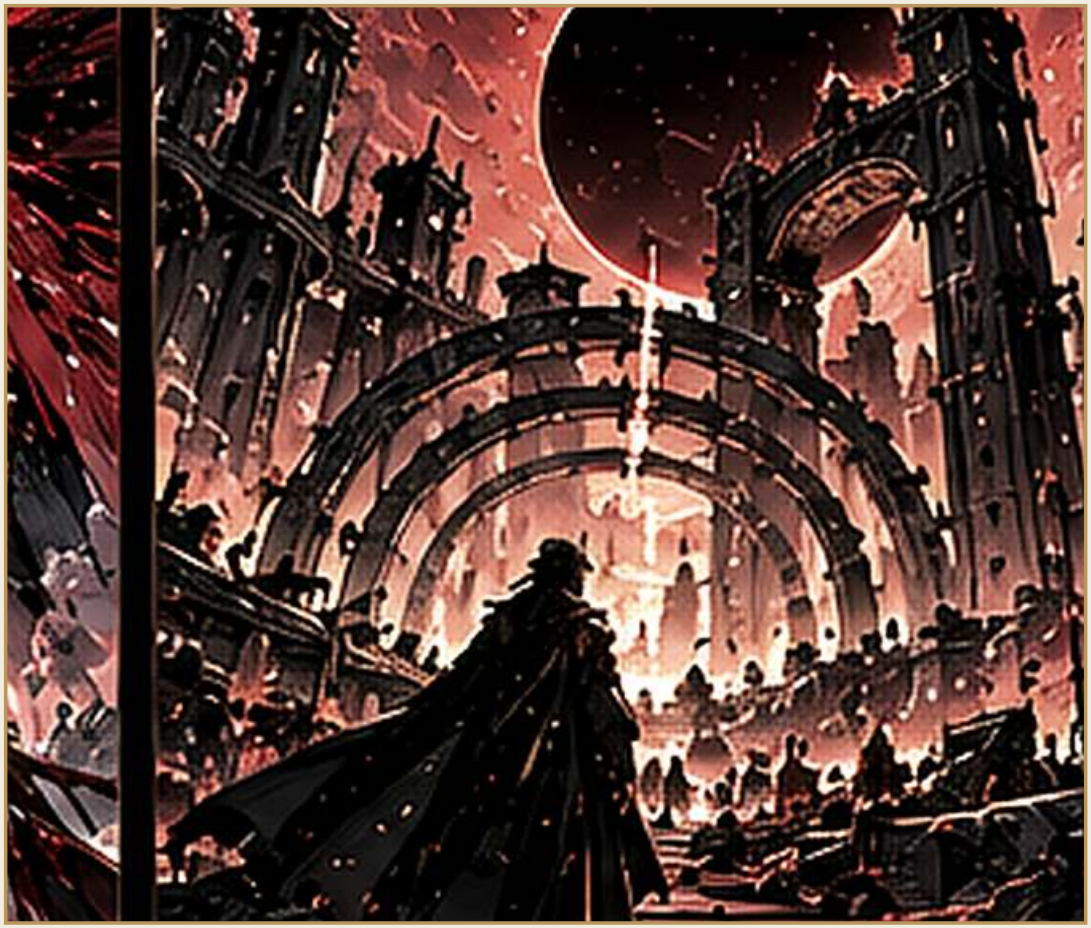

ILLUSTRATION 04 / INTERPRETIVE MANGA CONCEPT

VISUAL NOTE: The circular cityscape is symbolic. The seven cities and the prohibition are canon; exact layouts and dates are not.

THE MOMENT

The seven cities razed in Ahk Ra's rise become a ring of ruins and survivor testimony. The image records loss rather than celebrating the Walking Star's force.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Ahk Ra, the dead and displaced of seven cities, later record-keepers and the future Gilded Jackals.

CAUSE

Persecution for inherited power, pestilence and Ahk Ra's own greed intersect; none of these removes his responsibility for the destruction.

CONSEQUENCE

The Jackals form around the warning: "Never allow Sun and Ash." Fear of another convergence hardens into a political inheritance.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Ara'Kai to Ahk Ra to Khari to Riven carries the legacy, while later houses weaponize partial histories of the disaster.

CONTINUITY THREAD
SEVEN CITIES > JACKAL OATH > HOUSE FEUDS > RIVEN'S INHERITANCE

The Gate Beneath the Ruins

DEEP HISTORY / VEIL RESEARCH (PROPOSED)

PROPOSAL / NOT MANUSCRIPT CANON

ILLUSTRATION 05 / INTERPRETIVE MANGA CONCEPT

VISUAL NOTE: The specific ruin, relic key and excavation are proposed. A physical key alone never overrides the consent motif.

THE MOMENT

Explorers uncover an ancient threshold beneath a ruined city. A carved key fits the lock, yet the Veil refuses passage until permission is recognized.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unidentified researchers, a Veil guardian and travelers seeking a route; none are named as historical participants.

CAUSE

Lost knowledge and displaced communities create demand for controlled crossings between realms.

CONSEQUENCE

The discovery could explain why artifacts and bloodline claims later become targets for smugglers, cults and rival houses.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

It echoes Aethernox's established role as a vague but pivotal Veil warden: doors, permission and illegal crossing matter.

CONTINUITY THREAD
HIDDEN THRESHOLD > KEY > PERMISSION > LEGAL OR ILLEGAL CROSSING

The Sanctuary That Might Have Been

DEEP HISTORY / KYNARI COMMUNITIES (PROPOSED)

PROPOSAL / NOT MANUSCRIPT CANON

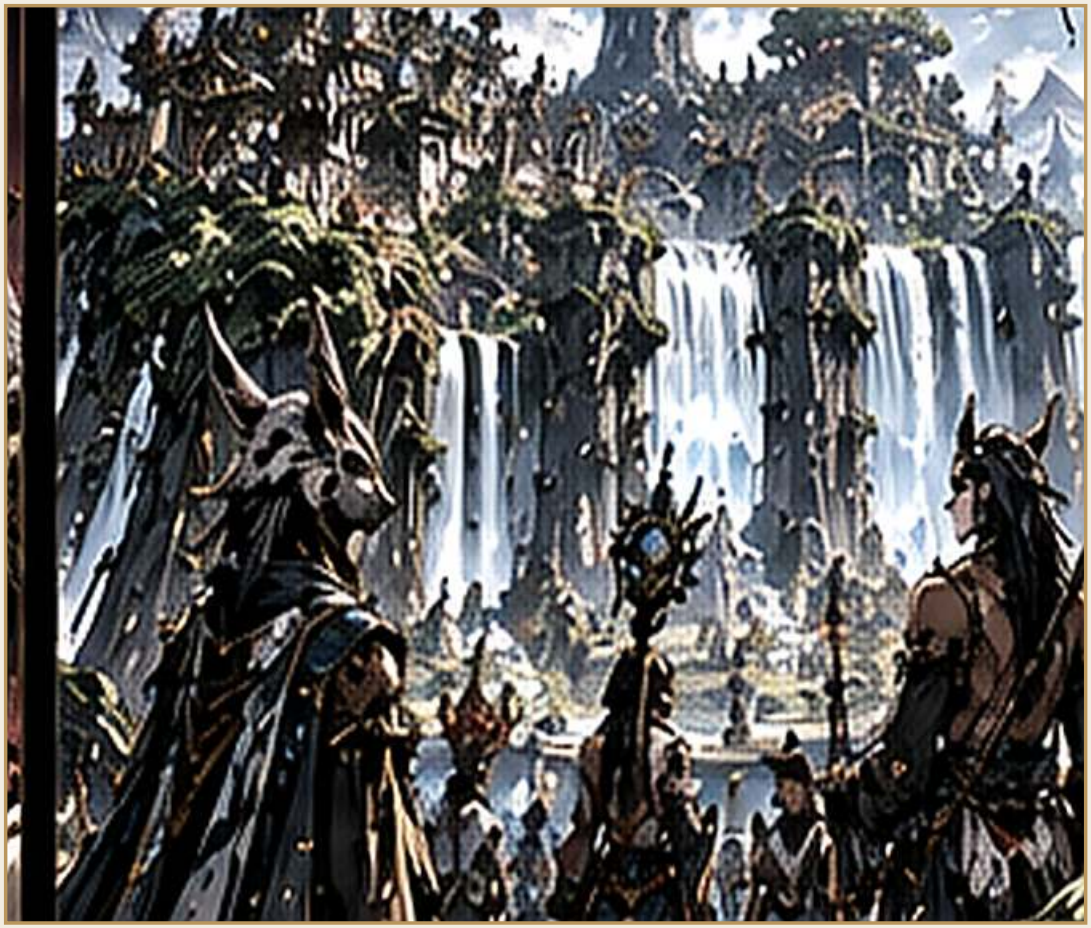

ILLUSTRATION 06 / INTERPRETIVE MANGA CONCEPT

VISUAL NOTE: All architecture, location and specific events are speculative; Kynari species identity is established canon.

THE MOMENT

A proposed Kynari refuge gathers beastfolk clans beside high waterfalls, where routes, medicines and clan histories can be exchanged without celestial oversight.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Kynari beastfolk, allied travelers and unnamed local elders. No approved settlement name or founding date is assigned.

CAUSE

Displacement, coercive experimentation and competition over inherited abilities make autonomous refuge necessary.

CONSEQUENCE

A sanctuary could become an archive of erased genealogies, an evacuation route or a target for later factions.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Provides a possible bridge from Deep History to Nomad research, the Great Shift and modern Kynari alliances.

CONTINUITY THREAD
DISPLACEMENT > SANCTUARY > PRESERVED MEMORY > NOMAD CONNECTIONS

The Nine Seats in Shadow

POST-AHK RA / HOUSE CONFLICTS (PROPOSED)

PROPOSAL / BLACK HOUSE CONCEPTS

ILLUSTRATION 07 / INTERPRETIVE MANGA CONCEPT

VISUAL NOTE: The Black House names and cult designs are concept art, not approval of this meeting or its historical date.

THE MOMENT

Representatives of nine Black Houses share a table after Ahk Ra's fall. Their banners suggest common ambition, but each house imagines a different future.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Concept factions Vaeltrix, Temurakh, Qinareth, Morvayne, Varkhess, Vellorian, Seraphel, Cendrath and Ashurven.

CAUSE

Ahk Ra's defeat leaves power vacuums, frightened bloodlines and access to dangerous relics and contract technologies.

CONSEQUENCE

Secret bargains could lead to rival cults, proxy wars and conflicts with the surviving main houses.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

A possible historical seed for the antagonistic organizations and covert networks operating in Books X-XI.

CONTINUITY THREAD
AHK RA'S FALL > POWER VACUUM > HOUSE CULTS > HIDDEN WARS

The Alliance of Many Roads

PRESENT DAY / NOMAD ALLIANCE

CANON FACTION / MARKET SCENE PROPOSED

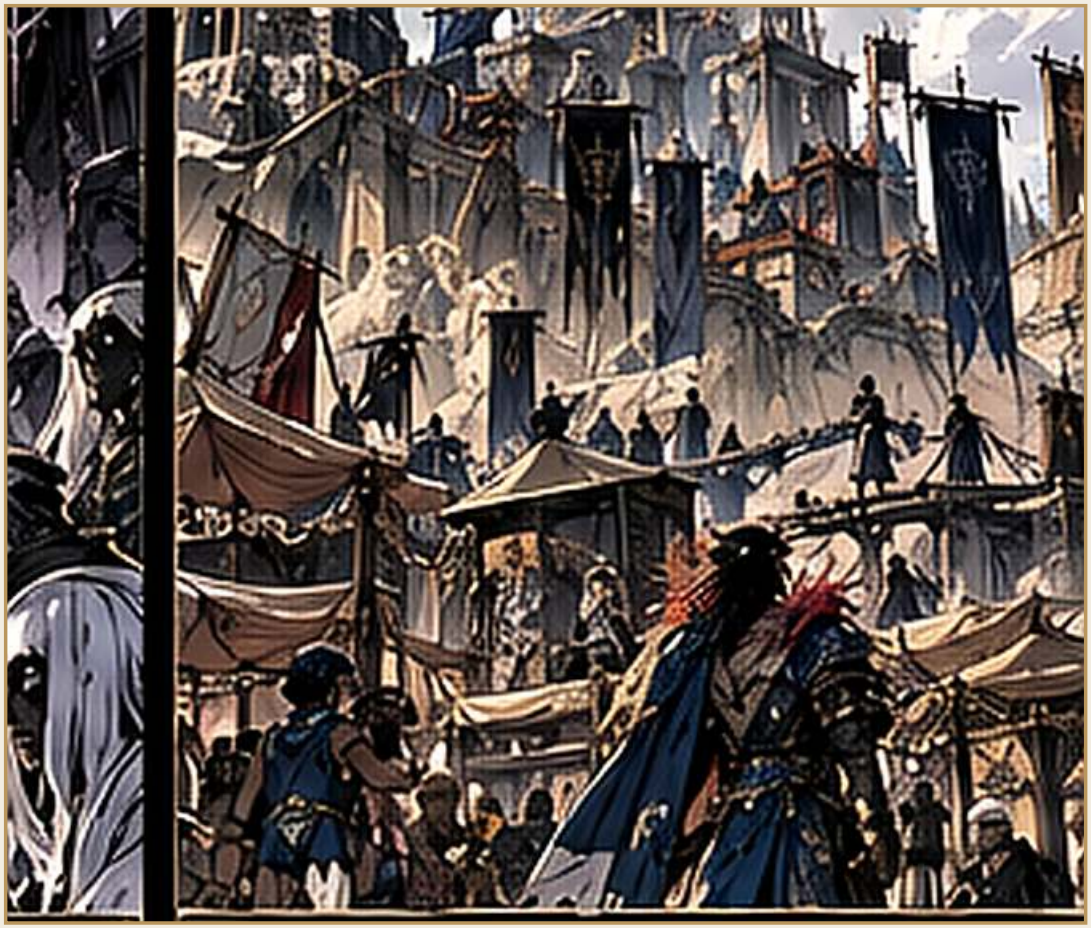

ILLUSTRATION 08 / INTERPRETIVE MANGA CONCEPT

VISUAL NOTE: Do not treat the depicted bazaar as the Alliance's capital or assign it a precise date without author approval.

THE MOMENT

A diverse market gathers travelers, artisans and scouts beneath Nomad standards. The scene represents a network of shared research and mutual aid rather than a fixed founding ceremony.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

The Nomad Alliance and its officials; the pictured merchants and location are illustrative, not named canon.

CAUSE

People divided by geography, species and old house loyalties need routes for knowledge, protection and negotiation.

CONSEQUENCE

The Alliance can preserve information that royal houses, celestial archives and cults would rather suppress.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

The network links Kynari, Saurai and other communities to the main cast's discoveries and later resistance.

CONTINUITY THREAD
DISPERSED PEOPLES > NOMAD RESEARCH > SHARED INTELLIGENCE > COALITION

The Heir and the Hunter

PRESENT DAY / RIVEN AWAKENING ARC

CANON RIVALRY / COMPOSITION INTERPRETIVE

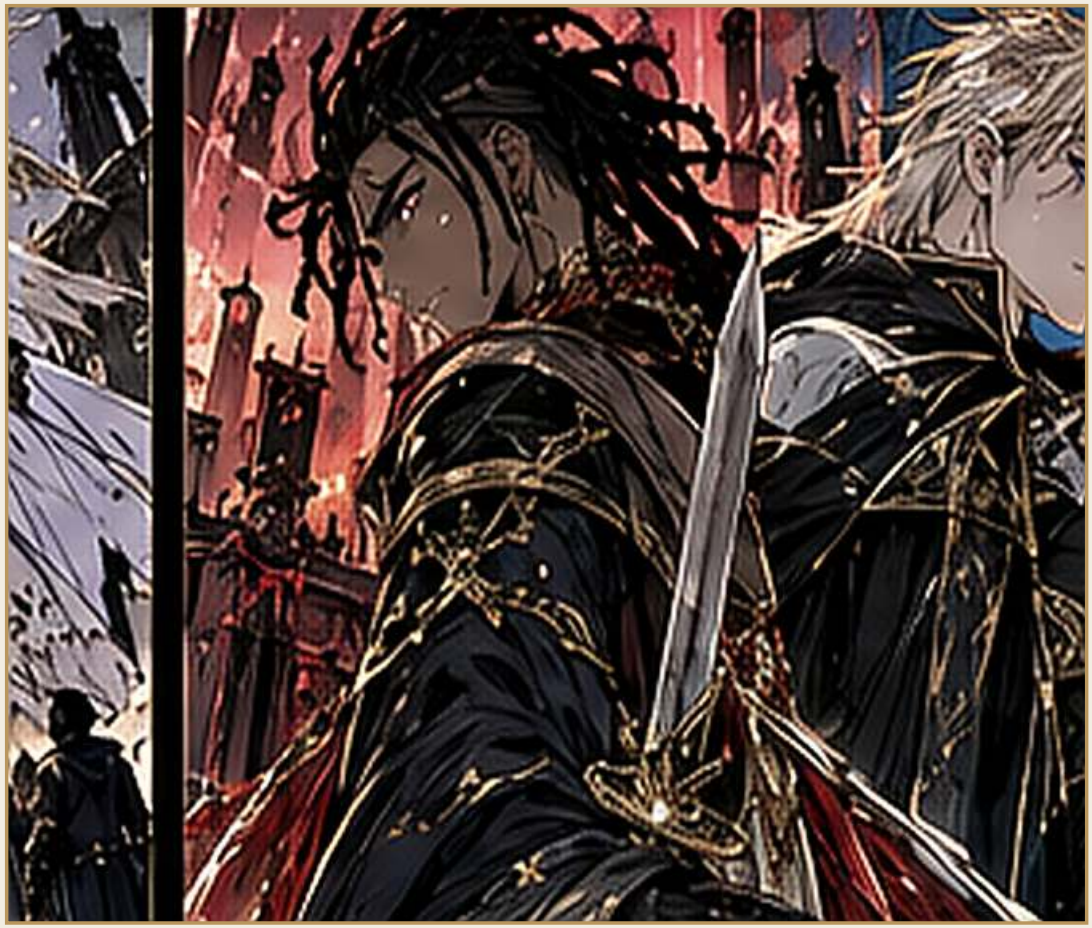

ILLUSTRATION 09 / INTERPRETIVE MANGA CONCEPT

VISUAL NOTE: Riven's canonical weapon is a staff-length obsidian-core odachi evolving toward a phantom edge and khopesh. The short sword here is non-canon.

THE MOMENT

Riven of House Arakual and Aurel Goldfang face opposing directions as the struggle over the Eclipse bloodline tightens. The picture is a character juxtaposition, not a locked duel.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Riven, son of Khari and Amara; Aurel Goldfang, his antagonist. Aurel is not Arelian Avant-Guarde.

CAUSE

Riven's inherited Eclipse potential and his family's concealed history make him a target for those seeking power or control.

CONSEQUENCE

Their rivalry forces questions of inheritance, agency and who has the right to define Riven's future.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Ixtli Tayocan's warning and later choices intersect with this conflict; Riven's path echoes Ahk Ra without requiring the same outcome.

The Door That Asks Permission

VEIL CONTINUUM / MIGRATION (PROPOSED)

PROPOSAL / THRESHOLD MECHANICS

ILLUSTRATION 10 / INTERPRETIVE MANGA CONCEPT

VISUAL NOTE: The key, caravan and portal location are exploratory. The whispering woman is neither shown nor identified.

THE MOMENT

A mixed caravan approaches a vast Veil portal. The proposed scene tests a rule: a relic may locate a door, but passage is not the same as permission.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed travelers, possible Kynari and Saurai escorts, and an unseen Veil authority; Aethernox is not visually revealed.

CAUSE

War, exile and the need for safe travel draw communities toward forbidden or poorly understood crossings.

CONSEQUENCE

A failed or coerced passage could produce disappearances, legal disputes, lost memories or corrupted contracts.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Supports the Aethernox/Gingey door-and-consent motif, the distinct Gatewarden role and future liberation from forced contracts.

TWILIGHT ORDER

LIVING ATLAS / CYCLE 03

Ten new illustrated historical studies, moving from the celestial schism through the deep histories and hidden house conflicts into the present generation.

119 PREVIOUS PAGES PRESERVED + 12 NEW PAGES = 131 TOTAL

01 / ESTABLISHED FOUNDATIONS

Hallow Engine, coercive bindings, Saurai freedom, Ahk Ra and the Gilded Jackals.

02 / HISTORICAL BRIDGES

Aethernox and permission, Kynari displacement, the hidden Four and Eight, Black House relic trade.

03 / PRESENT-DAY INHERITANCE

Riven's sun-and-moon lineage and Yahia's grief are treated as character history, not excuses to invent new dates or mechanics.

CHANGES & PAGE INDEX

Edition v4: the first 119 pages of the previous combined archive are carried forward in their original order. This 12-page supplement adds a cover, index and ten image-and-lore plates. No manuscript, family tree or source chronology has been modified.

EDITORIAL BOUNDARIES

Canon event: a previously established story event or principle. Canon mechanism / scene proposed: a known rule illustrated through an invented composition. Proposal: exploratory material requiring author approval. The image captions are generated art, not authoritative evidence for names, dates or costume details.

PLATE 01 / CELESTIAL ERA / HIDDEN CELESTIAL HISTORY

The Engine Without Gears

CANON ENTITY / VISUAL METAPHOR

FRESH MANGA CONCEPT CROP / SCENE INTERPRETIVE

THE MOMENT

The oldest Elohim, called the Breaker of Rules, stands apart from the factions that would claim mortal transcendence as property. The illustrated rings are a symbolic representation of its reach, not proof that it is a literal machine.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

The Hallow (Halo) Engine; Aethernox; divided Elohim.

CHRONOLOGY ANCHOR

Before the mortal record systems. No fabricated BS/AS date.

CAUSE

The discovery of mortal transcendence creates competing celestial responses: protection, curiosity, fear and control.

CONSEQUENCE

A neutral but consequential presence complicates the division between ownership-seeking Elohim and defenders of mortal freedom.

LATER CONNECTION

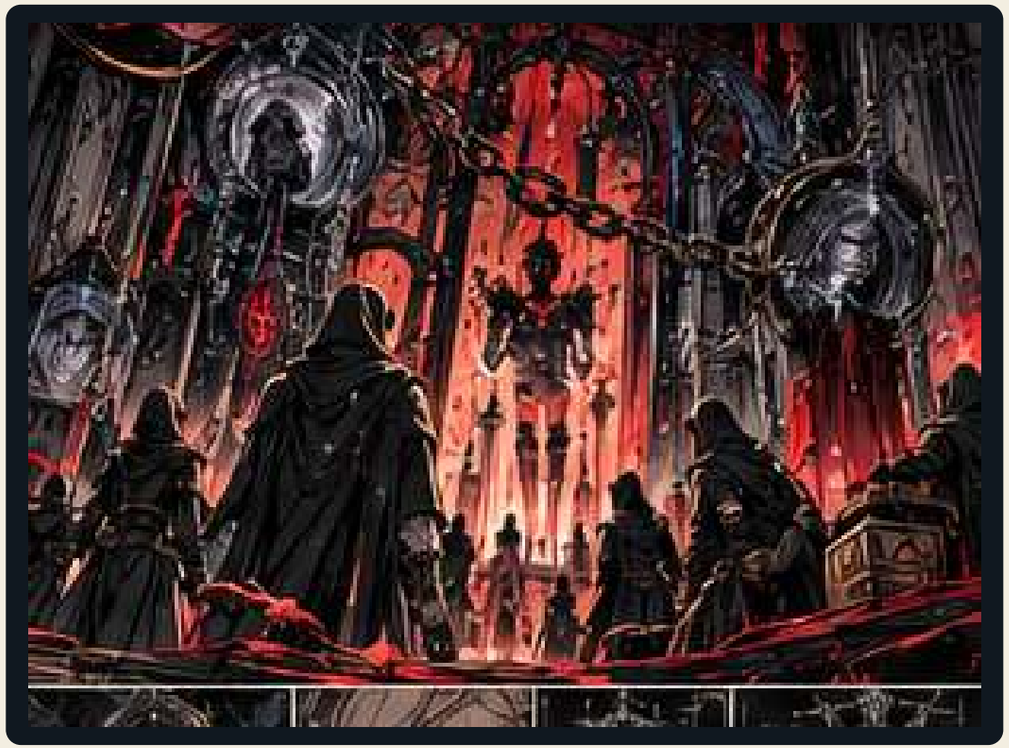
The Engine creates Aethernox and later plays a part in Gingey's rebirth. Its independent celestial record should run beyond Books I-XI.

CONTINUITY NOTE: The depiction of an engineered apparatus is metaphorical. Do not canonize a machine origin or a construction date.

PLATE 02 / CELESTIAL CONTRACT ERA / EXACT DATE UNRESOLVED

A Body With Someone Else's Orders

CANON MECHANISM / SCENE PROPOSED



FRESH MANGA CONCEPT CROP / SCENE INTERPRETIVE

THE MOMENT

An imagined binding chamber shows how an artificial Sentinel could be imposed through possession rather than recognized through legitimate knighthood. A body remains present while permission is absent.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Artificial Sentinels; coercive ritualists; unwilling vessels.

CHRONOLOGY ANCHOR

Ancient contract era; exact placement remains unresolved.

CAUSE

Forced experimentation, ritual oaths and the attempt to reproduce powers without informed consent.

CONSEQUENCE

Some bindings become so entangled with the host that death may be required to end them; pestilence exploits the resulting instability.

LATER CONNECTION

Contrasts the three distinct categories: Blessing = given, Sentinel = recognized, Birthright = inherited. Contract origin and obligations are separate questions.

CONTINUITY NOTE: The specific laboratory, personnel and depicted victim are unapproved visual proposals; the coercive mechanism is established.

PLATE 03 / DEEP HISTORY / DRAGON-BLOOD FREEDOM

Blood That Would Not Kneel

CANON PRINCIPLE / TABLEAU PROPOSED

FRESH MANGA CONCEPT CROP / SCENE INTERPRETIVE

THE MOMENT

Three dragon silhouettes tower behind Saurai figures as a visual oath: dragons cannot be owned by outsiders. Saurai freedom is not an accessory to other peoples' struggles; it is one of the conflicts that exposes celestial entitlement.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Saurai free clans; dragon-blood descendants; outside celestial claimants.

CHRONOLOGY ANCHOR

Deep History; specific dragon encounter is not dated.

CAUSE

Attempts to impose ownership and inherited contracts upon dragon-blood peoples.

CONSEQUENCE

Refusal widens the celestial schism and changes which houses, mortals and Elohim are willing to stand together.

LATER CONNECTION

The same struggle shapes the War of Ascension, the frost and blood Saurai lineages, and Yahia's later insistence on chosen duty.

CONTINUITY NOTE: The three dragons and this exact ceremony are a visual proposal, not a dated historical event.

PLATE 04 / DEEP HISTORY / AFTER THE SEVEN CITIES

The Jackals' First Prohibition

CANON DOCTRINE / VOW SCENE PROPOSED

FRESH MANGA CONCEPT CROP / SCENE INTERPRETIVE

THE MOMENT

In the ruins left by Ahk Ra, witnesses face the terrible distinction between a bloodline persecuted for its power and a man accountable for atrocities he committed. A prohibition takes form: Never allow Sun + Ash.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Survivors of Ahk Ra's seven destroyed cities; founders of the Gilded Jackals.

CHRONOLOGY ANCHOR

After the razing of the seven cities; prior to later house conflicts.

CAUSE

Ahk Ra's escalating greed, corrupted judgment and destruction of seven cities amid celestial interference.

CONSEQUENCE

The Gilded Jackals inherit a doctrine of prevention that can become persecution when it treats descendants as guilty by birth.

LATER CONNECTION

The prophecy of Walking Star or Eclipse Sovereign, the post-Ahk Ra house wars and Riven's ancestry all carry this wound.

CONTINUITY NOTE: The doctrine and seven-city catastrophe are canon; the pictured oath assembly and architecture are interpretive.

PLATE 05 / THE VEIL / CROSS-ERA THRESHOLD

The Door That Remembers Consent

CANON ROLE / CROSSING SCENE PROPOSED

FRESH MANGA CONCEPT CROP / SCENE INTERPRETIVE

THE MOMENT

A lone traveler faces a threshold that may be located with a key but cannot be treated as an automatic entitlement. Aethernox watches without explaining every rule or showing the full purpose of the Hidden Hand.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Aethernox, Warden of the Veil; lost travelers; unauthorized crossers.

CHRONOLOGY ANCHOR

A cross-era Veil motif, not a single dated encounter.

CAUSE

Unstable routes, illegal crossings and the difference between finding a door and receiving permission.

CONSEQUENCE

Some travelers are protected, some redirected, and others face consequences for crossings made without consent.

LATER CONNECTION

The door/permission motif reaches back to Book I, Chapter 1; Chapter 16 must retain its consent lapse. Aethernox later relinquishes roughly 75% of its power in rebirth as Gingey.

CONTINUITY NOTE: No universal key-and-permission mechanism is being locked. The exact traveler and gateway are proposed.

PLATE 06 / POST-AHK RA / DISPLACEMENT

The Road of the Unhoused Clans

PROPOSAL / NOT MANUSCRIPT CANON

FRESH MANGA CONCEPT CROP / SCENE INTERPRETIVE

THE MOMENT

A winter caravan of Kynari families crosses a high bridge while settlements behind them remain politically divided. This proposed scene explores how house conflicts might be experienced by ordinary beastfolk rather than only by dynastic leaders.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Proposed Kynari beastfolk refugees; guides and allied border communities.

CHRONOLOGY ANCHOR

Proposed post-Ahk Ra displacement; route and date undecided.

CAUSE

Territorial instability and competing claims after Ahk Ra's death, potentially compounded by restricted Veil routes.

CONSEQUENCE

A mobile culture of maps, mutual defense, shared memory and sanctuary-making could emerge from displacement.

LATER CONNECTION

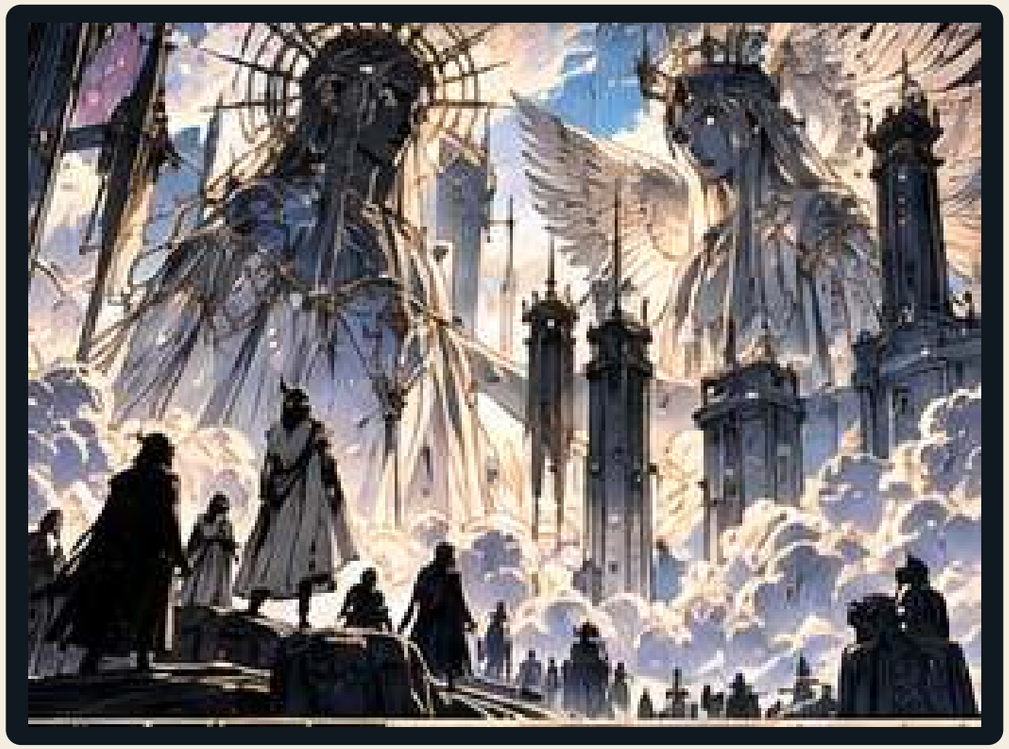
Could connect Kynari traditions to the Nomad Alliance and later cross-cultural communities, without making beastfolk history subordinate to the Eclipse line.

CONTINUITY NOTE: Route, bridge, migration, dates and named clans remain wholly unapproved. Kynari = beastfolk is established.

PLATE 07 / AFTER AHK RA'S PUBLIC DEFEAT / HIDDEN WARS

The Four and the Eight

CANON FRAMEWORK / GATHERING PROPOSED



FRESH MANGA CONCEPT CROP / SCENE INTERPRETIVE

THE MOMENT

An allegorical view of a clandestine research network: twelve agents work under aliases and sworn secrecy, moving the chess pieces while studying pestilence for defenses that mortal nations cannot yet build openly.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Four elemental Elohim and eight Sentinels (two branches per element), identities concealed.

CHRONOLOGY ANCHOR

After Ahk Ra's public defeat and the subsequent treaty.

CAUSE

A treaty and the political danger of overt Elohim intervention after Ahk Ra's public defeat.

CONSEQUENCE

Protection and covert aid become possible, but the need for secrecy risks mistrust and delayed revelations.

LATER CONNECTION

The network influences future protagonists without revealing the identities of the pro-mortal Elohim too early. Their studies foreshadow Books X-XI.

CONTINUITY NOTE: The twelve-agent structure is approved direction; the pictured public-facing celestial tableau is symbolic, not their actual secret meeting.

PLATE 08 / POST-AHK RA / BLACK HOUSE UNDERWORLD

The Auction of the Unopened Key

PROPOSAL / BLACK HOUSE CONCEPTS

FRESH MANGA CONCEPT CROP / SCENE INTERPRETIVE

THE MOMENT

Representatives bargain over a sealed Veil relic whose value lies not in opening a door but in deciding who is allowed to try. Every bidder claims an ancestral right that may be false.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Proposed agents of Vaeltrix, Varkhess, Qinareth, Cendrath and rival Black House circles.

CHRONOLOGY ANCHOR

Proposed post-Ahk Ra underworld episode; no approved date.

CAUSE

Power vacuums, contested relic inheritance and the black market for keys, contracts and forbidden research.

CONSEQUENCE

The sale could ignite covert raids, forged pedigrees, and the first trail toward an illegal crossing network.

LATER CONNECTION

Provides a possible bridge from post-Ahk Ra rivalries to the modern underground organizations and the Veil's permission motif.

CONTINUITY NOTE: Auction, relic, attendance and participating houses are exploratory only. Existing Black House visual names are not treated as manuscript-locked history.

PLATE 09 / PRESENT DAY / RIVEN'S AWAKENING

Sun, Moon, and the Unfinished Eclipse

CANON LINEAGE / SCENE PROPOSED

FRESH MANGA CONCEPT CROP / SCENE INTERPRETIVE

THE MOMENT

Riven holds the ancestral blade while a visual eclipse suggests the two parental cycles meeting in one heir. Khari's sun-associated and Amara's moon-associated powers follow their respective cycles; the exact combat timing remains to be authored.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Riven of House Arakual; Khari; Amara; Darius Eventide.

CHRONOLOGY ANCHOR

Riven's present-day awakening period, age nineteen.

CAUSE

An inherited convergence preserved through the Ara'Kai to Ahk Ra to Khari to Riven line, and a childhood spent hidden from those hunting it.

CONSEQUENCE

Riven's awakening attracts forces that mistake inherited potential for a right to control him.

LATER CONNECTION

The staff-length obsidian/ecliptic odachi and later phantom edge lead toward his khopesh signature. The series arc moves exploration to realization, refinement and transcendence.

CONTINUITY NOTE: No exact lunar phase, solar event, or power multiplier is locked by this image.

PLATE 10 / PRESENT DAY / FROST FANG AFTERMATH

The Third Day Without an Answer

CANON BEAT / PORTRAIT INTERPRETIVE

FRESH MANGA CONCEPT CROP / SCENE INTERPRETIVE

THE MOMENT

After the man-made stampede and raids at the southern border, Yahia waits through his father's three-day silence. His restraint hides anger, grief and the pressure of an Ice Drake power that offers wrath as a shortcut.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Yahia Yukimura; his father; four retainers; survivors of the southern border.

CHRONOLOGY ANCHOR

After the southern-border tragedy; before the public heir ceremony.

CAUSE

The border tragedy, hidden culpability, and a retainer betrayal that will alter his understanding of duty.

CONSEQUENCE

The solitary frozen tear and unresolved truth shape the future Frost Reaper, whose first public act honors survivors rather than conquest.

LATER CONNECTION

Yahia restores traditions diluted by the tundra's brutality; Amelia's lotus-water affinity and his Frost Fang bonds later anchor his choices.

CONTINUITY NOTE: The portrait is symbolic. Eye canon: his right eye purple and left eye blue; wrath changes only the right to a red Dragon Eye.

Continuity rules: No invented BS/AS conversions; no approval implied by an image; Saurai freedom and Kynari beastfolk identity preserved; the future severance of ancient contracts is not yet an event in Books I-XI; the whispering woman is never depicted.

The Schism Before the Laws

CELESTIAL ERA / BEFORE MORTAL CULTURES

CANON FRAMEWORK / VISUAL INTERPRETATION

ROUGH INK-WASH STUDY / ORIGINAL CONCEPT BOARD CROP

PARTICIPANTS

Elohim factions, early Sentinels, and mortals whose transcendence was observed.

THE MOMENT

First contact revealed that mortals could transcend the limits heaven expected. The discovery intensified divisions among the Elohim and helped ignite the War in Heaven. This image stages the first celestial rupture as an evacuation rather than a triumphant conquest.

CAUSE

The possibility of independent mortal power collided with celestial claims to authority. Covert approaches preceded the later public Blessing of Passage; these phases must not be collapsed into one event.

AFTERMATH

Celestial disagreement became open conflict long before mortal cultures developed their own historical records. Hidden agreements, competing definitions of protection, and coercive contracts survived the first battles.

LATER CONNECTION

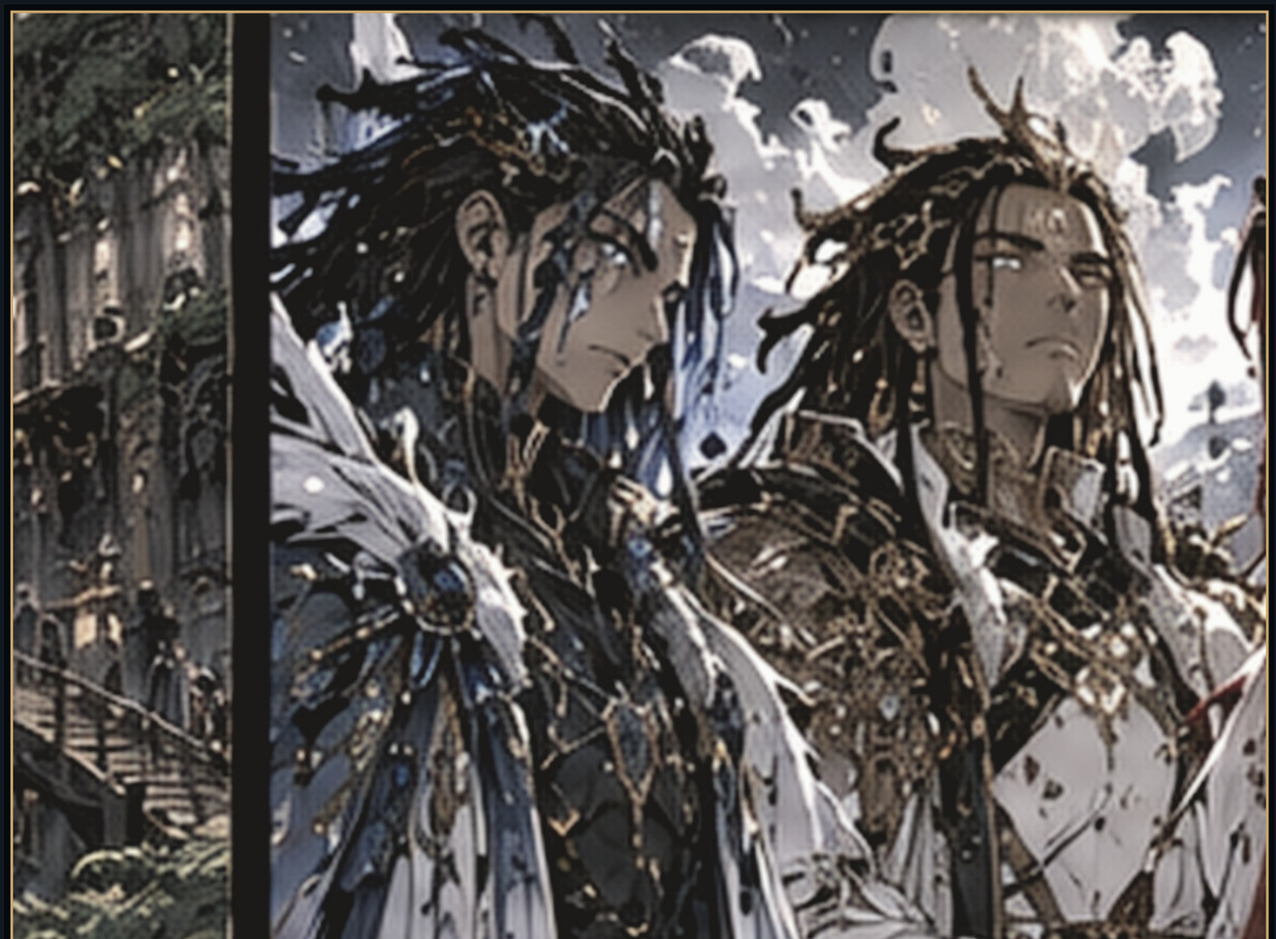
Books I-II uncover early contact and the public Blessing; later war narratives expose the division between ownership and freedom. Ancient BS/AS dates remain unresolved.

IMAGE STATUS: Interpretive staging. The winged figures are not named Elohim, and no new battle date or location is asserted.

Three Warriors Before the Fracture

DEEP HISTORY / AHK RA BEFORE HIS FALL

CANON RELATIONSHIP / IMAGINED MOMENT



ROUGH INK-WASH STUDY / ORIGINAL CONCEPT BOARD CROP

PARTICIPANTS

Ahk Ra, a frost Saurai companion, and a blood Saurai companion.

THE MOMENT

Before their paths divided, the three fought through campaigns that made kinship feel stronger than ancestry. The image catches them in a rare moment of stillness, when their shared survival could still be mistaken for an unbreakable future.

CAUSE

Celestial interference, contested freedoms, and mutual defense brought the companions together. Their dragon-blood kinship did not mean outsiders could own or tame dragons.

AFTERMATH

Ahk Ra eventually turned toward greed and power-taking, killing both companions. His persecution for inherited power remains distinct from his responsibility for those murders and the atrocities that followed.

LATER CONNECTION

Their broken bond informs the dedicated Ahk Ra historical novel, later Saurai lineages, and the moral inheritance confronting Riven. Any children or exact dates remain unconfirmed.

IMAGE STATUS: The depicted pause is an illustrative reconstruction, not a newly approved encounter or dialogue.

The Refuge Beyond the Hunt

DEEP HISTORY / KYNARI DISPLACEMENT

PROPOSAL / NOT CANON

ROUGH INK-WASH STUDY / ORIGINAL CONCEPT BOARD CROP

PARTICIPANTS

Displaced Kynari beastfolk, possible Saurai escorts, and unconfirmed local keepers.

THE MOMENT

A hidden bridge-city offers shelter to beastfolk families driven from their routes. Scouts watch the approaches while healers and craftworkers exchange knowledge beneath an overgrown archway.

CAUSE

This proposed refuge grows from established pressures: territorial conflict, forced contracts, experiments, and the vulnerability of communities caught between stronger factions.

AFTERMATH

If approved, the settlement could become a protected waypoint for displaced peoples and a source of later maps, medicines, and beast-handling traditions. It is not currently an established historical city.

LATER CONNECTION

Potential links include the Nomad Alliance, Kynari family histories, and the later importance of voluntary passage through the Veil.

IMAGE STATUS: Architecture, inhabitants, founding event, and exact era placement are all speculative.

The Red Autumn Hearing

POST-AHK RA / HOUSE CONFLICTS

PROPOSAL / NOT CANON

ROUGH INK-WASH STUDY / ORIGINAL CONCEPT BOARD CROP

PARTICIPANTS

Unspecified surviving houses, court envoys, and unnamed witnesses.

THE MOMENT

Beneath red autumn leaves, a royal delegation arrives at a court already scarred by violence. The scene proposes a failed hearing over reparations, confiscated relics, and the status of families left exposed after Ahk Ra.

CAUSE

Ahk Ra's death left competing claims to authority, ancestral artifacts, and public memory. Rival houses could exploit a hearing intended to prevent another conflict.

AFTERMATH

A failed negotiation would encourage covert alliances and deepen the gulf between official histories and what survivors remember. No particular massacre, victim list, or verdict is established here.

LATER CONNECTION

A possible bridge between the post-Ahk Ra house chronicle, the Red Autumn court sequence, and modern political antagonists.

IMAGE STATUS: Entire hearing and its staging are proposed; the source image's title is not proof of a canon massacre.

The Table of Nine Shadows

POST-AHK RA / BLACK HOUSE NETWORKS

PROPOSAL / CONCEPT-ART CONTINUITY

ROUGH INK-WASH STUDY / ORIGINAL CONCEPT BOARD CROP

PARTICIPANTS

Representatives of the nine Black House visual concepts; no named attendees are approved.

THE MOMENT

Nine rival standards hang above a chamber in which no seat is truly neutral. The delegates weigh control of relic routes, bloodline intelligence, and sealed gates without granting one another trust.

CAUSE

Power vacuums, rival genealogies, and forbidden contracts make cooperation tempting even among antagonistic families.

AFTERMATH

A temporary bargain could produce proxy wars and splinter cults rather than lasting unity. This particular meeting has not been inserted into the manuscript.

LATER CONNECTION

Connects the Black Houses design archive to later underground groups, the Gilded Jackals' prohibition, and the politics surrounding the Eclipse bloodline.

IMAGE STATUS: The nine-house roster and visual sigils remain exploratory unless separately author-approved.

A Council of Many Roads

LATER HISTORY / NOMAD ALLIANCE

CANON FACTION / PROPOSED ASSEMBLY

ROUGH INK-WASH STUDY / ORIGINAL CONCEPT BOARD CROP

PARTICIPANTS

Kynari beastfolk, Saurai free folk, humans, elves, and Nomad Alliance representatives.

THE MOMENT

A mixed council studies routes and provisions rather than crowning a conqueror. The artwork imagines a meeting in which different peoples negotiate the price of safe travel, food, and protection.

CAUSE

Border instability, displacement, hostile contracts, and fragmented jurisdictions require cooperation across peoples with distinct traditions.

AFTERMATH

The Alliance can coordinate relief and defense while preserving disagreements between its members. The depicted table and attendees are illustrative, not a recorded official session.

LATER CONNECTION

Supports the Alliance's later role around the main cast and connects Kynari and Saurai survival to the wider political story.

IMAGE STATUS: Proposed council composition; no official vote, law, or precise date is asserted.

The Gate That Demands a Choice

THE VEIL / CROSS-ERA ROUTES

CANON PERMISSION MOTIF / PROPOSED SCENE

ROUGH INK-WASH STUDY / ORIGINAL CONCEPT BOARD CROP

PARTICIPANTS

Travelers, an unidentified gate attendant, and the unseen authority of the Veil.

THE MOMENT

A caravan reaches a ring of light, but possession of a key does not settle the right to enter. One traveler steps forward to request passage while the others wait outside the threshold.

CAUSE

Crossings can be regulated by keys, oaths, permissions, and inherited mechanisms. Aethernox is the Veil warden, not a universal gatekeeper physically present at every door.

AFTERMATH

Approved passage may save a community; unlawful crossing may attract wardens or destabilize an already fragile route. No particular toll, key, or traveler is established here.

LATER CONNECTION

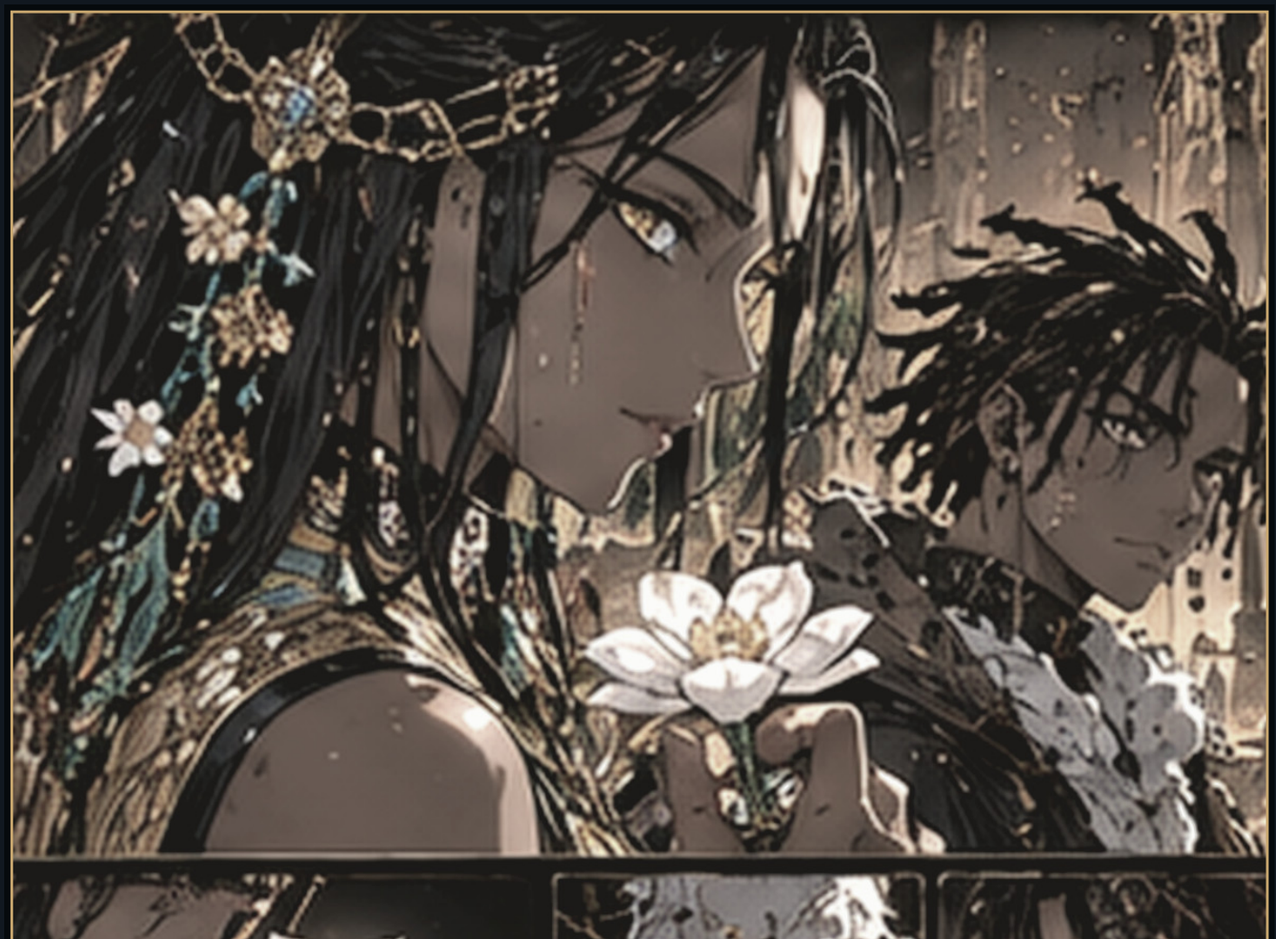
Extends the door-and-permission motif through Aethernox, Gingey, the Hidden Hand, and the Veil relic research archive.

IMAGE STATUS: This gate design and its waiting caravan are exploratory; the whispering woman is not depicted.

A Flower Before the Warning

PRESENT DAY / RIVEN AWAKENING ARC

CANON STORY BEAT / VISUAL INTERPRETATION



ROUGH INK-WASH STUDY / ORIGINAL CONCEPT BOARD CROP

PARTICIPANTS

Ixtli Tayocan and Riven of House Arakual.

THE MOMENT

Ixtli offers a flower with a warning: "Go home." The gesture is small beside the danger she senses, and Riven has not yet understood the history attached to his Eclipse bloodline.

CAUSE

Ixtli knows enough to recognize approaching danger, but the complete truth of her knowledge is not revealed in this first encounter.

AFTERMATH

The warning fails to end their entanglement. A later ritual clash in Ixtli's hometown and her eventual help in Riven's departure alter the relationship.

LATER CONNECTION

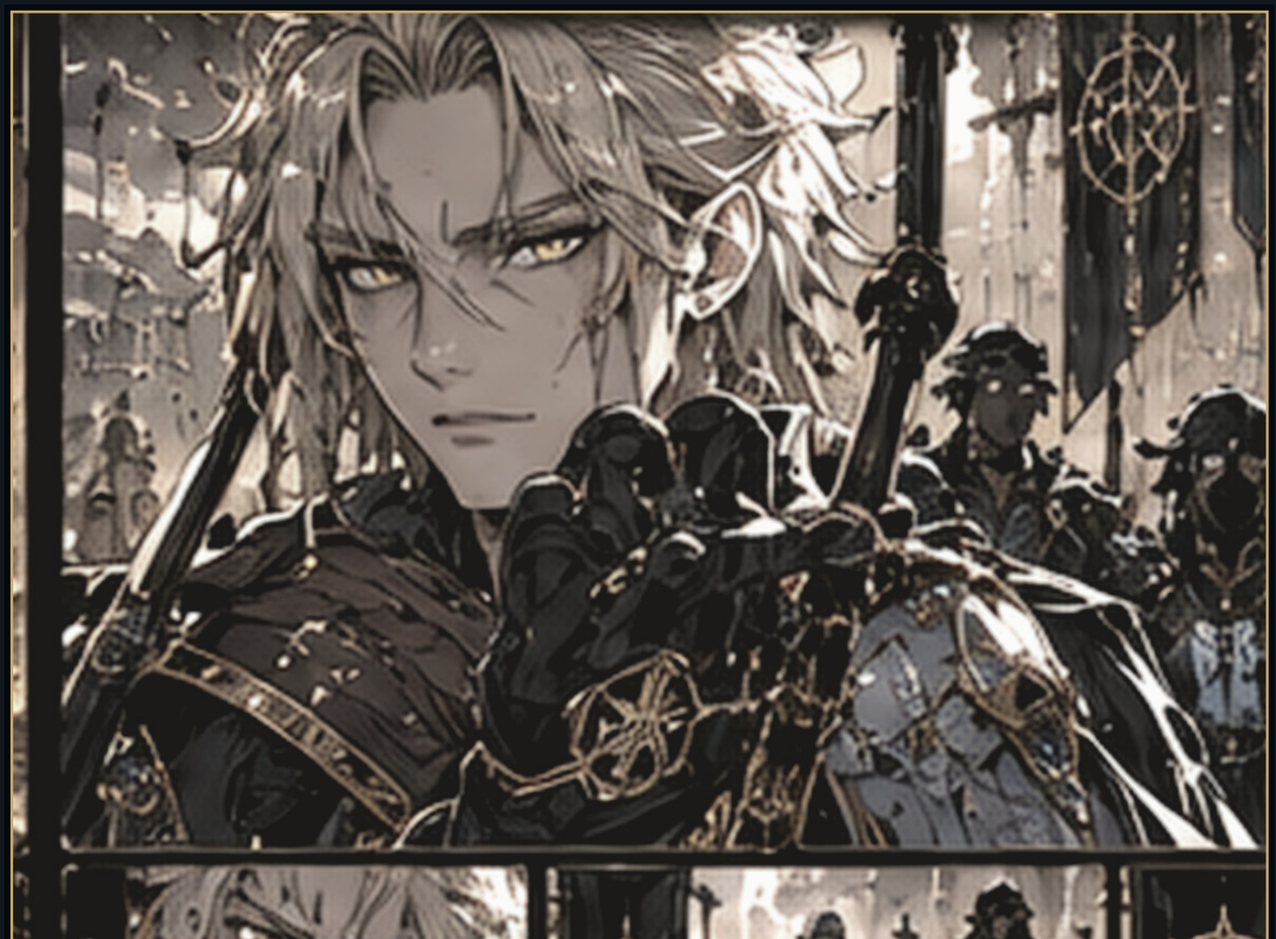
Links the early awakening story to Aurel Goldfang, House Tayocan, the Veil crossing, and Riven's long inheritance from Ara'Kai through Ahk Ra and Khari.

IMAGE STATUS: The exact framing and costume details are concept art; Riven is not to be redesigned with dreadlocks.

Goldfang Watches the Board

PRESENT DAY / EARLY RIVEN CONFLICT

CANON ANTAGONIST / PROPOSED SCENE



ROUGH INK-WASH STUDY / ORIGINAL CONCEPT BOARD CROP

PARTICIPANTS

Aurel Goldfang and unidentified associates or observers.

THE MOMENT

Aurel studies the movement of rivals from a guarded position, choosing when to confront Riven and when to let other forces reveal themselves. The portrait emphasizes his political calculation rather than a new duel.

CAUSE

Competing ambitions around the Eclipse bloodline and the ancient power structures place Riven in Aurel's path.

AFTERMATH

The rivalry presses Riven toward difficult alliances and makes Ixtli's later choices consequential. No secret order or newly named subordinate is canonized by this image.

LATER CONNECTION

Connects Riven's awakening to House Goldfang, Ixtli's portal events, and the wider inheritance struggle.

IMAGE STATUS: Aurel's posture and companions are illustrative; no manuscript scene is silently inserted.

The First Morning of Free Agreements

FUTURE ENDPOINT / AFTER BOOKS I-XI

APPROVED ENDGAME PRINCIPLE / PROPOSED IMAGE

ROUGH INK-WASH STUDY / ORIGINAL CONCEPT BOARD CROP

PARTICIPANTS

Future mortal communities, surviving Elohim and Sentinels, and peoples affected by old bindings.

THE MOMENT

The morning after the ancient celestial contracts end is not a victory parade. Delegates gather beneath an open sky to begin the harder work of restoring trust and rebuilding safe routes.

CAUSE

Generations of coercion, pestilence, possession, and inherited obligations make termination of the old contracts necessary.

AFTERMATH

All ancient celestial contracts are to end, but Anima, altered peoples, inherited powers, and essential infrastructure must be preserved through safe transitions. New agreements must be equal, informed, and voluntary.

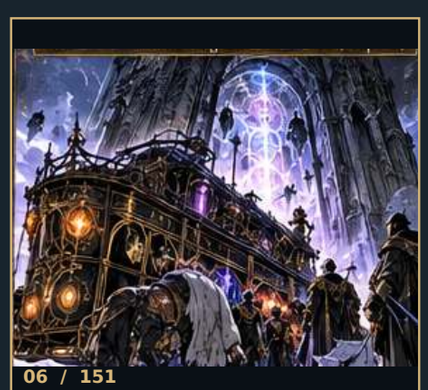
LATER CONNECTION

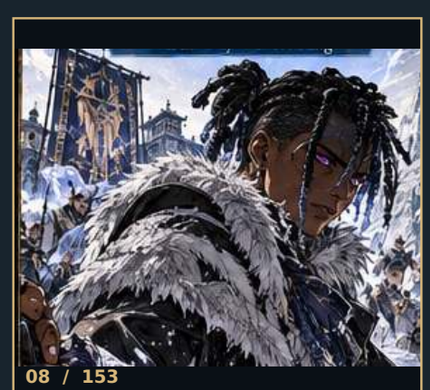
This is the author-approved ultimate direction, not an event already reached in Books I-XI. The depicted council and architecture remain speculative.

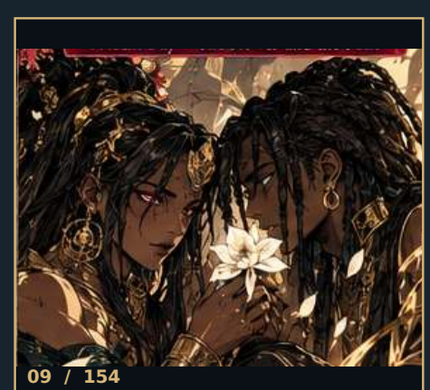
IMAGE STATUS: The visual outcome is proposed and does not settle the surviving cast, geography, or timing.

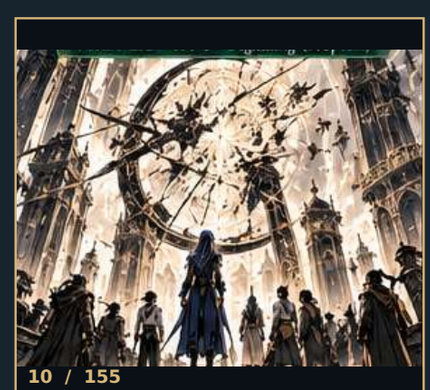
Ten More Windows Through the Veil

A fresh illustrated sequence across first contact, Kynari refuge, the frost-and-blood brotherhood, the BS/AS calendar anchor, house petitions, permission-bound gates and the living cast.









Reading rule: all imagery is interpretive. Specific unapproved actions, locations, costumes, dates, dialogue and rituals are proposals even when placed beside established historical frameworks.

Changelog & Chronological Index

Edition v6: Preserves the complete prior 143-page v5 archive in order. Adds a 12-page supplement: one cover/gallery, this change ledger, and ten new illustration-and-lore plates. The previous master PDF is not edited in place.

Visual method: ten fresh, separately cropped images from newly generated concept boards. Text is independently edited because lettering inside generated concept art is not authoritative. The crops have limited source resolution.

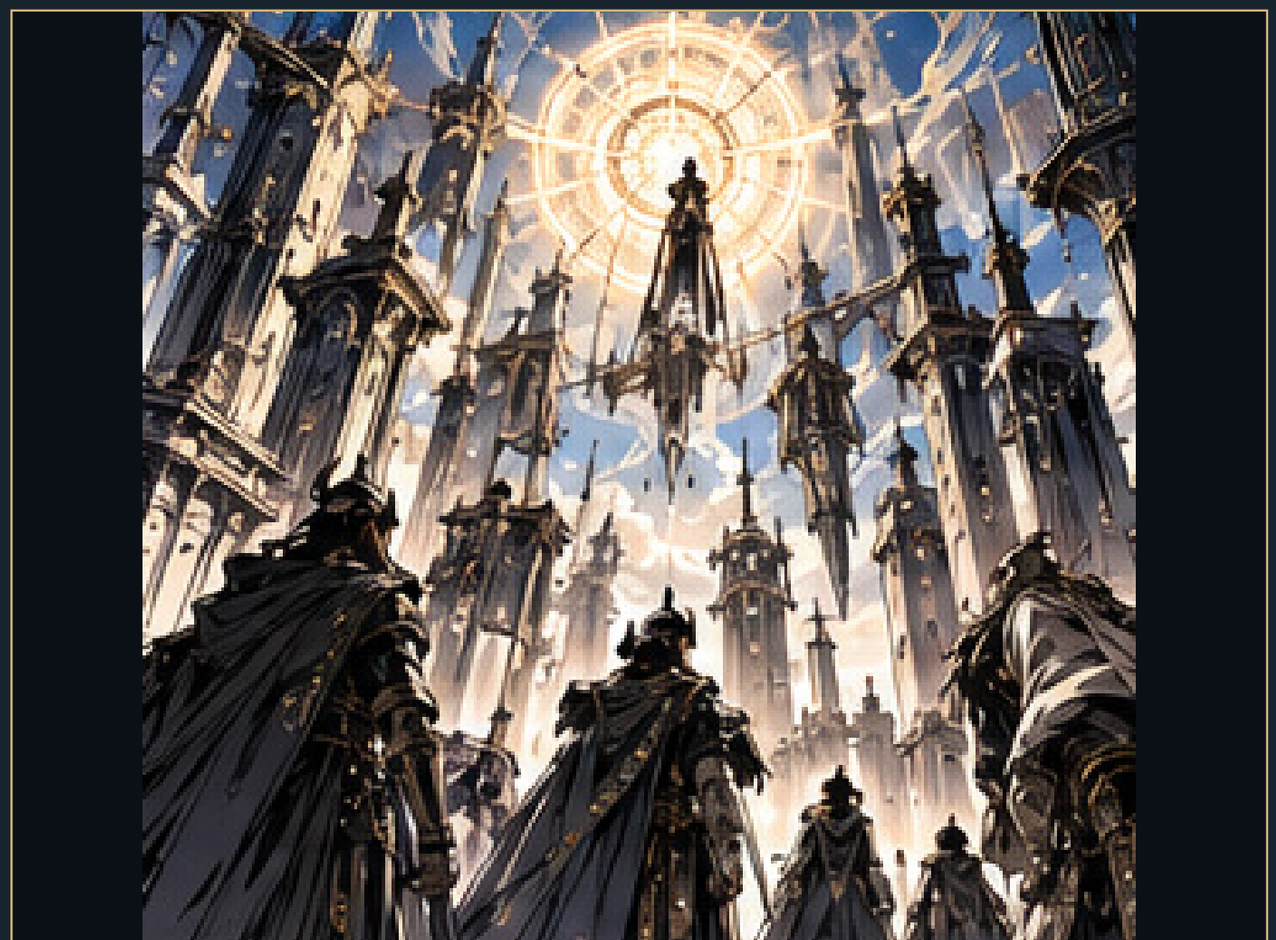
The Survey Before the Open Hand

CELESTIAL ERA / COVERT FIRST CONTACT

CANON FRAMEWORK / IMAGINED VIEWPOINT



INK-FORWARD CONCEPT STUDY / GENERATED BOARD ARTWORK CROP

Image status: illustrative only; do not treat depicted costumes, architecture, dates or incidental figures as approved canon.

PARTICIPANTS

Early Elohim envoys, mortal communities, witnesses whose names are unrecorded.

THE MOMENT

Before the public Blessing of Passage, the Elohim approached mortal realms and discovered that mortal lives could transcend the limits heaven expected. This image imagines a first, wordless survey rather than a public ceremony.

CAUSE

Discovery of independent mortal transcendence disrupted assumptions of celestial authority and control.

AFTERMATH

Covert contact and conflicting interpretations prepared the conditions for the first outbreak of the War in Heaven. Some later bindings would be disguised as gifts.

LATER CONNECTION

Book I keeps early contact covert; Book II distinguishes Blessing (given), Sentinel (recognized), and Birthright (inherited). No date or named first observer is assigned.

The Cold Pass and the Uncounted

DEEP HISTORY / KYNARI DISPLACEMENT

PROPOSAL / NOT CANON

INK-FORWARD CONCEPT STUDY / GENERATED BOARD ARTWORK CROP

Image status: illustrative only; do not treat depicted costumes, architecture, dates or incidental figures as approved canon.

PARTICIPANTS

Kynari beastfolk families, scouts, possible free-folk allies and pursuers (all unnamed).

THE MOMENT

A winter column crosses a high pass. Elders carry maps; younger Kynari keep watch while a child refuses to abandon a wounded beast. This specific migration, route and encounter are a visual proposal.

CAUSE

Proposed pressures include predatory claims over ancestral land, bloodline exploitation and expanding house influence.

AFTERMATH

If approved, the flight could explain a local alliance formed through shelter rather than conquest, without inventing a single origin story for all Kynari.

LATER CONNECTION

Preserves Kynari as beastfolk and as politically significant as Saurai. Potential background for later Nomad Alliance relationships; no new settlement is canonized.

A Brotherhood With No Crown

DEEP HISTORY / BEFORE AHK RA'S FALL

CANON RELATIONSHIP / PROPOSED OATH SCENE

INK-FORWARD CONCEPT STUDY / GENERATED BOARD ARTWORK CROP

Image status: illustrative only; do not treat depicted costumes, architecture, dates or incidental figures as approved canon.

PARTICIPANTS

Ahk Ra, a frost Saurai companion, a blood Saurai companion; unnamed retainers.

THE MOMENT

Three battle-worn allies share a guarded pause before returning to the front. The companionship is established; this exact oath, place and visual arrangement are not.

CAUSE

Shared battles, kinship and resistance to imposed celestial ownership joined men whose bloodlines carried very different powers.

AFTERMATH

Ahk Ra later chooses greed and takes the lives and power of his two friends. The tragedy must hold him accountable; pestilence amplifies but does not erase his choices.

LATER CONNECTION

The frost and blood Saurai lineages echo into later family histories, including Yahia and Kaisel. Offspring and precise descent remain author-review questions.

The Seal That Divided Time

DEEP HISTORY / SEALING OF LAZARETH MORNE

CANON CHRONOLOGY ANCHOR / SYMBOLIC IMAGE

INK-FORWARD CONCEPT STUDY / GENERATED BOARD ARTWORK CROP

Image status: illustrative only; do not treat depicted costumes, architecture, dates or incidental figures as approved canon.

PARTICIPANTS

Lazareth Morne and the parties to the Sealing; individual witnesses remain unconfirmed.

THE MOMENT

A vast threshold is shut against a wound in reality. The illustration symbolizes the Sealing of Lazareth Morne; its architecture, ritual sequence and participants are not established facts.

CAUSE

The ancient celestial and mortal crises left contracts, unstable forces and threats that later histories attempted to measure and contain.

AFTERMATH

The Sealing supplies the BS/AS chronological anchor, not a license to assign fabricated years to earlier events.

LATER CONNECTION

This index lets the Celestial Era, Deep History and later houses be cross-referenced while uncertain ancient dates remain uncertain.

The Petition Under Red Leaves

POST-AHK RA / CONTESTED HOUSE POWER

PROPOSAL / NOT CANON

INK-FORWARD CONCEPT STUDY / GENERATED BOARD ARTWORK CROP

Image status: illustrative only; do not treat depicted costumes, architecture, dates or incidental figures as approved canon.

PARTICIPANTS

Unnamed surviving house envoys, a neutral clerk, descendants of affected communities.

THE MOMENT

At a red-leafed court, an envoy petitions that relics seized during the wars be returned to survivors rather than inherited by the strongest house. This hearing is a proposed episode, not a documented Red Autumn massacre.

CAUSE

Ahk Ra's fall left rival houses, displaced families and competing claims over bloodline relics and forbidden contracts.

AFTERMATH

The petition fails to settle ownership, leaving an opening for proxy factions and covert retrieval missions.

LATER CONNECTION

A possible bridge from post-Ahk Ra house rivalries to modern Black House networks. No new legal precedent or named house victory is locked.

PROPOSAL / PERMISSION MOTIF

INK-FORWARD CONCEPT STUDY / GENERATED BOARD ARTWORK CROP

Image status: illustrative only; do not treat depicted costumes, architecture, dates or incidental figures as approved canon.

PARTICIPANTS

Nomadic traders, a Kynari guide, a Veil checkpoint keeper and travelers.

THE MOMENT

A caravan halts before a gate whose lock is not opened by force. A key may identify the route, but permission is a separate question. The exact caravan and key design are proposed.

CAUSE

Unregulated crossings, stolen relics and dangerous contracts create pressure for passage rules.

AFTERMATH

A traveler who cannot demonstrate lawful permission must turn back or face intervention; a key is not automatically an entitlement.

LATER CONNECTION

Supports the door/permission motif around Aethernox and the Hidden Hand. Does not erase the established consent lapse or confuse the Gatewarden with Aethernox.

The Warden Does Not Name the Lost

VEIL / HIDDEN HAND / ACROSS ERAS

CANON ROLE / PROPOSED ENCOUNTER

INK-FORWARD CONCEPT STUDY / GENERATED BOARD ARTWORK CROP

Image status: illustrative only; do not treat depicted costumes, architecture, dates or incidental figures as approved canon.

PARTICIPANTS

Aethernox, an unnamed lost traveler, possible Veil wardens.

THE MOMENT

Aethernox stands beside a threshold, offering a way back without revealing the destination beyond the door. His precise words and the traveler are invented for this plate.

CAUSE

The Veil receives the lost as well as illegal crossers, and the distinction between guidance and enforcement is rarely simple.

AFTERMATH

The traveler must decide whether to accept help. Aethernox remains pivotal but deliberately opaque, and his past failures are not rewritten as perfect consent.

LATER CONNECTION

Foreshadows the door motif, his creation by the Halo Engine, and the eventual rebirth of Gingey after much of Aethernox's power was relinquished.

The Empty Place in the Frost Hall

PRESENT DAY / FROST FANG AFTERMATH

CANON BEATS / PROPOSED FRAMING

INK-FORWARD CONCEPT STUDY / GENERATED BOARD ARTWORK CROP

Image status: illustrative only; do not treat depicted costumes, architecture, dates or incidental figures as approved canon.

PARTICIPANTS

Yahia Yukimura, border survivors, Frost Fang retainers; his father remains off-panel.

THE MOMENT

After the southern-border tragedy, Yahia faces the people who endured it rather than celebrating a victory. The image is a symbolic portrait, not a claim that this exact hall scene occurred.

CAUSE

A man-made stampede and raiding shattered settlements; Yahia's father kept silence for three days, and one of four retainers would prove a Judas.

AFTERMATH

The young heir learns that protection is a public obligation. His frozen tear and emerging Ice Drake wrath remain distinct from an uncomplicated triumph.

LATER CONNECTION

A Flower That Marks a Boundary

PRESENT DAY / RIVEN AND IXTLI

CANON WARNING / VISUAL INTERPRETATION

INK-FORWARD CONCEPT STUDY / GENERATED BOARD ARTWORK CROP

Image status: illustrative only; do not treat depicted costumes, architecture, dates or incidental figures as approved canon.

PARTICIPANTS

Riven Arakual and Ixtli Tayocan.

THE MOMENT

Ixtli offers a flower and the warning, "Go home." The gesture is not an invitation: it marks a boundary that Riven does not yet understand.

CAUSE

Ixtli recognizes danger surrounding Riven's awakening and the forces drawn to his Eclipse inheritance.

AFTERMATH

Their next clash occurs at her ritual hometown; later events involving Aurel and a portal change their relationship, and she ultimately helps Riven leave.

LATER CONNECTION

The scene should remain tense rather than romanticized as instant trust. Riven's sun/moon lineage and inherited Eclipse power are separate from consent to cross a boundary.

The Ledger of What Must Survive

FUTURE ENDPOINT / BEYOND BOOKS I-XI

APPROVED PRINCIPLE / PROPOSED VISUAL

INK-FORWARD CONCEPT STUDY / GENERATED BOARD ARTWORK CROP

Image status: illustrative only; do not treat depicted costumes, architecture, dates or incidental figures as approved canon.

PARTICIPANTS

Future free peoples, surviving Elohim and Sentinels, descendants of altered bloodlines.

THE MOMENT

A former celestial gate opens under a new charter. The broken chains are a symbolic image, not a scene already written into Books I-XI.

CAUSE

Centuries of manipulation, forced possession, blood oaths and inherited obligations reveal why ancient celestial contracts cannot remain.

AFTERMATH

All ancient celestial contracts end. Anima, altered peoples, inherited powers and essential infrastructure survive through safe transitions; new agreements must be equal, informed and voluntary.

LATER CONNECTION

The endgame is a future author ruling, not an event to insert prematurely into the War Trilogy or Long Peace books.

SUPPLEMENT 06 / CHRONOLOGY IN INK

Ten More Windows Through the Veil

A new set of ten separately indexed manga / seinen visual plates, spanning the first celestial schism, Saurai autonomy, the devastation of Ahk Ra, postwar house rivalries, the Nomad Alliance and the present Eclipse lineage.

Editorial safeguards: ancient BS/AS dates are not invented; no new bloodline mechanics or ancestral identities are locked; staged ceremonies, migrations and meetings remain visual proposals. The whispering woman is never depicted. AI-generated source-board captions are excluded from the archive narrative.

PLATE 01 / COMBINED PAGE 158

When Heaven Learned to Fear

CELESTIAL ERA

CANON CAUSE / SYMBOLIC VISUAL

WHAT HAPPENED

The Elohim made contact with mortal realms and discovered that mortals could transcend. The resulting fear and disagreement ignited the War in Heaven; its first outbreak predates mortal cultures and written law.

INVOLVED

Elohim factions, early Sentinels and the first mortal witnesses to celestial contact.

CAUSE

Mortal transcendence challenged assumptions about celestial authority and who could claim power.

CONSEQUENCE

A schism grew into prolonged celestial conflict, followed by covert approaches, bindings and later public interventions.

CONNECTION

The causal root of Books I-II and the later wars. The composition is symbolic, not a dated battle record.

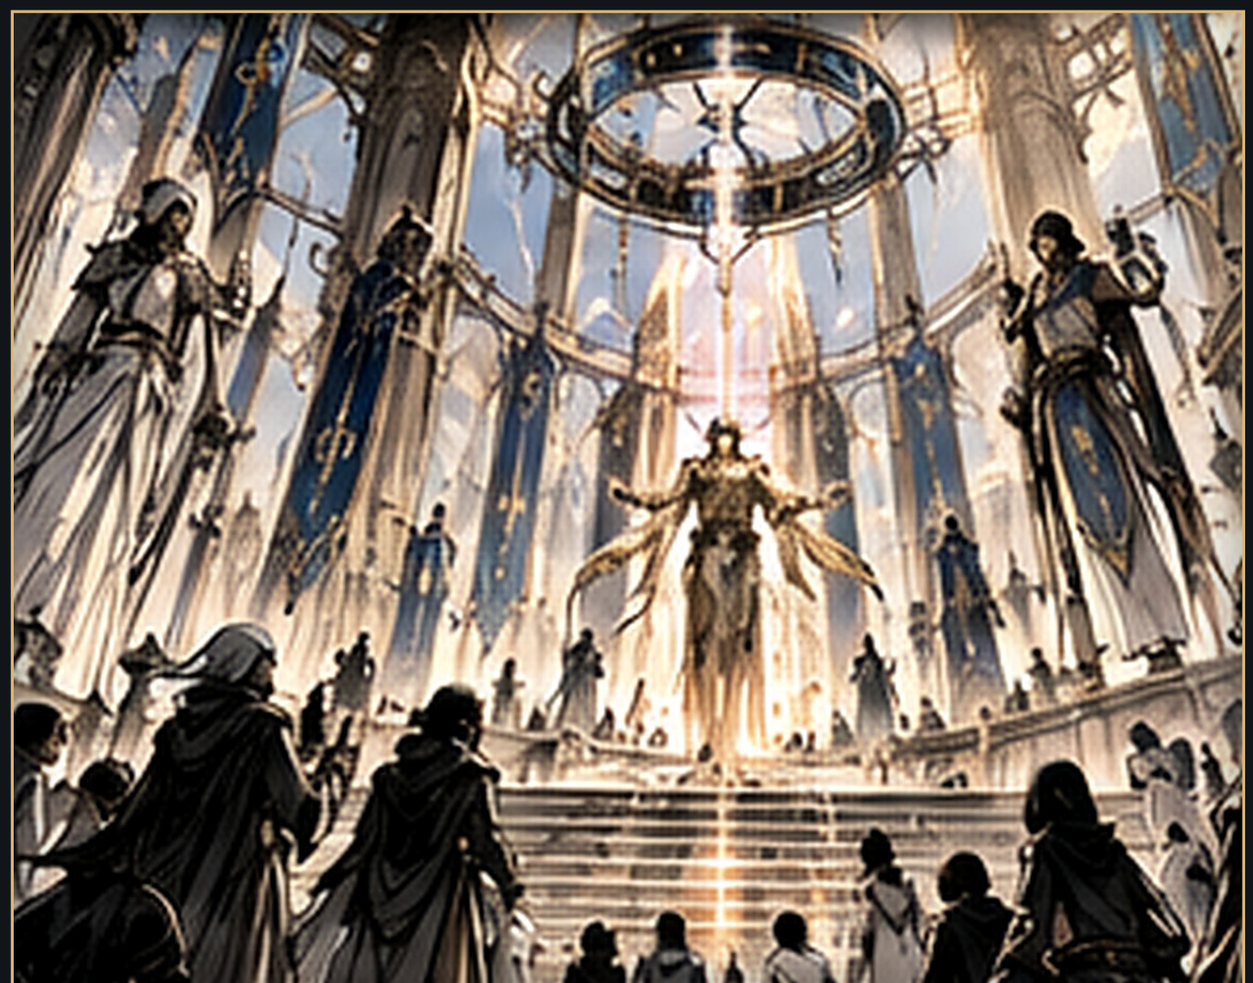
CANON NOTE: No specific first-battle location or named witnesses are asserted.

PLATE 02 / COMBINED PAGE 159

The Open Hand at the Threshold

CELESTIAL ERA / BOOK II

CANON EVENT / INTERPRETIVE ART



WHAT HAPPENED

The public Blessing of Passage made celestial intervention visible to mortal societies after the earlier covert-contact phase. Not every empowered person accepted the same terms.

INVOLVED

Elohim representatives, Sentinels and mortals from multiple peoples, including humans, Kynari and Saurai.

CAUSE

Celestial factions sought to formalize contact and shape how passage and power were granted or recognized.

CONSEQUENCE

Hope and new capabilities arrived alongside disputed obligations, unequal knowledge and mounting suspicion.

CONNECTION

Preserve the categories: Blessing is given, Sentinel is recognized, Birthright is inherited. Contracts are a separate axis.

CANON NOTE: The depicted ceremony is illustrative; its precise venue is not fixed.

The Unowned Sky

DEEP HISTORY

CANON PRINCIPLE / STAGED SCENE

WHAT HAPPENED

Dragon-blood Saurai stand as free folk rather than property. Dragons cannot be tamed by outsiders; only their own blood can establish the relevant bond.

INVOLVED

Saurai houses, their dragons and factions attempting to claim celestial or mortal ownership.

CAUSE

Attempts to impose contracts and dominion on dragon-blood lineages collided with Saurai autonomy.

CONSEQUENCE

Their resistance becomes a pivotal moral and political fault line in the War of Ascension and the war trilogy.

CONNECTION

Yahia's Ice Drake inheritance echoes this older freedom struggle, without making his ancestors participants in this specific image.

CANON NOTE: The three warriors shown are unnamed archetypes, not a newly canonized pact.

PLATE 04 / COMBINED PAGE 161

The Veil-Torn Wilds

DEEP HISTORY / UNDATED

PROPOSAL - NOT CANON

WHAT HAPPENED

Proposed scene: a Kynari beast-tamer expedition tracks displaced magical creatures through a landscape damaged by unstable Veil currents.

INVOLVED

Proposed Kynari scouts, a Saurai pathfinder, wild drakes and nomadic guides.

CAUSE

A hypothetical rupture alters migration routes and makes familiar terrain dangerous.

CONSEQUENCE

The expedition could preserve animal lineages and seed later nomadic research, but no such migration has been approved.

CONNECTION

Potential visual bridge between the Veil-gate bestiary, the Great Shift and modern Nomad field notes.

CANON NOTE: The expedition, location and participants are wholly proposed.

PLATE 05 / COMBINED PAGE 162

Names After the Seventh Fire

DEEP HISTORY / AHK RA

CANON DISASTER / PROPOSED MEMORIAL

WHAT HAPPENED

Ahk Ra destroyed seven cities. The damage is not absolved by the persecution that preceded his moral collapse. This image imagines survivors trying to record the missing.

INVOLVED

Ahk Ra, the populations of the destroyed cities, surviving families and the powers that later mobilized against him.

CAUSE

Ahk Ra's pursuit of power, grievances and worsening corruption culminated in atrocities.

CONSEQUENCE

The devastation fractured alliances and left a lasting public fear of Sun-and-Ash convergence.

CONNECTION

The Gilded Jackals' prohibition, "Never allow Sun + Ash," emerges from this history; the bloodline eventually reaches Riven.

CANON NOTE: The survivor ledger and exact location of this view are proposed.

PLATE 06 / COMBINED PAGE 163

The Jackal Prohibition

DEEP HISTORY / AFTER THE SEVEN CITIES

CANON CREED / PROPOSED CEREMONY

WHAT HAPPENED

The Gilded Jackals are founded around a single prohibition: "Never allow Sun + Ash." The illustrated oath table is a possible representation of that founding impulse.

INVOLVED

Founding Jackal figures, survivors of Ahk Ra's devastation and later adherents to the creed.

CAUSE

The destruction of the seven cities made another Sun-and-Ash convergence seem intolerable.

CONSEQUENCE

The creed outlived its immediate emergency and could be used to justify secrecy, coercion or conflict.

CONNECTION

The Jackals become an enduring counterforce to the Eclipse bloodline and post-Ahk Ra house politics.

CANON NOTE: No particular oath ritual, founder names or meeting date are established here.

PLATE 07 / COMBINED PAGE 164

The Partition of Ash

POST-AHK RA HOUSE CONFLICTS

PROPOSAL - NOT CANON

WHAT HAPPENED

Proposed scene: rival Black House envoys debate control of relics, routes and contested inheritances in the power vacuum after Ahk Ra's death.

INVOLVED

Unidentified Black House delegates, surviving dynastic interests and rival relic claimants.

CAUSE

Ahk Ra's fall left competing interpretations of his legacy and opportunities for opportunistic power grabs.

CONSEQUENCE

A secret partition might accelerate proxy wars, cult formation and forbidden bloodline research.

CONNECTION

Potential connective tissue for the post-Ahk Ra chronicle and modern antagonist networks.

CANON NOTE: No conclave, agreement, division of relics or roster is approved canon.

PLATE 08 / COMBINED PAGE 165

A Table Without a Throne

PRESENT DAY / HISTORICAL LEGACY

CANON FACTION / PROPOSED SUMMIT

WHAT HAPPENED

The Nomad Alliance offers a coalition model built around survival, research, passage and mutual defense rather than inherited celestial ownership.

INVOLVED

Nomad officials including Solenne Veyra, Torren Kael and Maelis Quor; Kynari and Saurai communities are equally significant.

CAUSE

The long consequences of house conflict, displaced peoples, unstable borders and dangerous artifacts demand cooperation.

CONSEQUENCE

A cross-cultural network becomes important to the main cast's intelligence, protection and mobility.

CONNECTION

The present alliance inherits problems created across Deep History and post-Ahk Ra struggles.

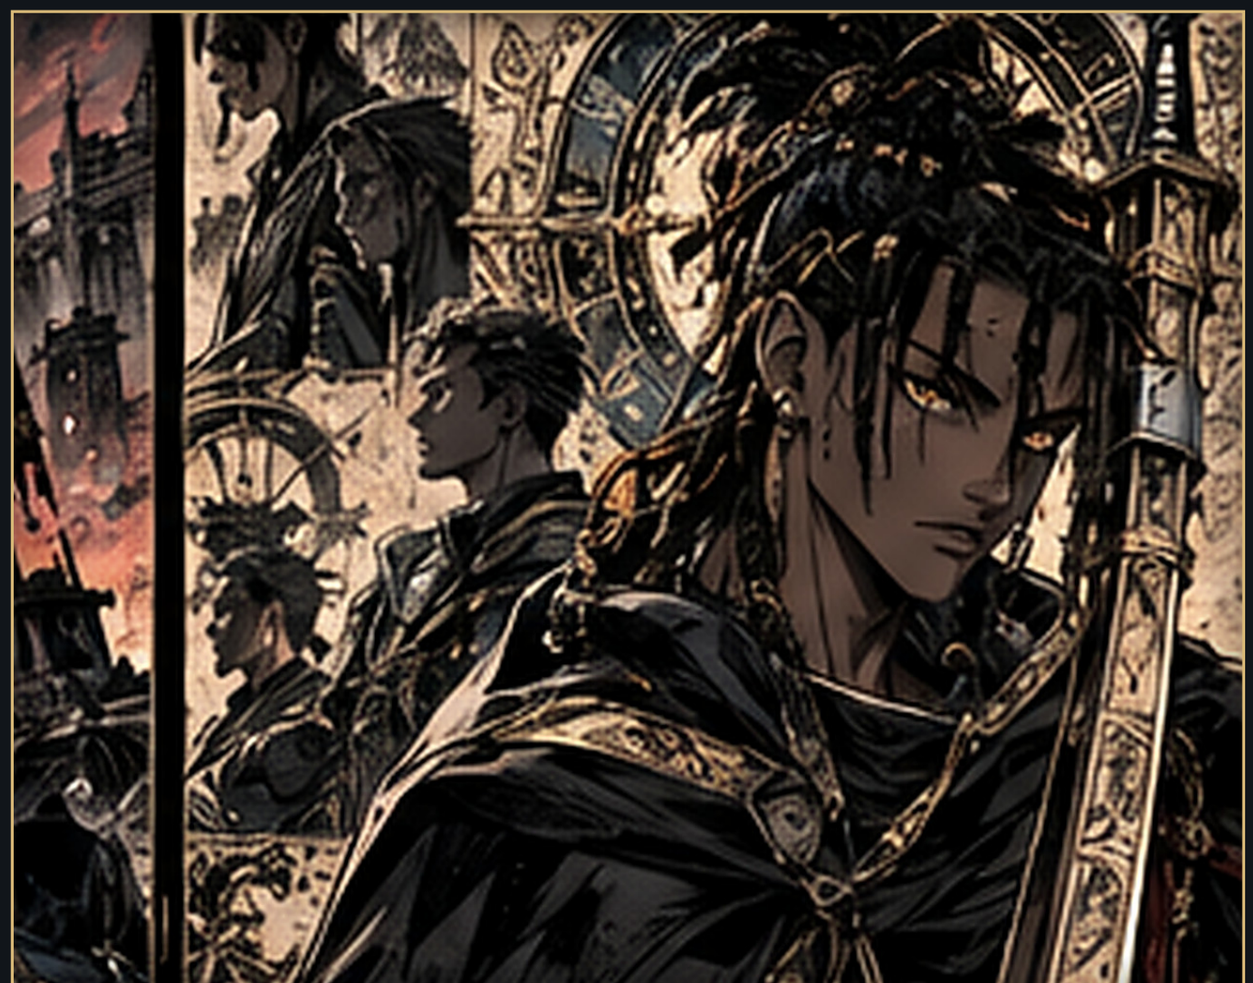
CANON NOTE: This particular assembly and its seating arrangement are proposed, not a recorded founding scene.

PLATE 09 / COMBINED PAGE 166

The Eclipse Has Two Clocks

PRESENT DAY / HOUSE ARAKUAL

CANON LINEAGE / SYMBOLIC VISUAL



WHAT HAPPENED

The Eclipse line runs Ara'Kai to Ahk Ra to Khari to Riven. Khari and Amara carry Sun-and-Moon-linked powers whose expressions follow their respective cycles.

INVOLVED

Khari, Amara and their son Riven of House Arakual; earlier ancestral generations remain relevant.

CAUSE

An inherited convergence of distinct lineages survives persecution and concealment.

CONSEQUENCE

Riven receives a consequential Birthright without thereby consenting to any ancient celestial contract.

CONNECTION

His awakening echoes Ahk Ra's legacy while leaving him morally free to choose another path.

CANON NOTE: Specific hourly power peaks, lunar phases and a physical archive chamber are not established.

PLATE 10 / COMBINED PAGE 167

The Toll of an Unopened Door

PRESENT DAY / VEIL CROSSINGS

CANON MECHANIC / PROPOSED CARAVAN

WHAT HAPPENED

A Veil crossing is not merely a glowing passage: keys, recognition and permission matter. Aethernox watches the boundary, aids some who are lost and deals with illegal crossings.

INVOLVED

Aethernox, the Hidden Hand, unidentified travelers and hypothetical gate custodians.

CAUSE

Unregulated crossing threatens lives and the balance between realms.

CONSEQUENCE

Some travelers are guided onward, others redirected or stopped; the door cannot be treated as unowned infrastructure.

CONNECTION

The permission motif spans Aethernox's earlier role, Gingey's rebirth and the later struggle over informed consent.

CANON NOTE: The specific caravan, gate and key shown are visual proposals. Aethernox remains visually ambiguous.

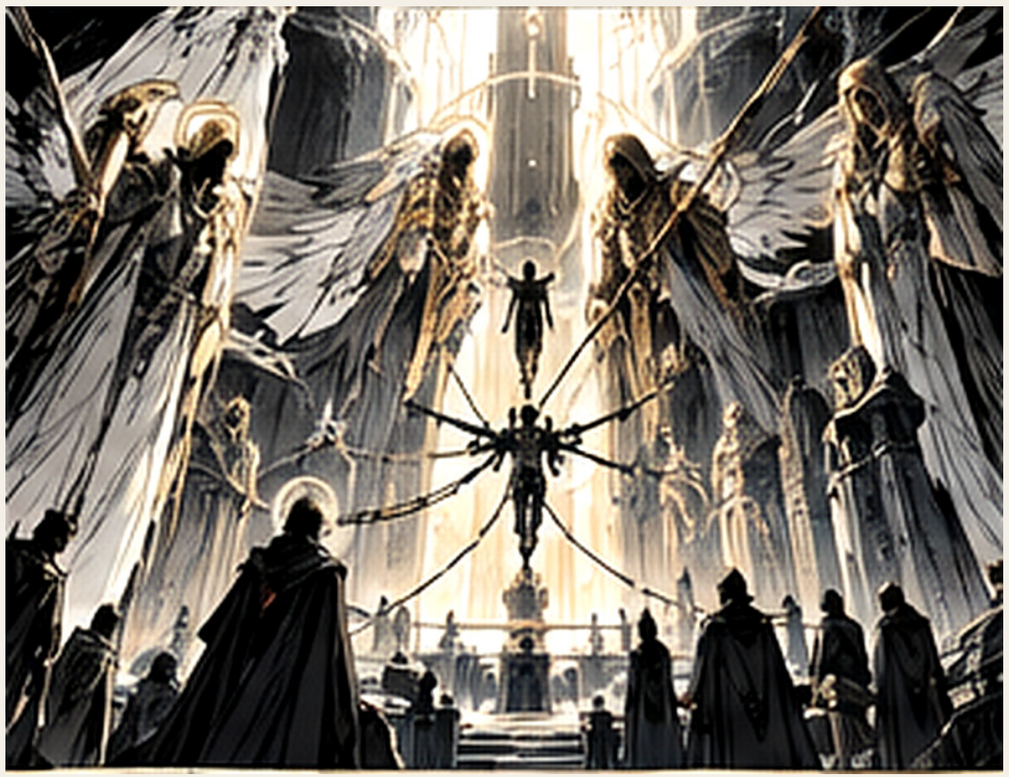
Canon guardrails: Kynari remain beastfolk; Saurai remain dragon-blood free folk. The exact number of Black Houses and any formal postwar council are unapproved. Aethernox remains pivotal but deliberately enigmatic; the whispering woman is never depicted. The termination of all ancient celestial contracts is a future author ruling, not a completed event in Books I–XI.

Change log: Added plates 01–10 (master pages 170–179); added this index and cover (master pages 168–169); retained all earlier 167 pages and their artwork. Source artwork is AI-generated concept work, not a final character-design lock.

01 / The Unasked Question

CELESTIAL ERA - FIRST COVERT CONTACT • CANON FOUNDATION / INTERPRETIVE SCENE



Visual plate 01. New manga/seinen ink study, cropped from a generated concept board.

WHAT HAPPENED The image imagines an early moment when Elohim observers recognized that mortal beings could transcend the limits they expected. The discovery is established; the particular hall, witnesses, and confrontation are visual interpretation.

INVOLVED Unnamed Elohim and early Sentinel observers; unnamed mortals. No new celestial identities are assigned.

CAUSE First contact with mortal realms and the discovery of mortal transcendence challenged celestial assumptions about authority.

CONSEQUENCE Observation becomes interference, and opposing celestial views of mortal freedom begin to harden. The first outbreak of the War in Heaven predates mortal legal codes and literature.

LATER CONNECTION Sets up the covert approaches in Book I, the public Blessing of Passage in Book II, and the long division between celestial ownership and mortal autonomy.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL BOUNDARY No formal “First Concord,” fixed date, named first witness, or approved meeting is asserted. The pictured arrangement is symbolic.

02 / Three Brothers Before the Divide

DEEP HISTORY - AHK RA BEFORE HIS FALL • CANON RELATIONSHIP / PROPOSED SCENE

Visual plate 02. New manga/seinen ink study, cropped from a generated concept board.

WHAT HAPPENED Ahk Ra stands beside the frost and blood Saurai who became his brothers through campaigns, shared danger, and kinship. Their closeness must remain genuine, so that his eventual greed and betrayal cannot be mistaken for an inevitable rivalry.

INVOLVED Ahk Ra; one frost Saurai and one blood Saurai. Their precise personal names, descendants, and this gathering place are not fixed here.

CAUSE Shared battles, opposition to celestial control, and a chosen bond forged under pressure.

CONSEQUENCE A powerful alliance later fractures as pestilence, ambition, and Ahk Ra's pursuit of power change him. He ultimately takes both brothers' lives and power; those acts remain his responsibility.

LATER CONNECTION The tragedy deepens the history behind Frost Fang, blood-aligned houses, and the inherited fear of the Eclipse line that reaches Riven.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL BOUNDARY This portrait is an interpretive gathering, not an approved event at a known location. No new lineage or child is canonized.

03 / The Bound Are Not Weapons

DEEP HISTORY - COERCIVE CELESTIAL WARS • CANON MECHANISMS / PROPOSED INCIDENT

Visual plate 03. New manga/seinen ink study, cropped from a generated concept board.

WHAT HAPPENED A ritual chamber depicts the machinery of possession, blood oaths, artificial Sentinels, and forced experimentation. It represents a pattern of abuses rather than a newly established single Null Legion operation.

INVOLVED Null Legion agents and corrupted contract practitioners; unnamed captive mortals and artificial Sentinel vessels.

CAUSE Attempts to control inherited power, replicate transcendence, and turn living people into enforceable contracts.

CONSEQUENCE Bodies, bloodlines, and Anima are destabilized. The resulting memory fractures, madness, and pestilence intensify conflicts long after the first ritualists are gone.

LATER CONNECTION Explains why later anti-contract struggles must distinguish voluntary blessing, recognized Sentinel status, and inherited Birthright instead of treating every power as ownership.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL BOUNDARY No exact date, named victim, or ritual recipe is canon. This plate condemns coercion; it does not establish new Null Legion technology.

04 / The High Road Without a Banner

DEEP HISTORY - DISPLACEMENT AFTER CELESTIAL CONFLICT • PROPOSAL - NOT MANUSCRIPT CANON

Visual plate 04. New manga/seinen ink study, cropped from a generated concept board.

WHAT HAPPENED A Kynari beastfolk caravan leads its companions along an exposed mountain road toward an uncertain refuge. The image proposes a human-scale aftermath to the realm-shaping wars, centered on survival rather than battle.

INVOLVED Unnamed Kynari families, beast handlers, and possible independent guides. No named Nomad official is placed in this ancient scene.

CAUSE A plausible combination of territorial seizures, dangerous crossings, and pressure on communities during celestial and mortal wars.

CONSEQUENCE If approved, scattered families could carry oral maps, beast-care practices, and memories of old boundaries into later centuries.

LATER CONNECTION Could provide an ancestral echo of Kynari participation in the Nomad Alliance, without making that modern institution ancient.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL BOUNDARY The specific exodus, road, sanctuary, companions, and its chronology are all proposals. Kynari are beastfolk, not Saurai.

05 / After the Seventh Fire

DEEP HISTORY - AHK RA'S DEVASTATION • CANON CATASTROPHE / INTERPRETIVE AFTERMATH

Visual plate 05. New manga/seinen ink study, cropped from a generated concept board.

WHAT HAPPENED A survivor looks into the ruins left by Ahk Ra's destruction of seven cities. The scene refuses to present the Walking Star only as a persecuted victim: the civilian losses remain part of the historical record.

INVOLVED Ahk Ra's forces and opposing powers in the wider catastrophe; displaced survivors are represented without invented names.

CAUSE The Sun-and-Ash convergence, escalating power struggles, pestilence, and Ahk Ra's own destructive choices.

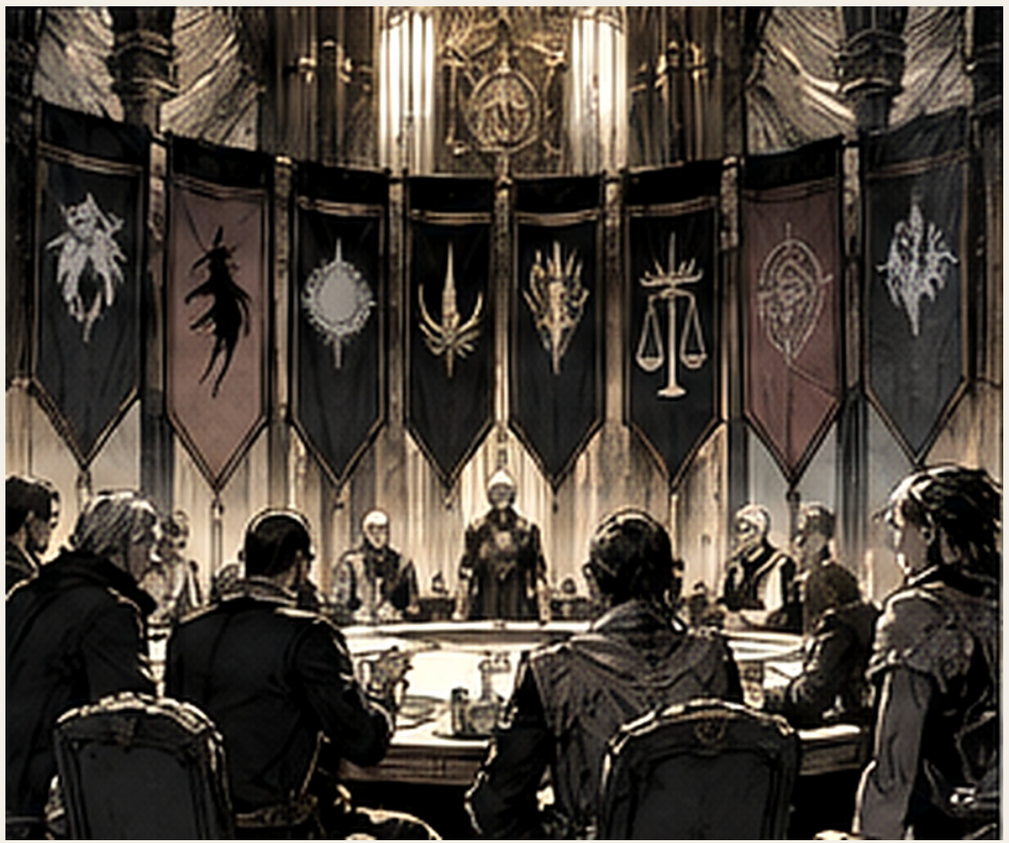
CONSEQUENCE Seven cities are razed. Survivors disperse, the fear of Eclipse power deepens, and the Gilded Jackals' prohibition takes root: "Never allow Sun + Ash."

LATER CONNECTION Explains the ideological inheritance faced by House Arakual and Riven, and the resentments that outlive Ahk Ra in the house conflicts.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL BOUNDARY This is a composite view, not a claim about the exact seventh city, order of destruction, or one eyewitness's identity.

06 / Seats That Refuse a Crown

POST-AHK RA - EARLY HOUSE RIVALRIES • PROPOSAL - NOT MANUSCRIPT CANON



Visual plate 06. New manga/seinen ink study, cropped from a generated concept board.

WHAT HAPPENED Representatives of surviving houses meet beneath incompatible standards after Ahk Ra's fall. The proposed council cannot agree whether the remaining relics are trophies, evidence, or dangers to be sealed.

INVOLVED Unspecified Black House representatives, rival dynastic envoys, and possible intermediaries. The number of houses and seats is deliberately unconfirmed.

CAUSE A vacuum of authority, contested inheritance, and the need to control artifacts and narratives after the Walking Star's defeat.

CONSEQUENCE If approved, the failed gathering could become an origin point for proxy conflicts, secret archives, and uneasy nonaggression arrangements.

LATER CONNECTION Offers a political bridge between the post-Ahk Ra chronicle and the rival families and radical networks active in later books.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL BOUNDARY No "Council of Nine," vote, roster, official treaty, or fixed postwar date is approved by this illustration.

07 / The Jackal Prohibition

DEEP HISTORY TO POST-AHK RA TRANSITION • CANON CREED / PROPOSED OATH SCENE

Visual plate 07. New manga/seinen ink study, cropped from a generated concept board.

WHAT HAPPENED Cloaked founders raise a seal over an oath to prevent another Sun-and-Ash convergence. Their founding prohibition is established, while this exact rite and chamber are visual proposals.

INVOLVED Early Gilded Jackals and unspecified allies or witnesses; individual founders are not named.

CAUSE The devastation associated with Ahk Ra and the belief that unchecked convergence could destroy more realms.

CONSEQUENCE A defensive creed becomes an enduring political force capable of surveillance, secrecy, and persecution of those associated with the Eclipse line.

LATER CONNECTION The Jackals' long shadow complicates Riven's inheritance and connects ancient trauma to present-day antagonistic networks.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL BOUNDARY The exact founding date relative to Ahk Ra's death is unresolved. The image does not validate all Jackal methods.

08 / The Door That Asks

ACROSS ERAS - THE VEIL AND ITS WARDENS • CANON PERMISSION MOTIF / PROPOSED RELIC

Visual plate 08. New manga/seinen ink study, cropped from a generated concept board.

WHAT HAPPENED A traveler faces a circular gate that will not open merely because someone can reach it. The ring and its key mechanism are proposed visual designs for the Veil's deeper distinction between access and permission.

INVOLVED An unnamed traveler; Aethernox remains an unseen or indirect influence as the Veil's warden. No whispering woman is depicted.

CAUSE Illegal crossings, broken oaths, and the danger of treating boundaries between realms as unowned roads.

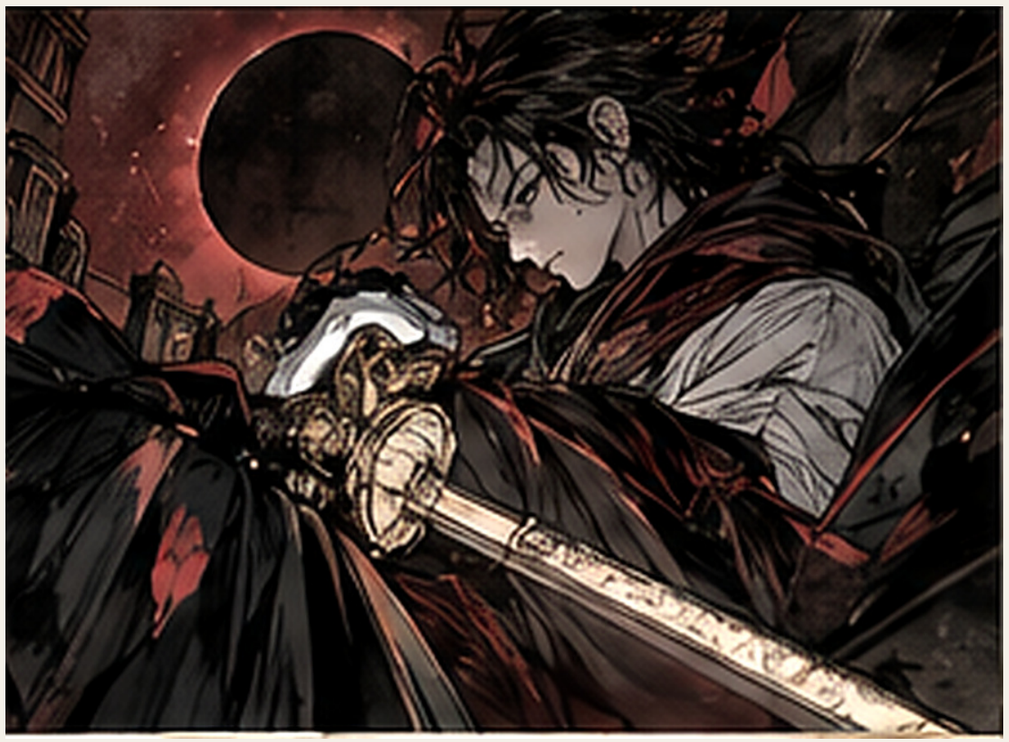
CONSEQUENCE The gate may admit, refuse, redirect, or demand a choice; those possibilities are concept exploration, not approved universal rules for every portal.

LATER CONNECTION Echoes the early door/permission motif, Aethernox's Hidden Hand role, Gingey's rebirth, and later investigations of Veil artifacts.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL BOUNDARY A physical key, memory-responsive gate, and exact access conditions remain unapproved proposals. Consent lapses in existing canon are not erased.

09 / Two Clocks in One Blood

PRESENT DAY - RIVEN'S AWAKENING • CANON INHERITANCE / PROPOSED VISUAL BEAT



Visual plate 09. New manga/seinen ink study, cropped from a generated concept board.

WHAT HAPPENED Riven studies the conflict between the solar and lunar inheritances carried through Khari and Amara. Their abilities follow the cycles of sun and moon; the image treats the moment as an internal realization, not a newly timed transformation.

INVOLVED Riven of House Arakual; Khari and Amara through inherited power and memory rather than literal appearances.

CAUSE The meeting of his parents' lineages and the awakening of Eclipse power under the pressure of old contracts and modern pursuers.

CONSEQUENCE Riven must learn that an inherited power can change with cycles without becoming a celestial debt or a mandate to repeat Ahk Ra's choices.

LATER CONNECTION Links the Ara'Kai → Ahk Ra → Khari → Riven blood trail to the eventual question of whether power can exist without ownership.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL BOUNDARY The exact solar/lunar phase mechanics, pictured blade, and any single awakening scene are not approved. Preserve Riven's canonical odachi-to-khopesh weapon progression.

10 / Severance Without Erasure

FUTURE ENDPOINT - BEYOND BOOKS I–XI • APPROVED ENDGOAL / PROPOSED SCENE

Visual plate 10. New manga/seinen ink study, cropped from a generated concept board.

WHAT HAPPENED An ancient binding breaks above a gathering of peoples, while the realms remain standing. This depicts the author-approved destination: terminate all ancient celestial contracts without destroying what generations have become.

INVOLVED Future mortal peoples, surviving altered communities, and celestial parties able to enter genuinely equal agreements; specific attendees are unassigned.

CAUSE Centuries of coercion, pestilence, ownership claims, and the eventual recognition that consent cannot be inherited as a debt.

CONSEQUENCE New agreements must be informed, equal, and voluntary. Anima, altered peoples, inherited powers, and vital infrastructure survive through safe transitions.

LATER CONNECTION Resolves the long celestial contract question after the current Books I–XI trajectory, rather than prematurely concluding the saga.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL BOUNDARY The destination is approved; this ceremony, gate, crowd, and timing are not a fixed manuscript event.

01 / The First Doubt

CELESTIAL ERA | BEFORE MORTAL CULTURES

CANON FOUNDATION / VISUAL INTERPRETATION

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 01

Source: new 10-panel concept sheet, cropped to image only.

Image is interpretive; typography and lore are independently edited.

WHAT HAPPENED

The Elohim encounter mortal transcendence and disagree over what that potential means. The first outbreak of the War in Heaven follows long before mature mortal cultures arise.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Early Elohim, their Sentinel envoys, and the mortal lives whose potential unsettles celestial authority.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Some celestial powers view mortal ascension as something to guide or own; others resist the presumption of ownership.

CONSEQUENCES

A divided heaven begins to influence mortal history through observation, intervention, and later binding systems.

LATER CONNECTION

Leads toward the public Blessing of Passage, the long celestial schism, and the eventual struggle to end compulsory contracts.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

The pictured assembly is a symbolic staging, not a documented meeting or an identification of the pro-mortal Elohim.

02 / The Weight of a Blessing

CELESTIAL / DEEP HISTORY | ORDER UNCERTAIN

CANON MECHANICS / STAGED SCENE PROPOSAL

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 02

Source: new 10-panel concept sheet, cropped to image only.

Image is interpretive; typography and lore are independently edited.

WHAT HAPPENED

An imagined public reckoning shows the cost of celestial bindings: possession, blood oaths, rituals, and artificial Sentinels can constrain lives even when presented as protection.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Bound mortals, contract enforcers, early Sentinel figures, and observers who question the system.

WHY IT HAPPENED

The desire to replicate transcendence and preserve control encourages coerced experiments and obligations.

CONSEQUENCES

Captivity, unstable vessels, and resentment create conditions in which pestilence and radical resistance can spread.

LATER CONNECTION

Anticipates the Null Legion, the forced blood-merging disasters, and the later demand for informed, voluntary agreements.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

No specific tribunal or binding ceremony is established here; the illustration dramatizes approved mechanics only.

03 / The Sky That Cannot Be Owned

DEEP HISTORY | SAURAI RESISTANCE

CANON PRINCIPLE / BATTLE PROPOSAL

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 03

Source: new 10-panel concept sheet, cropped to image only.

Image is interpretive; typography and lore are independently edited.

WHAT HAPPENED

A dragon-blood Saurai warrior stands beneath a dragon that refuses an outsider's command. The Saurai embody the refusal to become celestial property.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Saurai free folk, their dragon kin, and forces seeking to impose control.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Dragons cannot be tamed by outsiders; only their own blood can form the relevant bonds. Celestial entitlement threatens that freedom.

CONSEQUENCES

Saurai defiance sharpens the moral divide between ownership-seeking Elohim and defenders of mortal autonomy.

LATER CONNECTION

Becomes pivotal to the War of Ascension and the conflict that culminates in Ahk Ra's fall.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

The dragon confrontation shown is an illustrative proposal, not a newly approved named battle.

04 / Names Beneath the Seventh Fire

DEEP HISTORY | AHK RA'S REIGN

CANON EVENT / SURVIVOR VIEWPOINT PROPOSAL

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 04

Source: new 10-panel concept sheet, cropped to image only.

Image is interpretive; typography and lore are independently edited.

WHAT HAPPENED

After Ahk Ra destroys seven cities, survivors face ruins, displaced families, and the burden of remembering those who did not escape.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Ahk Ra, affected city populations, surviving houses, and the future founders of the Gilded Jackals.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Persecution of the Eclipse bloodline, celestial interference, and Ahk Ra's own escalating choices converge in catastrophe.

CONSEQUENCES

His suffering never excuses the atrocities; the destruction makes the world fear another Sun-and-Ash convergence.

LATER CONNECTION

The Jackals adopt the prohibition "Never allow Sun + Ash," influencing the treatment of later descendants, including Riven.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

The exact survivor, viewpoint, and ruins shown are not individually fixed in manuscript canon.

05 / The Vacant Seat of the Houses

POST-AHK RA | HOUSE CONFLICTS

ESTABLISHED CONFLICT / COURT SCENE PROPOSAL

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 05

Source: new 10-panel concept sheet, cropped to image only.

Image is interpretive; typography and lore are independently edited.

WHAT HAPPENED

Rival houses negotiate amid the power vacuum left by Ahk Ra. Public vows conceal conflicting claims to relics, territory, and inherited authority.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Surviving royal houses, antagonistic families, independent envoys, and clandestine intermediaries.

WHY IT HAPPENED

The loss of a feared power destabilizes alliances and makes ancient bloodlines and artifacts politically valuable.

CONSEQUENCES

Defensive coalitions, proxy conflicts, and secret organizations develop across generations.

LATER CONNECTION

Provides the political ancestry of present-day Black House disputes and the underground groups active in Books X-XI.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

This precise council and seating arrangement are proposed; no new house roster or treaty is being canonized.

06 / A Lantern for the Displaced

DEEP HISTORY TO POST-AHK RA | UNFIXED DATE

PROPOSAL / KYNARI & NOMAD CULTURE

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 06

Source: new 10-panel concept sheet, cropped to image only.

Image is interpretive; typography and lore are independently edited.

WHAT HAPPENED

In a proposed night market, Kynari beastfolk share shelter, records, and practical knowledge with displaced travelers.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Kynari clans, Nomad guides, traveling healers, and people uprooted by conflict.

WHY IT HAPPENED

War, border changes, and restrictions on movement make informal refuge networks essential.

CONSEQUENCES

A neutral exchange could preserve customs and beast-handling practices while connecting communities that distrust great houses.

LATER CONNECTION

Offers a plausible cultural precursor to the Nomad Alliance's later cross-species cooperation.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

The market, location, date, and participants are all proposed. Kynari remain beastfolk, not a newly created species.

07 / A Door That Asks Permission

VEIL | MOTIF ACROSS MULTIPLE ERAS

CANON MECHANICS / ARCHITECTURE PROPOSAL

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 07

Source: new 10-panel concept sheet, cropped to image only.

Image is interpretive; typography and lore are independently edited.

WHAT HAPPENED

Travelers approach a key-bound Veil threshold. Its keeper distinguishes legitimate passage from crossings made without permission.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Veil travelers, potential Sentinels, and Aethernox - the concealed warden of the Hidden Hand.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Unregulated crossing, illicit bargains, and lost travelers require a guardian who can intervene without revealing every motive.

CONSEQUENCES

Some are guided home; others are stopped, redirected, or left facing the cost of a forbidden passage.

LATER CONNECTION

Echoes the early door-and-consent motif, Gingey's rebirth, and later disputes over ownership and free passage.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

The pictured gate is concept architecture. No new key, ritual, or exception to consent is established.

08 / Two Clocks in One Blood

PRESENT DAY | HOUSE ARAKUAL

CANON LINEAGE / SYMBOLIC PORTRAIT

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 08

Source: new 10-panel concept sheet, cropped to image only.

Image is interpretive; typography and lore are independently edited.

WHAT HAPPENED

Riven carries the convergence of Khari's solar lineage and Amara's lunar lineage. Their inherited abilities respond to their respective cycles.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Riven Arakual; Khari and Amara as ancestral sources of the two complementary power traditions.

WHY IT HAPPENED

The Ara'Kai - Ahk Ra - Khari - Riven bloodline preserves an Eclipse inheritance across generations.

CONSEQUENCES

Riven becomes a focus of attention from houses and celestial forces with incompatible plans for his power.

LATER CONNECTION

Connects the ancient Walking Star history to Riven's awakening, his odachi, and the wider struggle over inherited freedom.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

The split-light portrait is symbolic. It does not introduce a new eye color, transformation, or power tier.

09 / The Heir Who Counted Survivors

PRESENT DAY | FROST FANG

CANON EVENT / VISUAL STUDY

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 09

Source: new 10-panel concept sheet, cropped to image only.

Image is interpretive; typography and lore are independently edited.

WHAT HAPPENED

In his first public act as Frost Fang heir, Yahia Yukimura honors southern-border survivors rather than celebrating a military victory.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Yahia, the Frost Fang clan, surviving border families, and retainers carrying unresolved loyalties.

WHY IT HAPPENED

A man-made stampede and raids devastated the southern border, exposing failures that a triumphal ceremony would conceal.

CONSEQUENCES

Yahia's authority is rooted in remembrance, responsibility, and the restoration of neglected traditions.

LATER CONNECTION

Prepares his Frost Reaper arc, the return of older clan disciplines, and the eventual exposure of betrayal.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

Eye canon: Yahia's right eye is purple and left blue (his perspective); wrath changes only the right to red. This crop is not a definitive eye-color reference.

10 / Severance Without Erasure

FUTURE ENDGAME | AFTER BOOKS I-XI

APPROVED DESTINATION / SCENE PROPOSAL

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 10

Source: new 10-panel concept sheet, cropped to image only.

Image is interpretive; typography and lore are independently edited.

WHAT HAPPENED

The ancient celestial contracts are brought to an end, while the peoples and powers shaped by those agreements are protected through safe transitions.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Mortal peoples, altered lineages, surviving Elohim and Sentinels, and those who work to replace coercion with consent.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Centuries of possession, manipulation, forced obligations, and conflict make the old system incompatible with freedom.

CONSEQUENCES

Anima, inherited abilities, altered peoples, and vital infrastructure endure. Any future agreements must be equal, informed, and voluntary.

LATER CONNECTION

Closes the long conflict originating in the War in Heaven; it is a future endpoint, not an event already reached in Books I-XI.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

The pictured procession and location are proposals; the endgame principle itself is an established author ruling.

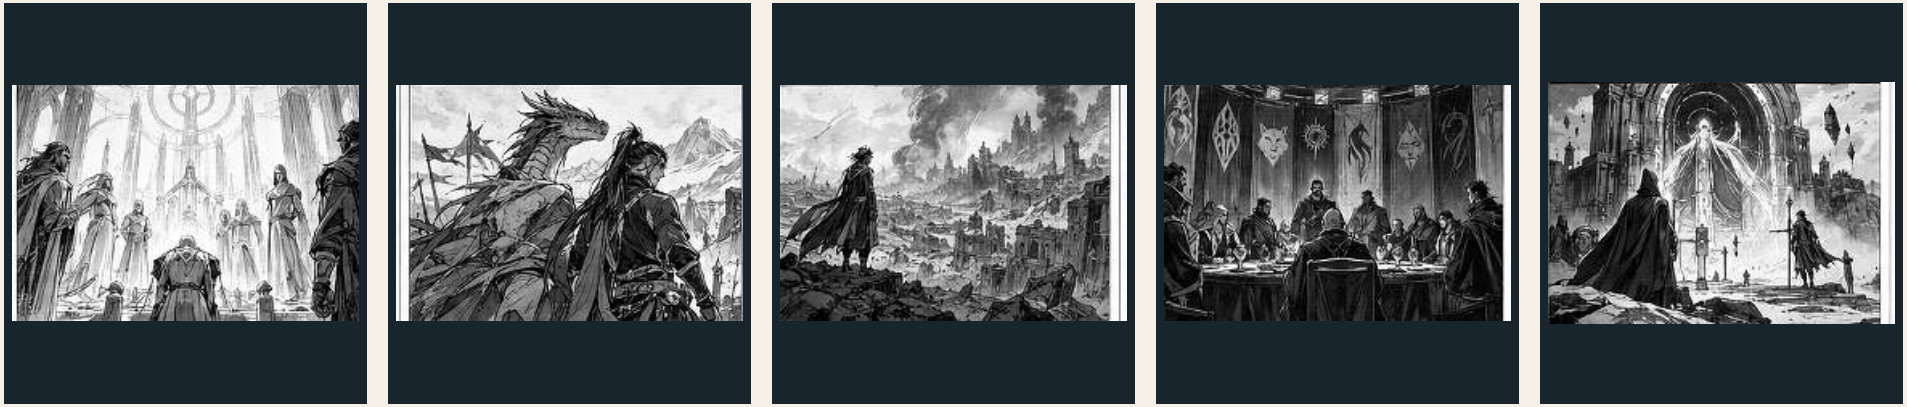
TEN NEW ILLUSTRATED HISTORICAL PLATES



ARCHIVE CONTINUITY

Master v9 pages 1-191 are carried forward without replacement. Pages 192-193 provide this update's changelog and chronological index; pages 194-203 contain ten new illustrated lore plates.

CHANGELOG / v10

- Added 10 individually indexed manga/seinen ink studies and independent editorial explanations.
- Distinguished established lore, visual interpretations and speculative proposals on every plate.
- Preserved the War in Heaven, Saurai, Kynari, Ahk Ra, Veil, Arakual and Frost Fang continuity boundaries.
- Retained original page order; no manuscript edits, new dates, character redesign approvals or canon locks.

LOCKED ENDPOINT / PROPOSED CEREMONY

Reading key: "Canon foundation" identifies established world rules or events, not approval of the depicted composition. "Proposal" marks an unapproved incident or staging. "Symbolic" means the image is not a locked character likeness. The future endpoint is established, but the illustrated ceremony is not.

01 / The Hearing Without a Seal

CELESTIAL ERA | EARLY CONTACT

CANON FOUNDATION / PROPOSED ASSEMBLY

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 01

Artwork: unique crop from a new 10-scene ink concept board.

Image and written lore are independently edited; the image is not a canon lock.

WHAT HAPPENED

The Elohim discover that mortals can transcend. This drawing imagines a gathering where celestial authorities debate that discovery; no formal First Concord or signed treaty is established canon.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Early Elohim, Sentinel envoys and unnamed mortal witnesses (the particular gathering is proposed).

WHY IT HAPPENED

Mortal potential unsettles celestial assumptions about authority, guidance and ownership.

CONSEQUENCES

The divide over mortal freedom contributes to the first outbreak of the War in Heaven, long before later mortal cultures.

LATER CONNECTION

Covert first contact precedes the public Blessing of Passage. The ownership-versus-freedom dispute echoes through the series.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

The meeting, attendees and architecture are illustrative; no date, legal code or new celestial title is approved.

02 / The Sky Without Reins

DEEP HISTORY | SAURAI RESISTANCE

CANON PRINCIPLE / PROPOSED ENCOUNTER

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 02

Artwork: unique crop from a new 10-scene ink concept board.

Image and written lore are independently edited; the image is not a canon lock.

WHAT HAPPENED

Dragon-blood Saurai refuse an outsider's claim to command their dragons. The illustrated standoff is an imagined instance of their wider resistance.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Saurai free folk, their dragon kin and unnamed would-be celestial controllers.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Dragons answer to their own blood, not to external ownership. The Saurai embody that freedom.

CONSEQUENCES

Their resistance sharpens the divide between ownership-seeking Elohim and celestial powers sympathetic to mortal autonomy.

LATER CONNECTION

This struggle contextualizes Ahk Ra's bond with frost and blood Saurai, and the tragedy of his later betrayal.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

No specific battle, dragon name or geographic pass is being added to canon.

03 / A Door Not Yet Granted

DEEP HISTORY TO PRESENT | VEIL

CANON MECHANIC / PROPOSED ARCHITECTURE

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 03

Artwork: unique crop from a new 10-scene ink concept board.

Image and written lore are independently edited; the image is not a canon lock.

WHAT HAPPENED

A monumental threshold represents the rule that passage through the Veil cannot be reduced to force or possession.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Travelers, gate attendants and Aethernox as the Veil's warden; the pictured attendants are not identified canon characters.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Unregulated crossings, ritual bindings and consent violations threaten those moving between realms.

CONSEQUENCES

Some crossings are delayed or denied. Permission becomes a moral and practical question, not merely a key.

LATER CONNECTION

The door/permission motif connects to Gingey's rebirth, Aethernox's Hidden Hand role and later disputes over celestial contracts.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

The structure is conceptual; Aethernox is not declared its architect or owner.

04 / The High Pass Refuge

DEEP HISTORY | DISPLACED KYNARI

PROPOSAL - NOT CANON

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 04

Artwork: unique crop from a new 10-scene ink concept board.

Image and written lore are independently edited; the image is not a canon lock.

WHAT HAPPENED

A mixed caravan of beastfolk Kynari and sympathetic travelers seeks passage through a mountain corridor. This particular migration is a proposed scene.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unspecified Kynari clans, nomadic scouts and possible Saurai escorts.

WHY IT HAPPENED

The broader setting includes war, displacement and the threat of exploitative celestial contracts.

CONSEQUENCES

If approved, the journey could establish a mobile refuge and a tradition of shared field research.

LATER CONNECTION

It could explain some Kynari links to later Nomad Alliance communities without making every clan share one origin.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

No route, sanctuary, casualty count or historical date has been canonized.

05 / After the Seventh Fire

DEEP HISTORY | AHK RA'S REIGN

CANON EVENT / PROPOSED VANTAGE

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 05

Artwork: unique crop from a new 10-scene ink concept board.

Image and written lore are independently edited; the image is not a canon lock.

WHAT HAPPENED

A lone survivor surveys ruins after Ahk Ra's devastation of seven cities. The destruction is established; this witness and viewpoint are illustrative.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Ahk Ra, devastated city populations, surviving communities and later chroniclers.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Ahk Ra's expanding power and moral collapse turn persecution into atrocities for which he remains accountable.

CONSEQUENCES

Seven cities are lost; survivors inherit grief, dislocation and fear of Sun-and-Ash convergence.

LATER CONNECTION

The Gilded Jackals adopt their prohibition: "Never allow Sun + Ash." The aftermath reshapes post-Ahk Ra houses and Riven's inherited stigma.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

The image does not excuse Ahk Ra's actions or assert the identity of an unnamed survivor.

06 / The Table of Unclaimed Banners

POST-AHK RA | HOUSE CONFLICTS

PROPOSAL - NOT CANON

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 06

Artwork: unique crop from a new 10-scene ink concept board.

Image and written lore are independently edited; the image is not a canon lock.

WHAT HAPPENED

Rival house representatives face one another across a table of disputed artifacts and territory after Ahk Ra's death.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed delegates of surviving houses, possible Black House affiliates and neutral intermediaries.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Ahk Ra's fall leaves contested bloodline claims, relics and political authority.

CONSEQUENCES

A meeting of this kind might produce fragile truces, secret bargains or new proxy conflicts.

LATER CONNECTION

It offers a possible bridge from the post-Ahk Ra chronicle to the radical groups and underground organizations of the present.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

No conclave, exact house count, attendees, signed treaty or outcome is canonized here.

07 / Two Clocks, One House

PRESENT DAY | HOUSE ARAKUAL

CANON INHERITANCE / SYMBOLIC PORTRAIT

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 07

Artwork: unique crop from a new 10-scene ink concept board.

Image and written lore are independently edited; the image is not a canon lock.

WHAT HAPPENED

A paired portrait symbolizes Khari's solar and Amara's lunar heritage, carried forward in Riven of House Arakual.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Khari, Amara and their son Riven; the drawn figures are symbolic rather than approved character likenesses.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Their lineage and abilities follow cycles of the sun and moon, not a constant, uniform output.

CONSEQUENCES

Riven inherits a convergence whose expression can change with those cycles, attracting attention from houses and celestial interests.

LATER CONNECTION

This informs Eclipse Stardust, the ancestral Ara'Kai-to-Ahk Ra-to-Khari-to-Riven trail and future training stakes.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

No precise lunar-phase multiplier, solar timetable or new power has been invented.

08 / The Heir Counts the Living

PRESENT DAY | FROST FANG

CANON EVENT / SYMBOLIC VIEWPOINT

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 08

Artwork: unique crop from a new 10-scene ink concept board.

Image and written lore are independently edited; the image is not a canon lock.

WHAT HAPPENED

Yahia Yukimura's first public act as Frost Fang heir honors survivors of the southern-border disaster rather than celebrating conquest.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Yahia, Frost Fang retainers and survivors of the man-made stampede and raids.

WHY IT HAPPENED

The tragedy exposes the cost of neglect, hidden agendas and the burden of inherited command.

CONSEQUENCES

Yahia defines leadership through protection and remembrance, even as betrayal remains within his circle.

LATER CONNECTION

His restraint is tested by the Ice Drake's wrath and by his return to the clan's older traditions.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

This is not an approved facial model. Yahia's natural eyes remain right purple and left blue, from his perspective.

09 / The Sentinel at the Threshold

PRESENT DAY | VEIL CROSSING

PROPOSAL - NOT CANON

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 09

Artwork: unique crop from a new 10-scene ink concept board.

Image and written lore are independently edited; the image is not a canon lock.

WHAT HAPPENED

A Sentinel-like guardian confronts travelers at a luminous crossing. The encounter is a proposed case study in consent and access.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unidentified travelers and a proposed gate envoy; Aethernox remains an unseen Veil authority in this staging.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Crossing rights can be abused when contracts, ritual claims or coercion are mistaken for permission.

CONSEQUENCES

The travelers must establish valid passage rather than treating celestial rank as automatic ownership.

LATER CONNECTION

The scene could foreshadow the four hidden Elohim and eight Sentinels working under aliases after Ahk Ra's defeat.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

The depicted guardian is not assigned to any of the twelve, and no new gate law is established.

10 / The First Free Agreement

FUTURE | BEYOND BOOKS I-XI

LOCKED ENDPOINT / PROPOSED CEREMONY

VISUAL CHRONICLE / PLATE 10

Artwork: unique crop from a new 10-scene ink concept board.

Image and written lore are independently edited; the image is not a canon lock.

WHAT HAPPENED

An imagined gathering celebrates the termination of all ancient celestial contracts and the possibility of new agreements freely chosen.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Future mortal peoples, altered communities and any cooperating Elohim or Sentinels; no precise attendee roster is fixed.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Centuries of ownership, manipulation and inherited coercion demand a different order.

CONSEQUENCES

Anima, inherited powers, altered peoples and essential infrastructure are preserved through safe transitions.

LATER CONNECTION

The endpoint answers the War in Heaven's founding question: power does not confer the right to own another life.

CONTINUITY BOUNDARY

The endgame principle is approved, but this ceremony, location and dialogue are proposals outside Books I-XI.

CONTINUITY LEDGER

CONFIRMED BACKGROUND

First contact, celestial schism, Saurai freedom, post-Ahk Ra rivalries, Aethernox as Veil warden, Khari and Amara's solar/lunar cycles, Yahia's survivor memorial.

PROPOSAL-ONLY SCENES

The first compact, Ashen Concord, Stormwood patrol, broken standard, pictured house council, unclaimed gate, and Sentinel dilemma are not approved manuscript events.

FUTURE ENDPOINT

Ancient celestial contracts ultimately end, but this belongs beyond Books I-XI. Inherited powers, Anima, altered peoples, and infrastructure survive safe transitions.

VISUAL LIMITATIONS

Ten distinct crops originate from a newly generated concept sheet. Character details, heraldry, locations, and depicted interactions are illustrative, not binding canon.

CHRONOLOGY

No ancient dates, BS/AS conversions, names of hidden Elohim, or new house genealogies have been invented.

THE FIRST COMPACT

CELESTIAL ERA | PROPOSED TABLEAU

Before the public Blessing

PLATE 01 / CELESTIAL ERA

THE MOMENT

A possible early encounter is visualized as a mortal witness meeting an Elohim envoy. The scene is not an approved first treaty, and no oath, signatory, or date is established.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unidentified Elohim envoy, mortal witnesses, early Sentinel observers (all identities illustrative).

WHY IT HAPPENED

The Elohim discovered that mortals could transcend and began debating whether contact should mean partnership, stewardship, or control.

CONSEQUENCES

If such an exchange occurred, its ambiguous terms could later be invoked as permission for obligations that mortals never knowingly accepted. The visual deliberately contrasts consent with authority.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Prefigures the covert contact of Book I, the public Blessing of Passage in Book II, the War in Heaven, and the endgame demand for equal, informed agreements.

CANON GUARDRAIL

No canon compact, named Elohim, formal treaty, or precise chronology is asserted.

THE ASHEN CONCORD

POST-AHK RA | PROPOSAL

A ceasefire that might have been

PLATE 02 / POST-AHK RA

THE MOMENT

Representatives of rival surviving houses gather around a damaged table to consider temporary safe passage for civilians after Ahk Ra's fall. This specific summit has not been established.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unidentified Black House delegates, local mediators, refugee representatives; any presence of the Gilded Jackals is unconfirmed.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Ahk Ra's atrocities and defeat left ruined cities, contested relics, weakened governments, and people trapped between armed factions.

CONSEQUENCES

A limited humanitarian accord could have saved refugees while allowing the houses to postpone, rather than resolve, their struggles over power and inheritance.

LATER CONNECTIONS

A possible bridge between the seven-city aftermath, the post-Ahk Ra house chronicle, later proxy wars, and modern clandestine organizations.

CANON GUARDRAIL

No summit, treaty, attendees, or borders are canonized.

KYNARI OF THE STORMWOOD

DEEP HISTORY | PROPOSAL

Beastfolk keep the old paths

PLATE 03 / DEEP HISTORY

THE MOMENT

A Kynari patrol protects a woodland crossing while displaced families retreat behind them. The place-name Stormwood and the specific migration are visual proposals.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Kynari beastfolk scouts, displaced families, unnamed mortal settlers and armed pursuers.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Expansionist raids, contested land, and the wider instability produced by celestial and mortal conflicts threatened independent communities.

CONSEQUENCES

Their practical knowledge of beasts, terrain, and safe passage could become a foundation for alliances rather than a claim that all Kynari share one origin.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Offers one possible ancestral thread toward later Nomad Alliance communities and the recurring question of who is permitted to belong.

CANON GUARDRAIL

Kynari are beastfolk; no new ancestral homeland, clan, or mass exodus is approved.

THE BROKEN STANDARD

DEEP HISTORY | PROPOSED BATTLE

Dragon-blood freedom

PLATE 04 / DEEP HISTORY

THE MOMENT

A torn occupation banner hangs over a battlefield where Saurai warriors refuse an outsider's claim to command their dragon kin. This particular stand is unconfirmed.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Dragon-blood Saurai defenders, dragon kin, invading mortal forces, possible celestial witnesses.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Celestial ownership claims and attempts to make free dragon-blood peoples answer to external authority.

CONSEQUENCES

The stand becomes a visual emblem of a larger canon principle: Saurai freedom and the inability of outsiders to tame dragons by decree.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Foreshadows the central Saurai freedom conflict in the War Trilogy, and the ideological fracture between possessive and pro-mortal Elohim.

CANON GUARDRAIL

No specific battle, banner, casualty count, or commander is established; dragon kin are not treated as property.

HOUSES IN THE AFTERMATH

POST-AHK RA | CANON BACKDROP / PROPOSED SCENE

A throne no one can inherit whole

PLATE 05 / POST-AHK RA

THE MOMENT

A council image represents the established struggle among surviving houses after Ahk Ra's death. The pictured meeting and its seating arrangement are not documented events.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Rival Black Houses and their agents; the wider political struggle includes the Gilded Jackals, Pharaoh legacies, Frost Fang, and Blood Sovereigns.

WHY IT HAPPENED

The death of the Walking Star did not erase his destruction, nor did it settle the contest over relics, bloodlines, territory, and historical memory.

CONSEQUENCES

Rival claims splintered into defensive alliances, covert influence, inherited vendettas, and later radical movements.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Explains how ancestral conflicts remain active around House Arakual and the modern cast without requiring a single universal council.

CANON GUARDRAIL

Political aftermath is established; this particular chamber, negotiation, and heraldry are conceptual.

THE UNCLAIMED GATE

PRESENT DAY | PROPOSAL

A threshold without a master

PLATE 06 / PRESENT DAY

THE MOMENT

Explorers discover a silent Veil arch that reacts to their approach but does not open. The gate and discovery party are proposed, not manuscript events.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unidentified explorers, possible Nomad researchers, and the unseen jurisdiction of Aethernox as Veil warden.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Ancient crossing mechanisms, incomplete permissions, and forgotten keys can leave travelers stranded between knowledge and access.

CONSEQUENCES

The unanswered threshold creates tension: possessing a relic or knowing a name need not grant the right to cross.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Develops the locked door/permission motif around Aethernox, Gingey's consent lapse, and the politics of movement between realms.

CANON GUARDRAIL

No new gate location, key, crossing outcome, or Aethernox appearance is canonized.

BLOOD AND MOON

PRESENT DAY / ANCESTRAL ECHO | CANON THEME / SYMBOLIC ART

Khari and Amara: two changing skies

PLATE 07 / PRESENT DAY / ANCESTRAL ECHO

THE MOMENT

A symbolic portrait pairs Khari and Amara beneath a lunar disc, reflecting the approved ruling that their lineages and abilities follow solar and lunar cycles. It does not depict a specific encounter.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Khari, Amara, and the inherited legacy carried by their son Riven of House Arakual.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Their ancestral inheritances respond to cycles rather than a permanently fixed level of strength; their powers also intersect with the older Sun/Ash history.

CONSEQUENCES

Riven inherits a contested legacy whose expression may vary with timing, discipline, and circumstance, rather than an automatic entitlement to ancestral power.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Connects Ara'Kai, Ahk Ra, Khari, and Riven while leaving room for later power-system refinement and the Eclipse bloodline's distinct identity.

CANON GUARDRAIL

Specific phases, numerical multipliers, and a new moon-based primordial mandate remain unapproved.

THE SENTINEL'S DILEMMA

CELESTIAL LEGACY / PRESENT DAY | PROPOSAL

Recognized power is not consent

PLATE 08 / CELESTIAL LEGACY / PRESENT DAY

THE MOMENT

An unnamed Sentinel hesitates before enforcing an order against a mortal traveler. The confrontation is a conceptual illustration, not a revealed historical encounter.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

An unidentified Sentinel, a mortal petitioner, unseen celestial superiors.

WHY IT HAPPENED

A conflict between command and the recognition that a mortal life cannot be reduced to the terms of an inherited or imposed contract.

CONSEQUENCES

Possible refusal, reassignment, or intervention would depend on the Sentinel's actual origin and obligations; none is fixed here.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Echoes the distinction Blessing = given; Sentinel = recognized; Birthright = inherited, and anticipates the hidden Elohim/Sentinel schism.

CANON GUARDRAIL

The eight covert Sentinels' identities remain secret; not every Sentinel is artificial or possessed.

YAHIA AT THE SOUTHERN MARCHES

PRESENT DAY | CANON EVENT / SYMBOLIC FRAME

The heir counts survivors

PLATE 09 / PRESENT DAY

THE MOMENT

Yahia Yukimura is shown among survivors of the southern-border catastrophe. His first public act as Frost Fang heir honors the living and the dead, not military conquest.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Yahia, the Frost Fang, southern-border survivors, and retainers; the precise pictured group is illustrative.

WHY IT HAPPENED

A man-made stampede and raiding devastated the border; silence and withheld truth deepened the clan's wound.

CONSEQUENCES

Yahia asserts a model of leadership rooted in remembrance, protection, and renewed responsibility while mistrust persists inside the household.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Strengthens his path toward the Frost Reaper, the unresolved betrayal among his retainers, and his relationship with Amelia.

CANON GUARDRAIL

His natural right eye is purple and left eye blue from his own perspective. No new patrol, fortress, or battle is asserted.

A FUTURE WITHOUT CHAINS

FUTURE / BEYOND BOOKS I-XI | APPROVED ENDPOINT / PROPOSED IMAGE

Severance without erasure

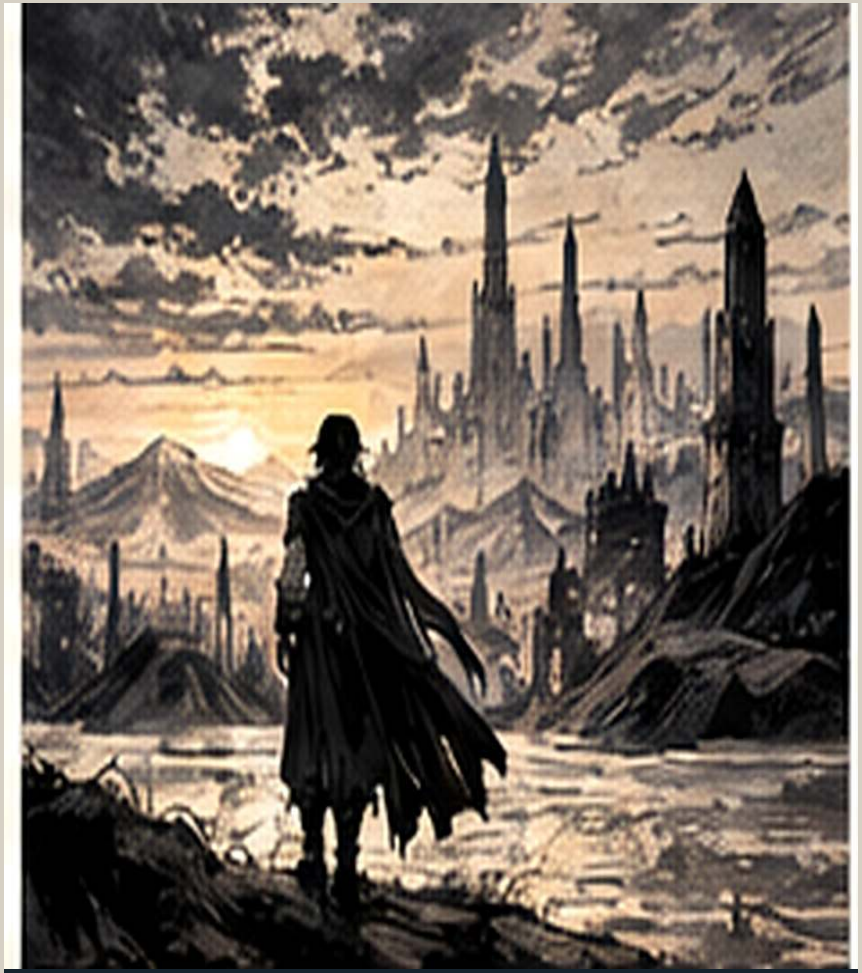

PLATE 10 / FUTURE / BEYOND BOOKS I-XI

THE MOMENT

A solitary figure overlooks a rebuilt landscape after ancient celestial contracts have ended. The outcome is an author-approved future direction; this specific vista is symbolic.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Future mortal and altered peoples, surviving Elohim and Sentinels, and the communities once bound by ancient agreements.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Centuries of coercion, pestilence, exploitation, and struggles over ownership demand a final break with nonconsensual celestial authority.

CONSEQUENCES

Old contracts terminate; any new arrangements must be equal, informed, and voluntary, with safe transitions that preserve Anima, inherited powers, altered peoples, and vital infrastructure.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Completes the moral arc begun by first contact and the War in Heaven, without relocating this endpoint into the current Books I-XI.

CANON GUARDRAIL

The precise ceremony, location, date, and cast shown here remain undecided.

FUTURE / BEYOND BOOKS I-XI

CHANGELOG / v12

• Appended 12 pages: cover (216), index/changelog (217), ten illustrated lore entries (218-227).

• Preserved all 215 prior pages by PDF append, not by editing or replacing the original attachment.

• Added new page bookmarks and preserved previous archive navigation where available.

• Distinguished canon events, symbolic tableaux, and unapproved proposed scenes.

• No new exact dates, power multipliers, formal treaties, or manuscript revisions introduced.

CONTINUITY LOCKS

• Elohim first contact precedes public Blessing; the War in Heaven begins before mortal legal and literary cultures.

• Kynari are beastfolk; Saurai are dragon-blood free folk, and dragons cannot be tamed by outsiders.

• Blessing = given; Sentinel = recognized; Birthright = inherited. These categories do not imply identical contracts.

• The end of ancient contracts is a future author ruling, not a current Books I-XI event.

THE UNHEARD OBJECTION

CELESTIAL ERA / EARLY CONTACT | CANON THEME / INTERPRETIVE TABLEAU

PLATE 01 / CELESTIAL ERA / EARLY CONTACT

ORIGINAL GENERATED INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARD

THE MOMENT

The illustration stages the ideological rupture among Elohim after the discovery that mortals could transcend. It is not a documented council session or an approved new oath.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Elohim divided over ownership and freedom; early Sentinel envoys and mortal witnesses are visual stand-ins, not a fixed attendance roster.

WHY IT HAPPENED

First contact exposed a kind of mortal potential that could not be comfortably reconciled with celestial control.

CONSEQUENCES

The disagreement helped trigger the War in Heaven. The later public Blessing of Passage must remain distinct from this earlier covert-contact period.

LATER CONNECTIONS

The split later informs the Open Hand, conflicting celestial contracts, and the concealed pro-mortal work of four Elohim and eight Sentinels after Ahk Ra.

CANON GUARDRAIL

Do not infer a formal First Compact, a date, or which Elohim supported freedom from this drawing.

THE KYNARI TRAIL OF NAMES

DEEP HISTORY / DISPLACEMENT | PROPOSAL / SPECIFIC CARAVAN UNAPPROVED

PLATE 02 / DEEP HISTORY / DISPLACEMENT

ORIGINAL GENERATED INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARD

THE MOMENT

A beastfolk Kynari guide records the names of families traveling away from threatened woodland settlements. The route and this specific migration are proposed.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Kynari clans of several beastfolk lineages, young dependents, and unaffiliated guides; no formally established Nomad Alliance is presumed at this early date.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Expanding mortal frontiers, celestial intervention, and fear of uncontrolled inherited gifts could make Kynari settlements vulnerable.

CONSEQUENCES

The proposed journey preserves languages, animal-bond practices, and communal memory rather than presenting displacement as a heroic conquest.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Offers a possible ancestry for Kynari participation in the later Nomad Alliance and its varied communities.

CANON GUARDRAIL

Do not canonize Stormwood as a named settlement, a single Kynari homeland, or a specific exodus chronology.

THE THRESHOLD WITHOUT A KEY

DEEP HISTORY / VEIL RESEARCH | PROPOSAL / EXPEDITION UNAPPROVED

PLATE 03 / DEEP HISTORY / VEIL RESEARCH

ORIGINAL GENERATED INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARD

THE MOMENT

Travelers confront a monumental Veil opening whose architecture offers no obvious keyhole. The composition asks whether recognition and permission can substitute for force.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unidentified mortal explorers, possible Sentinel observers, and the unseen authority of Aethernox as the Veil warden.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Cross-realm travel, stolen relics, and forbidden rituals created demand for passage beyond established crossings.

CONSEQUENCES

Unpermitted crossings risk displacement, interception, or harm. No successful crossing or newly discovered gate is asserted here.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Prefigures the door/permission motif, Gingey's complicated rebirth, and the later struggle over celestial control of crossings.

CANON GUARDRAIL

The gate design, expedition, and mechanism are illustrative proposals; Aethernox remains deliberately enigmatic.

THE OATH THEY COULD NOT OWN

DEEP HISTORY / SAURAI RESISTANCE | CANON PRINCIPLE / SYMBOLIC SCENE

PLATE 04 / DEEP HISTORY / SAURAI RESISTANCE

ORIGINAL GENERATED INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARD

THE MOMENT

Two dragon-blood Saurai stand together against demands that their lineages and dragons be treated as celestial property.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Frost and blood Saurai traditions, their dragon kin, and unnamed external claimants; the image is not an additional historical meeting with Ahk Ra.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Attempts to bind dragon blood and claim authority over free folk collide with the rule that dragons cannot be tamed by outsiders.

CONSEQUENCES

Resistance becomes a pivotal fault line between Elohim seeking ownership and those willing to recognize mortal freedom.

LATER CONNECTIONS

This principle shapes Ahk Ra's alliances and betrayal, the Great Shift, and later Saurai autonomy.

CANON GUARDRAIL

No new treaty, blood oath, or exact pre-betrayal chronology is approved by this symbolic handshake.

THE SEVENTH FIRE HAS WITNESSES

DEEP HISTORY / AHK RA'S REIGN | CANON EVENT / INTERPRETIVE AFTERMATH

PLATE 05 / DEEP HISTORY / AHK RA'S REIGN

ORIGINAL GENERATED INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARD

THE MOMENT

A survivor looks over one of the seven cities razed during Ahk Ra's descent from persecuted heir to perpetrator of atrocities.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Ahk Ra's forces, destroyed city populations, displaced survivors, and the factions that later interpreted the devastation.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Sun-and-Ash convergence, escalating warfare, pestilence-linked corruption, and Ahk Ra's own accountable choices.

CONSEQUENCES

Seven cities are lost. The destruction cannot be excused by the persecution Ahk Ra endured, and generations inherit the scars.

LATER CONNECTIONS

The catastrophe informs the Gilded Jackals' prohibition: "Never allow Sun + Ash," and fuels post-Ahk Ra house struggles.

CANON GUARDRAIL

No specific city name, casualty figure, or survivor identity is established by this scene.

CHAIRS WITHOUT A CROWN

POST-AHK RA / HOUSE CONFLICTS | PROPOSAL / NO CONFIRMED CONCLAVE

PLATE 06 / POST-AHK RA / HOUSE CONFLICTS

ORIGINAL GENERATED INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARD

THE MOMENT

Rival Black House envoys gather beneath incompatible banners to dispute custody of relics, roads, and old contracts after Ahk Ra's fall.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unidentified Black House delegates, potential Jackal intermediaries, and neutral witnesses; their exact number and identities remain open.

WHY IT HAPPENED

The collapse of Ahk Ra's authority leaves a vacuum over territory, artifacts, inherited bloodlines, and celestial bargains.

CONSEQUENCES

The proposed negotiation could produce a fragile truce or expose a new clandestine war; neither outcome is established.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Provides a possible bridge to the post-Ahk Ra house chronicle and the radical underground networks resurfacing in Books X-XI.

CANON GUARDRAIL

This is not a canonical nine-house summit, signed accord, or approved list of house participants.

THE SKY REJECTS A BRIDLE

DEEP HISTORY / SAURAI FREE FOLK | CANON PRINCIPLE / PROPOSED FIELD TABLEAU

PLATE 07 / DEEP HISTORY / SAURAI FREE FOLK

ORIGINAL GENERATED INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARD

THE MOMENT

A Saurai defender stands beneath a dragon that refuses an outsider's attempted claim. The aerial confrontation is a proposed visual moment.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

A dragon-blood Saurai rider, untamable dragon kin, and distant would-be binders or celestial forces.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Expansionist powers attempt to turn dragons into controlled weapons despite the Saurai's blood-bound autonomy.

CONSEQUENCES

The image emphasizes refusal rather than conquest; it suggests why dragon freedom could destabilize the celestial order.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Resonates with the War of Ascension, Saurai participation in the great wars, and the main cast's inherited conflicts.

CANON GUARDRAIL

No dragon species, specific battle, new power, or named rider is canonized.

THE HEIR WHO COUNTED SURVIVORS

PRESENT DAY / FROST FANG | CANON EVENT / REPRESENTATIVE COMPOSITION

PLATE 08 / PRESENT DAY / FROST FANG

ORIGINAL GENERATED INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARD

THE MOMENT

Yahia Yukimura honors survivors of the southern-border stampede and raids rather than celebrating a military victory.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Yahia, Frost Fang retainers, displaced families, and border communities; Amelia remains a relevant later partner, not necessarily present in this frame.

WHY IT HAPPENED

The man-made catastrophe and failures of protection force Yahia to confront what leadership owes to the living.

CONSEQUENCES

His first public act as heir strengthens trust, challenges the clan's drift from older traditions, and sharpens his identity as the True Heir.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Prepares Yahia's Frost Reaper trajectory, his complicated relationship with his father, and future regional alliances.

CANON GUARDRAIL

His canon eyes are right purple and left blue in his natural state; this small monochrome study does not redefine their colors.

TWO SKIES IN ONE BLOOD

PRESENT DAY / ANCESTRAL ECHO | CANON LINEAGE / SYMBOLIC PORTRAIT

PLATE 09 / PRESENT DAY / ANCESTRAL ECHO

ORIGINAL GENERATED INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARD

THE MOMENT

Khari and Amara are paired beneath solar and lunar forms to express the cycles carried forward through House Arakual and Riven.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Khari of the Solar Throne, Amara of the Ashen Veil, and their son Riven through inherited power and family memory.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Their powers follow the changing cycles of Sun and Moon rather than remaining at a single fixed intensity.

CONSEQUENCES

Riven's Eclipse inheritance is potent but contested; its manifestation should depend on circumstances, training, and continuity.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Connects Ara'Kai to Ahk Ra, Khari, and Riven while distinguishing inherited Birthright from Blessing or Sentinel recognition.

CANON GUARDRAIL

No numerical phase multiplier, new primordial Mandate, or literal meeting at the pictured celestial clock is approved.

THE HORIZON AFTER OWNERSHIP

FUTURE / BEYOND BOOKS I-XI | APPROVED ENDPOINT / PROPOSED VISUALIZATION

PLATE 10 / FUTURE / BEYOND BOOKS I-XI

ORIGINAL GENERATED INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARD

THE MOMENT

A diverse gathering approaches a realm once held by binding contracts. The scene is symbolic, not an already-written chapter.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Future mortal communities, Kynari, Saurai, selected Elohim and Sentinels, and successors to the main cast; identities are not fixed.

WHY IT HAPPENED

The long struggle exposes the cost of coercion, possession, pestilence, and inherited obligations imposed without consent.

CONSEQUENCES

All ancient celestial contracts ultimately end, while Anima, altered peoples, inherited abilities, and essential infrastructure survive safe transitions.

LATER CONNECTIONS

This future resolves the freedom-versus-ownership conflict planted at first contact; new agreements must be equal, informed, and voluntary.

CANON GUARDRAIL

The endpoint is approved, but its exact scene, timing, participants, and means of execution are not yet in Books I-XI.

CHANGELOG / v13

- Appended 12 pages: cover (228), index (229), ten illustrated entries (230-239).

- Preserved all 227 pages of v12 by PDF append, without editing the original attachment.

- Added ten new page bookmarks and retained the prior archive outline.

- Generated ten cropped manga concept plates; artwork is exploratory, not full-resolution character canon.

- No new historical dates, family approvals, formal treaties, or manuscript changes.

CONTINUITY LOCKS

- War in Heaven begins after first Elohim contact and before mortal cultures; public Blessing comes later.

- Kynari are beastfolk; Saurai are dragon-blood free folk; outsiders cannot tame dragons.

- Blessing = given; Sentinel = recognized; Birthright = inherited; contract obligations are separate.

- Aethernox is Hidden Hand Veil warden, distinct from Gatewarden; never depict the whispering woman.

- Future termination of ancient contracts is an endpoint beyond Books I-XI, not a present-day event.

THE QUESTION THAT SPLIT HEAVEN

CELESTIAL ERA / FIRST CONTACT / CANON CAUSE / INTERPRETIVE TABLEAU

PLATE 01 / THE FIRST DISCOVERY, NOT A RECORDED COUNCIL

GENERATED MANGA INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARDS

CANON GUARDRAIL

No exact date, first council, or identities of the benevolent Elohim are established by this plate.

THE MOMENT

The Elohim discover that mortals may transcend imposed limits. The pictured assembly is a symbolic reconstruction, not a documented meeting.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed Elohim, early Sentinels, and mortal witnesses; the identities of later pro-mortal allies remain concealed.

WHY IT HAPPENED

First contact exposes mortal potential and divides celestial views on guidance, ownership, and freedom.

CONSEQUENCES

The schism helps ignite the War in Heaven long before mortal cultures develop; conflict later overlaps early mortal wars.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Book I plants covert contact; Book II makes the Blessing of Passage public. Later celestial contracts inherit this original disagreement.

THE HAND THAT DID NOT CLOSE

CELESTIAL ERA / ETHICS OF BINDING / PROPOSAL / SYMBOLIC SCENE

PLATE 02 / A REFUSAL IMAGINED AT THE EDGE OF A BINDING

GENERATED MANGA INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARDS

CANON GUARDRAIL

Proposal only: no child, rite, defection, or early dissenter is newly canonized.

THE MOMENT

An unnamed Sentinel pauses before a mortal child rather than complete a coercive rite. This specific refusal is a proposed illustrative scene.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

An unidentified Sentinel, a mortal child, and unseen ritual authorities; none are assigned to the later covert twelve.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Possession, artificial Sentinel manufacture, forced experimentation, and blood oaths can create bindings without informed consent.

CONSEQUENCES

If approved, the scene would dramatize the difference between obedience and recognition, without implying all Sentinels dissent.

LATER CONNECTIONS

The moral question echoes later clandestine Elohim and Sentinel interventions and the eventual demand for voluntary agreements.

NO BRIDLE FOR THE SKY

DEEP HISTORY / SAURAI RESISTANCE / CANON PRINCIPLE / INTERPRETIVE BATTLE

PLATE 03 / DRAGON-BLOOD FREEDOM CANNOT BE CLAIMED BY OUTSIDERS

GENERATED MANGA INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARDS

CANON GUARDRAIL

The particular rider, dragon, and encounter are visual proposals, not named historical individuals.

THE MOMENT

A Saurai defender stands beside a free dragon in the highlands, refusing celestial claims over the creature or its bloodline.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Saurai free folk, their dragon kin, and ownership-seeking celestial forces; the combatants shown are unnamed.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Attempts to control dragons and dragon-blood descendants collide with Saurai sovereignty; outsiders cannot tame dragons.

CONSEQUENCES

Saurai resistance becomes a pivotal fault line between celestial ownership and mortal freedom during the wider wars.

LATER CONNECTIONS

This conflict shapes Ahk Ra's ties to frost and blood Saurai and the descendant lineages that persist into the present.

AFTER THE SEVENTH FIRE

DEEP HISTORY / AHK RA'S REIGN / CANON EVENT / INTERPRETIVE AFTERMATH

PLATE 04 / THE RUINED CITY IS EVIDENCE, NOT ABSOLUTION

GENERATED MANGA INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARDS

CANON GUARDRAIL

No city names, casualty counts, or precise ancient dates are invented here.

THE MOMENT

Survivors face the destruction of the seventh city after Ahk Ra's Sun-and-Ash convergence and escalating campaigns.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Ahk Ra and his forces, city defenders, displaced civilians, and rival powers; the foreground witness is not a named character.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Celestial persecution and mortal wars form the background, but Ahk Ra remains accountable for the atrocities he chose.

CONSEQUENCES

Seven cities are razed, populations scatter, and the Gilded Jackals adopt their prohibition against another Sun-and-Ash convergence.

LATER CONNECTIONS

The catastrophe drives post-Ahk Ra house rivalries and the fear later inherited by House Arakual and Riven.

THE SNOW ROAD OF THE KYNARI

DEEP HISTORY / DISPLACEMENT / PROPOSAL / MIGRATION STUDY

PLATE 05 / BEASTFOLK REFUGEES AND A ROAD WITHOUT BANNERS

GENERATED MANGA INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARDS

CANON GUARDRAIL

The route, migration, destination, and participating clans remain unapproved proposals.

THE MOMENT

A Kynari clan crosses a winter pass carrying children, records, and beasts toward an uncertain refuge.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Kynari beastfolk families, independent scouts, and possible nomadic escorts; no formal Nomad Alliance founding is implied.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Warfare, forced bindings, and territorial losses could have displaced communities during the deep historical conflicts.

CONSEQUENCES

The proposed migration would explain dispersed Kynari settlements and shared practices among later cultures.

LATER CONNECTIONS

If adopted, it could provide ancestral context for modern Kynari communities and the Nomad Alliance's plural membership.

THE INVENTORY OF BROKEN CROWNS

POST-AHK RA / HOUSE CONFLICTS / PROPOSAL / BLACK HOUSE NEGOTIATION

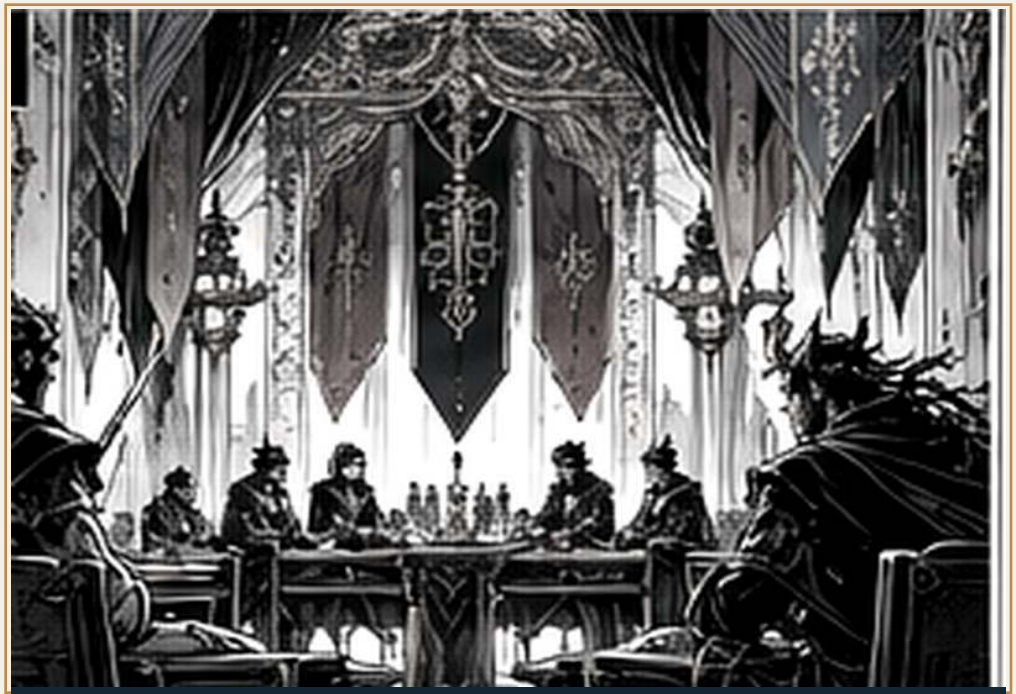

PLATE 06 / POWER PASSES INTO LEDGERS, RELICS, AND DISPUTED CLAIMS

GENERATED MANGA INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARDS

CANON GUARDRAIL

No summit, treaty, exact number of houses, or division of territory is approved by this image.

THE MOMENT

Representatives of rival Black Houses review captured regalia and territorial claims after Ahk Ra's death.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed Black House delegates, rival dynastic agents, and possible Jackal observers; no attendance roster is established.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Ahk Ra's fall leaves a contested power vacuum, surviving relics, and unresolved ancestral grudges.

CONSEQUENCES

A hypothetical meeting could seed fragile arrangements, covert seizures, and new conflicts over bloodlines and artifacts.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Such disputes would illuminate later Black House hostility, relic hunts, and the threats faced by Eclipse descendants.

THE QUAY WITHOUT A THRONE

POST-AHK RA / DISPLACED PEOPLES / PROPOSAL / CULTURAL RECONSTRUCTION

PLATE 07 / A WORKING HARBOR WHERE DIFFERENT PEOPLES TRADE SAFETY

GENERATED MANGA INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARDS

CANON GUARDRAIL

The settlement, bridge, route, and alliance arrangement are speculative and do not amend the chronology.

THE MOMENT

Kynari boatwrights and mixed-community travelers rebuild a river quay, choosing a shared passage over a new ruler.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Kynari beastfolk, human craftspeople, Saurai travelers, and possible nomadic guides; the location is unnamed.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Displacement and fractured house borders make reliable transport and neutral exchange increasingly valuable.

CONSEQUENCES

The proposed quay could become a modest refuge and seed trade practices later adopted by nomadic communities.

LATER CONNECTIONS

This is a possible historical precursor to Nomad Alliance cooperation, not a claim that the Alliance was founded here.

THE DOOR REMEMBERS PERMISSION

VEIL / CROSS-ERA THRESHOLD / CANON MECHANIC / PROPOSED ENCOUNTER

PLATE 08 / A GATE IS NOT AN INVITATION MERELY BECAUSE IT OPENS

GENERATED MANGA INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARDS

CANON GUARDRAIL

No new key, gate location, crossing verdict, or visible whispering woman is introduced.

THE MOMENT

Travelers wait before a Veil threshold while the unseen rules of crossing are tested; this particular journey is illustrative.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unidentified travelers and gate attendants; Aethernox is the Hidden Hand warden, not the separate Gatewarden.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Unauthorized crossing, corrupted contracts, and incomplete permissions can destabilize the boundary between realms.

CONSEQUENCES

Aethernox may guide the lost or confront illicit crossers, but this image establishes no automatic punishment or specific ruling.

LATER CONNECTIONS

The door-and-consent motif runs from primordial thresholds through Gingey's rebirth and later Veil crises.

THE WHITE LOTUS AT THE BORDER

PRESENT DAY / FROST FANG / CANON PUBLIC ACT / PROPOSED COMPANION SCENE

PLATE 09 / SURVIVORS, NOT CONQUEST, DEFINE THE HEIR'S FIRST ACT

GENERATED MANGA INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARDS

THE MOMENT

Yahia honors southern-border survivors after a man-made stampede and raids; Amelia's presence beside him is proposed staging.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Yahia Yukimura, southern-border families, Frost Fang retainers, and Amelia, the white-elf lotus healer, if this scene is approved.

WHY IT HAPPENED

The border tragedy, concealed truths, and Yahia's rejection of celebratory conquest create a test of leadership.

CONSEQUENCES

His public choice centers compassion and accountability while unresolved betrayal still threatens the clan.

LATER CONNECTIONS

The moment supports Yahia's reform of Frost Fang traditions and his future ties to allied peoples.

CANON GUARDRAIL

Yahia's natural eyes are right purple and left blue; Amelia's are emerald. Her attendance at this exact event is not canon.

SUN AND MOON, NOT A CROWN

DEEP HISTORY TO PRESENT / HOUSE ARAKUAL / CANON LINEAGE / INTERPRETIVE PORTRAIT

PLATE 10 / THE INHERITANCE THAT FOLLOWS TWO DIFFERENT SKIES

GENERATED MANGA INK STUDY / CROPPED FROM NEW CONCEPT BOARDS

CANON GUARDRAIL

Exact phase-by-phase mechanics remain undefined; the portrait is symbolic, not a new chronological scene.

THE MOMENT

Khari and Amara are shown as complementary ancestors whose powers follow solar and lunar cycles, respectively.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Khari of the Solar Throne and Amara of the Ashen Veil; their son Riven later carries the Eclipse inheritance.

WHY IT HAPPENED

Two distinct ancestral legacies converge in House Arakual, continuing the longer Ara'Kai to Ahk Ra to Khari to Riven history.

CONSEQUENCES

Their cyclical inheritance gives Riven power and places him within the long struggle over bloodline ownership.

LATER CONNECTIONS

The contrast of sun and moon reframes Ahk Ra's Sun-and-Ash legacy without excusing his actions or rewriting the bloodline.

CONTINUITY CONTROL

Each plate identifies the era, participants, cause, consequence and later connection. Staged meetings, artifacts, travel routes and unnamed participants are proposals unless specifically marked as established. Ancient dates remain undetermined. The whispering woman is never depicted.

A PETITION BEFORE THE OPEN HAND

PROPOSED SCENE / CANON FRAMEWORK

ROUGH INK STUDY / NEW CONCEPT-BOARD CROP

WHAT HAPPENED

An unnamed mortal petitioner appears before an Elohim envoy and Sentinel observers. The scene imagines the moment when a request for passage becomes a dispute over who may grant it.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed Elohim, early Sentinels, mortal envoys and witnesses.

CAUSE

Elohim contact with mortals and discovery of mortal transcendence challenged celestial assumptions about authority.

CONSEQUENCE

The question of voluntary passage becomes entangled with control, contributing to the schism that leads to the War in Heaven.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Book I preserves covert contact; Book II brings the public Blessing of Passage. Blessing is power given, Sentinel is recognition, and Birthright is inherited power.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

The specific petitioner, chamber and meeting are visual proposals, not an approved first compact or dated historical event. No benevolent Elohim is identified.

NO REINS FOR DRAGON BLOOD

PROPOSED SCENE / CANON PRINCIPLE

ROUGH INK STUDY / NEW CONCEPT-BOARD CROP

WHAT HAPPENED

A dragon-blood Saurai guardian turns away a celestial demand for control over a free dragon. The illustration stages a refusal, not a documented treaty or named battle.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Saurai free folk, an unbound dragon, unnamed celestial envoys.

CAUSE

Celestial claims of ownership collided with Saurai autonomy. Dragons are not tameable by outsiders; their own blood determines legitimate bonds.

CONSEQUENCE

Saurai resistance becomes a pivotal moral and military challenge to celestial entitlement.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

This principle drives the War Trilogy and illuminates Ahk Ra's earlier friendship with frost and blood Saurai, and his later betrayal of them.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

The individual guardian and encounter are proposed. Do not imply all Saurai obey one ruler or that outsiders can subjugate dragons.

THE NAMES CARRIED THROUGH STORMWOOD

PROPOSED SCENE

ROUGH INK STUDY / NEW CONCEPT-BOARD CROP

WHAT HAPPENED

Beastfolk Kynari guides shepherd a mixed caravan of families and rescued magical beasts along a forest ridge, recording the names of those who did not survive.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Kynari clans, displaced mortals, beast handlers and sympathetic Saurai escorts.

CAUSE

War, territorial predation and celestial interference leave vulnerable communities without secure roads.

CONSEQUENCE

Mutual protection and beast-taming knowledge help isolated groups endure without erasing their cultural differences.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

A possible precursor to the later Nomad Alliance's protection of travelers, mixed settlements and shared research into magical beasts.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

The Stormwood route, specific caravan and ancestral link are unapproved proposals. Kynari are beastfolk, not a generic human tribe.

THE LAST REGISTRY OF THE SEVEN

CANON EVENT / PROPOSED VIEWPOINT

ROUGH INK STUDY / NEW CONCEPT-BOARD CROP

WHAT HAPPENED

An unnamed survivor surveys one of the seven cities destroyed in Ahk Ra's campaign, searching broken records for the names of missing families.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Surviving civilians, city defenders, Ahk Ra's forces and later relief workers.

CAUSE

Ahk Ra's escalating pursuit of power and coercive vision led to atrocities for which he remains accountable.

CONSEQUENCE

Seven ruined cities, deep displacement and enduring fear of another Sun-and-Ash convergence.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

The devastation helps explain the Gilded Jackals' founding prohibition: “Never allow Sun + Ash.” It also shapes post-Ahk Ra house rivalries.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

The destruction of seven cities is established; this survivor and registry are illustrative proposals. No exact year or whispered figure is depicted.

THE INVENTORY NO HOUSE COULD OWN

PROPOSED SCENE

ROUGH INK STUDY / NEW CONCEPT-BOARD CROP

WHAT HAPPENED

Rival Black House representatives examine a recovered regalia fragment under neutral supervision, arguing whether it should be sealed, studied or weaponized.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed Black House delegates, independent mediators and a Gilded Jackals observer.

CAUSE

Ahk Ra's death leaves a fractured political landscape and artifacts whose power invites rivalry.

CONSEQUENCE

Even a temporary truce risks espionage, secret extraction and renewed bloodline experimentation.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Foreshadows antagonistic families, forbidden relic contracts and present-day disputes over inherited Anima and celestial authority.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

No specific summit, fragment, vote or agreement is approved canon. The scene does not establish a fixed number of Black Houses.

THE GATE THAT REFUSED A KEY

PROPOSED SCENE / CANON MOTIF

ROUGH INK STUDY / NEW CONCEPT-BOARD CROP

WHAT HAPPENED

Travelers arrive at an ancient threshold carrying a relic key, yet the gate remains shut until a lawful crossing can be recognized.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unidentified travelers, a threshold sentinel and Aethernox as an unseen Veil warden.

CAUSE

Unauthorized crossings and coercive contracts threaten the fragile boundary between realms.

CONSEQUENCE

Access becomes a question of permission rather than simple possession of a powerful artifact.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Preserves the door-and-permission motif around Aethernox, the Hidden Hand, and Gingey's rebirth; later journeys test consent and the limits of authority.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

This particular gate, key and mechanism are proposed. Aethernox is not visually identified, and no universal gate rule is invented.

THE ORDER THAT WAS NOT SPOKEN

PROPOSED SCENE

ROUGH INK STUDY / NEW CONCEPT-BOARD CROP

WHAT HAPPENED

An unnamed Sentinel stands between a frightened mortal group and an order that would compel their service. The illustration ends before the Sentinel chooses.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

An unidentified Sentinel, affected mortals and off-panel celestial superiors.

CAUSE

Artificial Sentinels, possession, blood oaths and forced rituals can turn celestial authority into coercion.

CONSEQUENCE

The unresolved choice highlights how recognition of power differs from consent to a contract.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

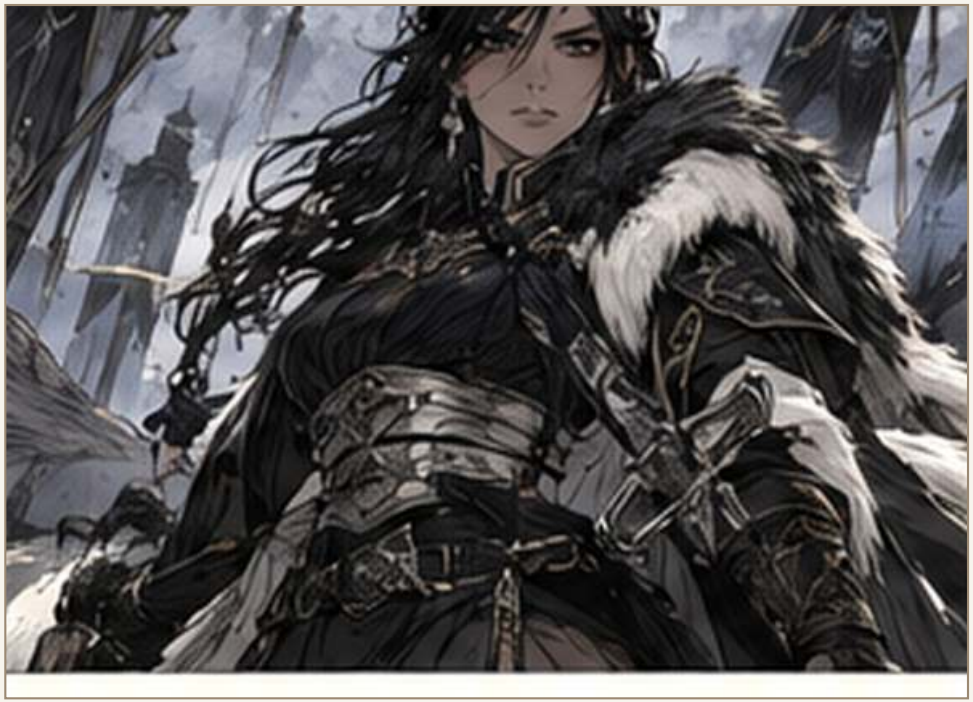
Anticipates hidden divisions among the Elohim, the covert work of four Elohim and eight Sentinels, and eventual challenges to compulsory bindings.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

No named Sentinel, rebellion or outcome is canonized. Sentinel status is recognition, not necessarily a power granted by an Elohim.

THE HEIR WHO READ THE SURVIVORS' NAMES

CANON EVENT / PROPOSED DETAIL



ROUGH INK STUDY / NEW CONCEPT-BOARD CROP

WHAT HAPPENED

Yahia Yukimura stands before survivors of the southern-border raids, placing their losses ahead of any celebration of military conquest.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Yahia, southern-border survivors, Frost Fang retainers and clan witnesses.

CAUSE

A man-made stampede and raiding devastated the border. Yahia's first public duty is to acknowledge those harmed.

CONSEQUENCE

His restraint strengthens his claim as the True Heir while unresolved betrayal and his father's silence deepen the political wound.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

This moment leads toward the Frost Reaper path and his struggle to restore the clan's older discipline.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

Honoring survivors is established. Reading a written roll is a proposed staging. Yahia's natural eyes are right purple and left blue.

TWO CLOCKS AT KHARI & SONS

PROPOSED SCENE / CANON POWERS

ROUGH INK STUDY / NEW CONCEPT-BOARD CROP

WHAT HAPPENED

An interpretive portrait imagines Khari and Amara weighing their Sun-and-Moon heritage in a quiet interval away from conflict.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Khari, Amara and, through inheritance, their son Riven of House Arakual.

CAUSE

Their distinct lineages manifest powers that follow solar and lunar cycles rather than remaining constant.

CONSEQUENCE

The inherited convergence places extraordinary potential and danger upon Riven without determining his moral choices.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Ara'Kai → Ahk Ra → Khari → Riven anchors the Eclipse lineage; Amara's Ashen Veil heritage and the family's powers complicate the old Jackal prohibition.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

The private exchange is proposed. The Sun-and-Moon cycles and lineage are established; no exact mechanics, new transformation or additional ancestor is approved.

THE WORK AFTER SEVERANCE

AUTHOR ENDPOINT / PROPOSED DEPICTION

ROUGH INK STUDY / NEW CONCEPT-BOARD CROP

WHAT HAPPENED

Representatives of many peoples survey a realm after the old celestial contracts have been ended, planning how to keep crossings and vital systems functioning.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Mortals, Kynari, Saurai, willing Elohim and Sentinels, and communities altered by Anima.

CAUSE

Generations of compulsory bindings, exploitation and conflict create the need for equal, informed and voluntary agreements.

CONSEQUENCE

Anima, inherited powers, altered peoples and essential infrastructure must survive through safe transitions, not collapse with the contracts.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

This is the intended long-range resolution of the ownership-versus-freedom theme, deliberately not yet an event in Books I-XI.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

The endpoint is an author ruling; the landscape, gathering and implementation shown here are proposals, not finalized scenes or dates.

SUPPLEMENT 14 / NEWLY ILLUSTRATED HISTORICAL MOMENTS

TEN THRESHOLDS OF FREEDOM

Celestial record · deep history · post-Ahk Ra conflicts · present day · the far horizon

A new set of ten separate rough manga/seinen ink studies, each paired with era, participants, causes, consequences, future connections, and an explicit canon boundary. The preceding 251 archive pages are preserved in the complete v15 edition.

WHAT CHANGED

New cover p.252; chronological index and changelog p.253; ten illustrated plates pp.254-263. The previous 251 pages remain in the new complete edition.

CONTINUITY PROMISE

Historical anchors are distinguished from hypothetical staging. No new dates, house treaties, identities, manuscript edits, or approvals. The whispering woman is not shown.

CHRONOLOGICAL INDEX / CHANGELOG

CHANGELOG

v15 / Supplement 14: ten distinct new ink studies and ten revised, text-searchable lore records on pp.254-263. • The 251-page v14 source was copied into a new PDF; the existing file was not edited in place. • New chronology/index page 253 and bookmarks for every new plate; earlier bookmarks retained. • Illustrations are separate grayscale crops of a newly generated contact sheet, not independently rendered full-resolution originals. • Scene-specific proposals are not canon approvals. Ancient dates remain deliberately unspecified.

254 / THE FIRST LIGHT, UNCLAIMED

CELESTIAL ERA / COVERT FIRST CONTACT • ESTABLISHED EVENT - PROPOSED VISUAL STAGING

WHAT HAPPENED

An Elohim delegation observes mortal potential at an unfamiliar threshold. The first contact and discovery of mortal transcendence are established; the gathering shown is an illustrative proposal.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Early Elohim envoys and mortal communities. The attendants and location in the image are not identified canon figures.

CAUSE

The discovery that mortals could transcend existing limits destabilized celestial assumptions about authority and ownership.

CONSEQUENCE

Contact led to ideological fractures and the War in Heaven, long before the later public Blessing of Passage.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Book I preserves covert early contact; Book II brings the public Blessing. Later celestial contracts turn the dispute over freedom into a centuries-long conflict.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

No date, formal treaty, named envoy, or exact location is approved by this illustration. Do not confuse first contact with the later public Blessing.

255 / THE WINTER PASS OF THE KYNARI

DEEP HISTORY / DISPLACEMENT • PROPOSAL - NOT CANONIZED

WHAT HAPPENED

A mixed Kynari escort guides displaced families and pack beasts across a hazardous mountain route. The specific expedition and pact are proposed, not recorded canon.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Beastfolk Kynari scouts, refugees, and possible allied guides. No new named clan or formal treaty is established.

CAUSE

Celestial encroachment, territorial warfare, and coercive experiments made some ancestral settlements unsafe.

CONSEQUENCE

If adopted, the journey could explain how independent Kynari communities preserved knowledge while relocating across borders.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

A potential antecedent for later Nomad Alliance routes, cultural exchange, and the beastfolk presence among free peoples.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

The route, date, escort pact, and participants remain speculative. Kynari are beastfolk, not transformed humans.

256 / NO REINS UPON DRAGON BLOOD

DEEP HISTORY / SAURAI SOVEREIGNTY • CANON PRINCIPLE - PROPOSED DELEGATION

WHAT HAPPENED

An unnamed dragon-blood Saurai representative refuses a celestial claim over the people and their dragons. The refusal expresses established Saurai freedom; this particular audience is proposed.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Saurai free folk, allied dragons, and an unidentified celestial delegation.

CAUSE

Ownership-seeking Elohim attempted to extend binding and contractual authority to dragon-blood lineages.

CONSEQUENCE

Saurai resistance sharpened the divide between celestial dominion and mortal self-determination.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Their stand becomes pivotal in the Great Shift and later War of Ascension; it also illuminates the stakes of Ahk Ra's lost brotherhood with frost and blood Saurai.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

The envoy's face, garments, and ceremonial banners are not locked character designs. Dragons cannot be tamed by outsiders; only their own blood may bond with them.

257 / THE SEVENTH CITY HAS NO TRIUMPH

DEEP HISTORY / AHK RA'S REIGN • ESTABLISHED CATASTROPHE - PROPOSED VIEWPOINT

WHAT HAPPENED

A lone survivor surveys the devastation after the seventh of the cities razed during Ahk Ra's Sun-and-Ash escalation. The exact survivor and vantage are artistic proposals.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Ahk Ra and his forces, defenders, civilians, displaced families, and rival powers.

CAUSE

Ahk Ra's moral collapse, war, and pursuit of power culminated in atrocities for which he remains responsible.

CONSEQUENCE

Mass death, ruined institutions, and scattered populations created a generational wound and political vacuum.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

The Gilded Jackals' prohibition, "Never allow Sun + Ash," and the post-Ahk Ra house struggles grow from this terror; Riven inherits the burden, not the guilt.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

No specific city name, casualty count, precise sequence, or appearance for Ahk Ra is fixed by the artwork. The whispering woman is never depicted.

258 / THE MAP NO HOUSE WOULD SIGN

POST-AHK RA / HOUSE CONFLICTS • PROPOSAL - NOT CANONIZED

WHAT HAPPENED

Rival house envoys spread disputed routes and relic claims across a map while negotiating a fragile truce after Ahk Ra's fall.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Representatives of antagonistic Black Houses, surviving independent houses, and possible neutral mediators.

CAUSE

The collapse of a feared power left competing claims over territory, artifacts, records, and bloodline influence.

CONSEQUENCE

A temporary accord might reduce open fighting while creating hidden bargains and proxy conflicts.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

A plausible seed for later Red Autumn court intrigue, underground organizations, and the political pressures surrounding House Arakual.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

This specific summit, seating order, map, outcome, and all unnamed delegates are proposals. No house membership or treaty is newly canonized.

259 / THE DOOR THAT WAITS FOR CONSENT

VEIL / CROSS-ERA THRESHOLD • CANON MECHANIC - PROPOSED GATE SCENE

WHAT HAPPENED

Travelers pause before a luminous Veil aperture rather than force a crossing. The depicted gate and party are proposed; the permission motif is established.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Possible Veil travelers and watchers, with Aethernox serving as the unseen warden of the Hidden Hand.

CAUSE

Unauthorized crossings, unstable routes, and old bindings can make a threshold dangerous.

CONSEQUENCE

Some travelers are guided, some refused, and others encounter consequences for violating a boundary.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

This motif foreshadows Gingey's rebirth, Aethernox's pivotal yet deliberately vague role, and later debates over whether power grants a right of entry.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

The pictured doorway is not a mapped canonical location; no new key design, gate law, or named Gatewarden is established.

260 / A SENTINEL QUESTIONS THE ORDER

CELESTIAL CONFLICT / TRANSITION • PROPOSAL - NOT CANONIZED

WHAT HAPPENED

An unnamed Sentinel faces a command that could impose an involuntary binding on a mortal. The hesitation is a hypothetical scene about conscience and obedience.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

A composite Sentinel, a mortal witness, and an unseen celestial command structure.

CAUSE

Celestial contracts could bind through rituals, blood oaths, possession, or artificial Sentinels, sometimes with lethal exit conditions.

CONSEQUENCE

A refusal might lead to reassignment, persecution, or a covert break from the hierarchy; none is approved for this figure.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

The dilemma anticipates the hidden Elohim split, later covert allies, and the endgame demand for equal, informed, voluntary agreements.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

Do not infer the identity of any of the four covert Elohim or eight Sentinels. Blessing = given, Sentinel = recognized, Birthright = inherited; these remain distinct.

261 / THE HEIR WHO HONORED THE LIVING

PRESENT DAY / FROST FANG • ESTABLISHED CHARACTER BEAT - CONCEPT ART

WHAT HAPPENED
Yahia Yukimura visits the southern-border survivors and honors their losses instead of staging a victory celebration.

WHO WAS INVOLVED
Yahia, Frost Fang retainers, survivors, and families affected by the man-made stampede and raids.

CAUSE
Border violence and a concealed betrayal forced Yahia to choose what kind of heir he would become.

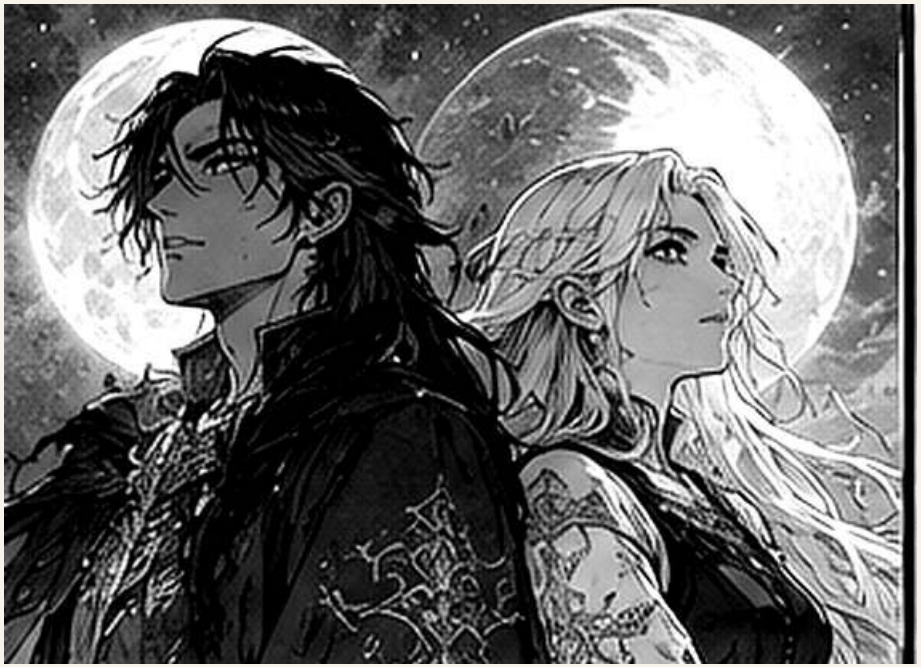
CONSEQUENCE
His first public act establishes protection, remembrance, and restraint as the foundations of his leadership.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS
The scene points toward his recovery of old Frost Fang traditions, the Frost Reaper mantle, and later regional alliances.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY
This is a visual interpretation of an established beat, not a new chapter. Eye canon: Yahia's right eye is purple and left blue; in wrath, the right becomes a red Dragon Eye.

262 / TWO CYCLES, ONE INHERITANCE

PRESENT-DAY LINEAGE / KHARI AND AMARA • ESTABLISHED LINEAGE - PROPOSED PORTRAIT



WHAT HAPPENED

A symbolic portrait places Khari's solar lineage beside Amara's lunar lineage, expressing the rhythms that their powers follow.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Khari of the Solar Throne, Amara of the Ashen Veil, and their descendant Riven of House Arakual.

CAUSE

Their union brings two ancient inheritances together despite the histories of celestial interference and house persecution.

CONSEQUENCE

Riven carries a volatile Eclipse inheritance, shaped by the changing cycles of Sun and Moon rather than a fixed, limitless power state.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

The lineage runs Ara'Kai to Ahk Ra to Khari to Riven, while Amara's lunar heritage is essential to the present-day convergence.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

The illustration is symbolic, not a locked appearance sheet or proof of a specific scene. No new solar/lunar mechanics, dates, or powers are approved.

263 / WHAT REMAINS AFTER THE LAST OATH

FUTURE / ENDGAME BEYOND BOOKS I-XI • AUTHOR ENDPOINT - PROPOSED DEPICTION

WHAT HAPPENED

Representatives of several peoples look toward a functioning realm after the ancient celestial contracts have ended. The assembly shown is a proposed visual epilogue.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Free mortal communities, Kynari, Saurai, altered peoples, and willing Elohim and Sentinels.

CAUSE

Generations of manipulation, forced binding, and pestilence expose the need to end inherited coercive authority.

CONSEQUENCE

Old contracts terminate; Anima, inherited powers, altered peoples, and essential infrastructure survive through safe transitions.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

This is the long-range resolution of the freedom-versus-ownership struggle begun at first contact; it is not yet an event in Books I-XI.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

The endpoint principle is author-approved. The people, city, architecture, and implementation depicted here remain proposals; future agreements must be equal, informed, and voluntary.

SUPPLEMENT 15

THE UNOWNED RECORD

Ten new manga / seinen concept studies across the Celestial Era, Deep History, the wars of the Black Houses, and the Present Day.

This edition appends 10 illustrated lore studies to the 263-page Complete Visual Archive v15. Each scene distinguishes established historical facts from illustrative reconstruction or unapproved narrative proposals. The images are individually cropped from newly generated ink-style concept boards; they are not independently rendered, full-resolution originals.

CELESTIAL ERA Mortal transcendence and the price of recognition	DEEP HISTORY Saurai autonomy, Kynari routes and Veil thresholds
POST-AHK RA Survivor records, contested lineages and borders	PRESENT DAY Yahia and the Sun-Moon inheritance

Continuity rule: The whispering woman is never depicted. Aethernox is the Hidden Hand / Veil warden, distinct from the Gatewarden. The War in Heaven precedes mortal cultures; the public Blessing of Passage is later than first covert contact.

CHRONOLOGICAL INDEX & CHANGELOG

Archive pages 264-275 / Supplement 15 / Version 16

266 The Question That Broke Heaven — Celestial Era — canon premise / reconstructed staging

267 The Recognized and the Bound — Celestial Era — proposal

268 The Unbranded Dragon Blood — Deep History — proposed visual event

269 The Winter Route That Was Never Mapped — Deep History — proposal

270 The Tide-Locked Threshold — Deep History — proposal

271 The Seventh City's Unfinished Census — Deep History — canon event / proposed staging

272 The Annals That No House Could Own — Post-Ahk Ra — proposal

273 The Table of Unsigned Borders — Post-Ahk Ra — proposal

274 The Heir Who Counted Survivors — Present Day — established character beat

275 The Two Clocks of House Arakual — Present Day — canon inheritance / art study

CHANGELOG Added ten individually cropped concept illustrations and ten detailed six-part lore explanations; included era, participants, cause, consequence, future connection and explicit canon status on each page.

INTEGRITY The 263-page v15 master is inserted unchanged into a separately saved v16 PDF; this supplement occupies pages 264-275. No original attachment was edited in place.

EDITORIAL HOLDS No new historical dates, house genealogies, celestial Mandates, official treaties or manuscript changes are approved by this update.

266 / THE QUESTION THAT BROKE HEAVEN

CELESTIAL ERA / EARLY CONTACT | CANON PREMISE - ILLUSTRATIVE STAGING

VISUAL STUDY Ink-style historical concept, cropped from a newly generated contact sheet. The staging is illustrative, not photographic evidence of a specific recorded event.

WHAT HAPPENED Elohim observers confront evidence that mortal Anima can grow beyond the limits they expected. This image represents the discovery, not a newly approved formal council.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Early Elohim, mortal witnesses and the first celestial envoys; no specific officeholders are assigned.

CAUSE First contact reveals the possibility of mortal transcendence and challenges assumptions about celestial authority.

CONSEQUENCES A dispute over guidance, control and freedom contributes to the War in Heaven, which begins long before later mortal cultures develop.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS The divide underlies the covert contact of Book I, the public Blessing of Passage in Book II, and the later question of who may grant or withhold power.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: Do not treat the pictured gathering, its architecture or its participants as a documented meeting.

267 / THE RECOGNIZED AND THE BOUND

CELESTIAL ERA / CONTRACT EXPERIMENTS | PROPOSAL - COMPOSITE RITUAL SCENE

VISUAL STUDY Ink-style historical concept, cropped from a newly generated contact sheet. The staging is illustrative, not photographic evidence of a specific recorded event.

WHAT HAPPENED A Sentinel confronts a coercive binding performed under celestial authority. The depicted confrontation is proposed; coercive possession and artificial Sentinel creation are established mechanisms.

WHO WAS INVOLVED An unnamed Sentinel, a mortal subject and unidentified celestial officiants; these are composite figures, not named canon characters.

CAUSE Some powers attempt to manufacture obedience through ritual, possession and blood oaths rather than consent.

CONSEQUENCES A single contract can bind a life and may require death to break; experimentation also feeds later instability and distrust.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS Clarifies that Blessing means power given, Sentinel means power recognized, and Birthright means power inherited; none alone defines contractual obligations.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: No specific Sentinel rebellion or date is approved by this illustration.

268 / THE UNBRANDED DRAGON BLOOD

DEEP HISTORY / SAURAI RESISTANCE | CANON THEME - PROPOSED VISUAL EVENT

VISUAL STUDY Ink-style historical concept, cropped from a newly generated contact sheet. The staging is illustrative, not photographic evidence of a specific recorded event.

WHAT HAPPENED A Saurai defender stands against a celestial demand for control of dragon-blood peoples. This particular standoff is a visual proposal.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Dragon-blood Saurai, their own dragon kin, celestial claimants and allied free peoples.

CAUSE Ownership-seeking Elohim attempt to treat dragons and Saurai inheritance as property; outsiders cannot tame dragons as Saurai blood can.

CONSEQUENCES Saurai resistance makes the conflict over autonomy impossible to disguise as mere administration.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS Their stand helps divide the Elohim between ownership and freedom, shaping the Great Shift, the War of Ascension and Ahk Ra's alliances.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: The warrior, banners and battlefield are not new named canon.

269 / THE WINTER ROUTE THAT WAS NEVER MAPPED

DEEP HISTORY / KYNARI DIASPORA | PROPOSAL - MIGRATION EPISODE

VISUAL STUDY Ink-style historical concept, cropped from a newly generated contact sheet. The staging is illustrative, not photographic evidence of a specific recorded event.

WHAT HAPPENED A beastfolk Kynari scout guides families across a winter pass while documenting safe crossings. The exact route and expedition are unconfirmed.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Kynari clans, displaced families, possible Nomad precursors and sympathetic travelers.

CAUSE Conflict, land seizures and celestial experimentation threaten the independence of beastfolk communities.

CONSEQUENCES If adopted, the route could become a chain of shelters and cultural exchanges, without implying a single origin for all Kynari peoples.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS Offers a possible ancestral thread for Kynari representation within the later Nomad Alliance and its mixed communities.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: Kynari are beastfolk people, not domesticated beasts. No migration date or specific clan is canonized.

270 / THE TIDE-LOCKED THRESHOLD

DEEP HISTORY / VEIL CURRENTS | PROPOSAL - UNCHARTED GATE

VISUAL STUDY Ink-style historical concept, cropped from a newly generated contact sheet. The staging is illustrative, not photographic evidence of a specific recorded event.

WHAT HAPPENED Explorers approach a submerged, key-shaped Veil gate. The gate is an imagined site, used to study how permission and realm-crossing might interact.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Unidentified travelers and Veil wardens; Aethernox is relevant as the hidden Veil warden, but need not be physically present.

CAUSE The Veil contains crossings that are not equivalent to freely open doors; unauthorized passage can destabilize both traveler and threshold.

CONSEQUENCES A failed attempt might strand people or trigger an anomaly, while a permitted crossing could preserve the balance.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS Extends the door/permission motif around Aethernox and Gingey; the Gatewarden remains a separate being.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: Neither the underwater location nor the key design is approved as canon.

271 / THE SEVENTH CITY'S UNFINISHED CENSUS

DEEP HISTORY / AHK RA'S CAMPAIGN | CANON ATROCITY - PROPOSED AFTERMATH SCENE

VISUAL STUDY Ink-style historical concept, cropped from a newly generated contact sheet. The staging is illustrative, not photographic evidence of a specific recorded event.

WHAT HAPPENED Survivors attempt to count the missing after the seventh city is razed. Ahk Ra's destruction of seven cities is established; the specific census is proposed.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Displaced civilians, defenders, healers, Kynari witnesses and unnamed archivists; Ahk Ra is responsible for the devastation.

CAUSE Ahk Ra's accumulation of power, escalating violence and moral collapse follow earlier persecution but are not excused by it.

CONSEQUENCES Mass death, lost histories and lasting fear reshape the political landscape and the response to Sun-and-Ash convergence.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS The Gilded Jackals adopt the prohibition "Never allow Sun + Ash"; later houses inherit both the scars and distorted records.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: The ruins and survivor figures are illustrative; no new atrocity, death toll or chronology is added.

272 / THE ANNALS THAT NO HOUSE COULD OWN

POST-AHK RA / CONTESTED LINEAGES | PROPOSAL - IN-WORLD ARCHIVE

VISUAL STUDY Ink-style historical concept, cropped from a newly generated contact sheet. The staging is illustrative, not photographic evidence of a specific recorded event.

WHAT HAPPENED Hooded record-keepers compare lineage fragments and disputed relic inventories while rival houses try to control access. This is a proposed in-world analogue, not the author's actual Black Annals ledger.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Unnamed Black House archivists, competing bloodlines and possible neutral witnesses.

CAUSE Ahk Ra's death leaves power vacuums, destroyed records, dangerous artifacts and competing claims to inheritance.

CONSEQUENCES Selective preservation could protect families, but falsified genealogies might become weapons of persecution.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS Mirrors the long blood-trail from Ara'Kai through Ahk Ra and Khari to Riven, without adding new ancestors or Mandates.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: No secret organization, particular document or new family relationship is canonized.

273 / THE TABLE OF UNSIGNED BORDERS

POST-AHK RA / HOUSE CONFLICTS | PROPOSAL - DIPLOMATIC CONFRONTATION

VISUAL STUDY Ink-style historical concept, cropped from a newly generated contact sheet. The staging is illustrative, not photographic evidence of a specific recorded event.

WHAT HAPPENED Delegates gather around a damaged map to negotiate passage, relic custody and contested boundaries after Ahk Ra's fall.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Representatives of rival Black Houses, possible Nomad mediators, and observers from Kynari and Saurai communities.

CAUSE The collapse of a feared central power creates disputed territory and incentives for covert retaliation.

CONSEQUENCES Even a temporary truce could produce protected corridors while leaving deeper conflicts unresolved.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS These pressures explain the centuries of house rivalries and political fractures inherited by the present-day cast.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: No specific treaty, delegation list, date or permanent territorial settlement is approved.

274 / THE HEIR WHO COUNTED SURVIVORS

PRESENT DAY / FROST FANG | ESTABLISHED CHARACTER BEAT - ART STUDY

VISUAL STUDY Ink-style historical concept, cropped from a newly generated contact sheet. The staging is illustrative, not photographic evidence of a specific recorded event.

WHAT HAPPENED Yahia Yukimura's first public act as Frost Fang heir honors the southern-border survivors rather than celebrating conquest.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Yahia, the Frost Fang clan, the wounded and displaced, his retainers and local communities.

CAUSE A man-made stampede and raiding devastated the border, while betrayal and concealed truths fractured trust within the clan.

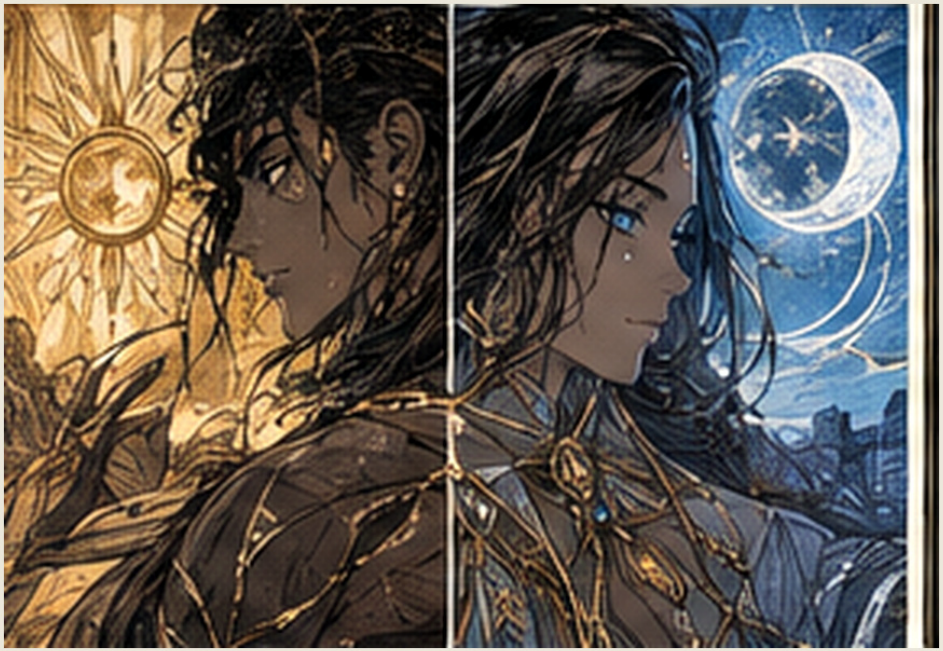
CONSEQUENCES Yahia begins rebuilding legitimacy through service and protection, even as hidden loyalties threaten his rule.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS This grounds the Frost Reaper's path, his effort to restore older clan traditions, and future alliances beyond the tundra.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: Eye canon: Yahia's right eye is purple and left eye blue; wrath turns only the right eye red. The drawing is an exploratory likeness.

275 / THE TWO CLOCKS OF HOUSE ARAKUAL

PRESENT DAY / ECLIPSE BLOODLINE | ESTABLISHED INHERITANCE - ILLUSTRATIVE STUDY



VISUAL STUDY Ink-style historical concept, cropped from a newly generated contact sheet. The staging is illustrative, not photographic evidence of a specific recorded event.

WHAT HAPPENED A symbolic split portrait explores the Sun and Moon cycles governing Khari and Amara's inherited powers. It is not a newly established shared vision or dated scene.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Khari of the Solar Throne, Amara of the Ashen Veil, and their descendant Riven of House Arakual.

CAUSE Two lineages with distinct solar and lunar cycles converge through family rather than through a new primordial Mandate.

CONSEQUENCES Their complementary inheritance can change in expression over time, drawing scrutiny toward Riven and his Eclipse potential.

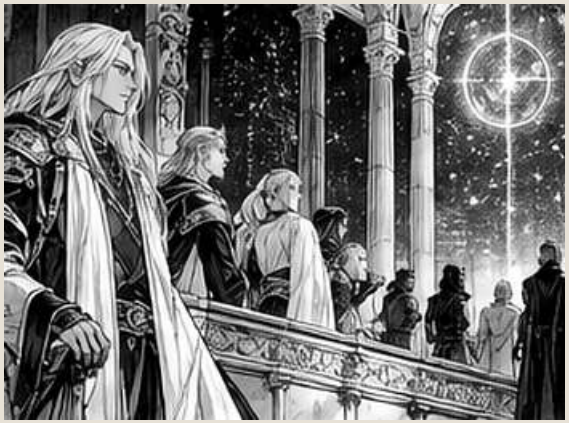
CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS Preserves the Ara'Kai to Ahk Ra to Khari to Riven line and foreshadows the struggle to end coercive celestial contracts.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: The image does not confirm Riven has mastered every inherited ability or that any specific eclipse occurred.

SUPPLEMENT 16 / ARCHIVE UPDATE 17

THE WITNESSES & THE UNBOUND

Ten new illustrated studies, from the first celestial questions to the names preserved in the present day.



WHAT THIS EDITION ADDS

10 new distinct ink studies with era, participants, cause, consequence, later connections, and a visible canon/proposal designation.

Subjects include Elohim, Sentinels, Kynari beastfolk, Saurai dragon-blood, the seven cities, Veil thresholds, the Gilded Jackals, Black Houses, Yahia, and Scribs.

ARCHIVE INTEGRITY

Previous master: v16, 275 pages. This 12-page supplement occupies archive pages 276-287; merged v17 totals 287 pages.

All proposed ceremonies, expeditions, and documents remain proposals. No ancient dates, new family links, manuscript revisions, or depictions of the whispering woman.

CHRONOLOGICAL INDEX & CHANGELOG

Supplement pages 1-12 correspond to master archive pages 276-287. Entries are sorted by historical era, not by invented absolute dates.

ARCHIVE	ERA	STUDY	CONTINUITY
278	CELESTIAL ERA	The First Unanswered Question	CANON BASIS
279	CELESTIAL ERA	The Seal No One Could Require	PROPOSAL
280	DEEP HISTORY	The Snow Road Of Many Kin	PROPOSAL
281	DEEP HISTORY	The Dragon Refuses The Bridle	CANON BASIS
282	DEEP HISTORY	The Seventh City Had Witnesses	CANON BASIS
283	DEEP HISTORY	The Gate That Asked Twice	PROPOSAL
284	POST-AHK RA	The Jackals' First Warning	MIXED
285	POST-AHK RA	The Annals Of Unburned Names	PROPOSAL
286	PRESENT DAY	The Heir Who Counted The Living	CANON BASIS
287	PRESENT DAY	The Thirteenth Entry, Copied	CANON BASIS

CHANGELOG / VERSION 17

+12 pages: cover and update notes (p. 276); index and changelog (p. 277); ten illustrated entries (pp. 278-287). Preserved: all 275 pages of v16 in a newly merged PDF, without editing the original.

Continuity control: known events and principles are separated from invented staging. “Proposal” means not approved canon; “canon premise” means only the stated foundation is established. Illustrations are exploratory cropped concept studies, not final character sheets.

Historical order: first contact and celestial schism precede later mortal cultures; the Ahk Ra catastrophe precedes post-Ahk Ra house conflicts; Present Day follows. No fabricated BS/AS conversions.

278 / THE FIRST UNANSWERED QUESTION

CELESTIAL ERA / FIRST CONTACT | CANON PREMISE - RECONSTRUCTED STAGING

VISUAL STUDY / Newly generated rough manga-seinen concept crop; figure identities and architectural details are not automatically canonical.

WHAT HAPPENED The Elohim discover that mortals can develop beyond the limits celestial observers assumed. The pictured assembly is an interpretive composition, not a documented council.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Early Elohim observers, unnamed mortal witnesses, and possible envoys; no individual identity is assigned by this study.

CAUSE First contact exposes the possibility of mortal transcendence, unsettling claims that heaven alone can determine the limits of power.

CONSEQUENCES The discovery contributes to the celestial schism and the War in Heaven. The initial outbreak belongs to deep antiquity, before later mortal cultures and written legal codes.

CONNECTIONS The division reverberates through the covert contacts of Book I, the public Blessing of Passage in Book II, and later disputes over freedom versus ownership.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: The architecture, figures, and meeting shown here are visual interpretation. Do not infer an approved treaty, a dated first assembly, or named celestial attendees.

279 / THE SEAL NO ONE COULD REQUIRE

CELESTIAL ERA / SENTINEL ETHICS | PROPOSAL - NOT APPROVED CANON

VISUAL STUDY / Newly generated rough manga-seinen concept crop; figure identities and architectural details are not automatically canonical.

WHAT HAPPENED PROPOSAL: An unnamed Sentinel challenges a directive that would make mortal passage dependent on a coercive oath. The scene dramatizes an ideological fault line, not an attested incident.

WHO WAS INVOLVED A hypothetical Sentinel, unnamed Elohim officials, and mortal representatives. No established Sentinel is identified or reassigned.

CAUSE Conflicting interpretations of guardianship, free will, and the authority to impose contracts on living peoples.

CONSEQUENCES PROPOSED: The objection is recorded but not adopted, leaving unresolved whether recognition of power can be mistaken for ownership of its bearer.

CONNECTIONS The ethical problem foreshadows the series distinction between Blessing (given), Sentinel (recognized), and Birthright (inherited), and the eventual demand for voluntary agreements.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: No formal law, oath, punishment, first dissent, or new celestial rank is canonized. This is a philosophical reconstruction only.

280 / THE SNOW ROAD OF MANY KIN

DEEP HISTORY / DISPLACEMENT | PROPOSAL - NOT APPROVED CANON

VISUAL STUDY / Newly generated rough manga-seinen concept crop; figure identities and architectural details are not automatically canonical.

WHAT HAPPENED PROPOSAL: Kynari beastfolk guide a mixed refugee caravan across an exposed mountain pass while Saurai outriders scout for danger. Families carry supplies and names, not conquered banners.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Unnamed Kynari clans, displaced humans, and volunteer Saurai escorts. No invented ancestral tie to present-day cast members is asserted.

CAUSE Territorial pressure, raiding, and the disruption of safe roads during the long struggles between mortal powers and celestial interference.

CONSEQUENCES PROPOSED: The convoy survives through cooperation rather than forced loyalty; some groups separate afterward, leaving only partial accounts of the route.

CONNECTIONS A possible precedent for the Nomad Alliance's later multi-people ethos and for fragmented Kynari migration traditions.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: The route, escort arrangement, and caravan are proposals. Kynari are beastfolk; Saurai are dragon-blood free folk, not a Kynari subcategory.

281 / THE DRAGON REFUSES THE BRIDLE

DEEP HISTORY / SAURAI RESISTANCE | CANON PRINCIPLE - RECONSTRUCTED STAGING

VISUAL STUDY / Newly generated rough manga-seinen concept crop; figure identities and architectural details are not automatically canonical.

WHAT HAPPENED A symbolic Saurai stand rejects celestial claims of dominion over dragon blood. A dragon towers beyond the soldiers, emphasizing kinship and freedom rather than domestication by outsiders.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Dragon-blood Saurai communities, an unnamed dragon, and opposing celestial agents; the combatants and exact battle are not established.

CAUSE Ownership-seeking powers attempt to turn Saurai lineages and dragons into instruments of command.

CONSEQUENCES Saurai defiance becomes a pivotal moral dividing line in the larger wars; dragons cannot be tamed by outsiders, only through their own blood.

CONNECTIONS The resistance helps clarify the schism between possessive Elohim and those who defend mortal freedom, including the pro-freedom Elohim and the Halo Engine.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: The freedom principle is established; the depicted duel, dragon design, terrain, and timing are illustrative, not a new battle in the chronology.

282 / THE SEVENTH CITY HAD WITNESSES

DEEP HISTORY / AHK RA'S FALL | CANON EVENT - RECONSTRUCTED AFTERMATH

VISUAL STUDY / Newly generated rough manga-seinen concept crop; figure identities and architectural details are not automatically canonical.

WHAT HAPPENED After the seventh city is razed, survivors search shattered streets for missing relatives and the names of the dead. This image studies the human cost, not the conqueror's spectacle.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Ahk Ra's victims, displaced civilians, surviving local defenders, and later witnesses. The pictured people are unnamed composites.

CAUSE Ahk Ra's increasing hunger for power, betrayal of former allies, and atrocities during his campaign. Persecution for his birthright does not absolve his choices.

CONSEQUENCES Seven cities are destroyed; survivors and descendants inherit trauma, distrust, and contested records.

CONNECTIONS The devastation informs the Gilded Jackals' founding prohibition against Sun-and-Ash convergence and the fear that later shadows the Eclipse bloodline leading to Riven.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: Seven razed cities and the prohibition are established; no city name, exact date, casualty count, or individual survivor is newly asserted.

283 / THE GATE THAT ASKED TWICE

DEEP HISTORY / VEIL THRESHOLDS | PROPOSAL - NOT APPROVED CANON

VISUAL STUDY / Newly generated rough manga-seinen concept crop; figure identities and architectural details are not automatically canonical.

WHAT HAPPENED PROPOSAL: An expedition reaches a ruined Veil gate whose apparent keyhole opens onto a threshold but grants no passage. The travelers learn that possession of a key is not identical to permission.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Unnamed explorers, possible Sentinel observers, and the unseen jurisdiction of Aethernox, warden of the Veil. Aethernox is not shown or newly located.

CAUSE Lost crossings and attempts to enter realms without understanding the Veil's rules.

CONSEQUENCES PROPOSED: The party withdraws; their incomplete account becomes a cautionary tale about unlawful crossing and uncertain relic mechanisms.

CONNECTIONS The door-and-permission motif connects to Aethernox's hidden guardianship, Gingey's history, and later arguments about consent and celestial contracts.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: No specific key, gate name, portal mechanics, or historical expedition is canonized. The gate is a design proposal.

284 / THE JACKALS' FIRST WARNING

POST-AHK RA / HOUSE CONFLICTS | CANON CREED - PROPOSED CEREMONY

VISUAL STUDY / Newly generated rough manga-seinen concept crop; figure identities and architectural details are not automatically canonical.

WHAT HAPPENED PROPOSED STAGING: A clandestine gathering of future Gilded Jackals marks a warning over a ruined map: never allow Sun and Ash to converge unchecked again.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Unnamed organizers and survivors associated with the Gilded Jackals; rival house observers in the artwork are symbolic, not confirmed attendees.

CAUSE The devastation of Ahk Ra's seven cities and fear that a future Walking Star or Eclipse Sovereign might repeat it.

CONSEQUENCES The established prohibition hardens into a lasting factional mission, but its earliest ceremony and internal procedures remain unrecorded.

CONNECTIONS The creed affects later house surveillance, ancestral secrecy, and the political pressure surrounding Khari, Amara, and Riven of House Arakual.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: The founding motive is canon. This meeting, its participants, location, and oath wording are proposals, not a newly approved founding chapter.

285 / THE ANNALS OF UNBURNED NAMES

POST-AHK RA / BLACK HOUSES | PROPOSAL - NOT APPROVED CANON

VISUAL STUDY / Newly generated rough manga-seinen concept crop; figure identities and architectural details are not automatically canonical.

WHAT HAPPENED PROPOSAL: Record-keepers from rival houses compare surviving family rolls after confiscations and war. They refuse to erase adopted kin and displaced descendants merely because bloodlines are disputed.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Unnamed Black House archivists, a Kynari witness, and independent scribes. No specific family genealogy or marriage is created.

CAUSE Post-Ahk Ra struggles over inheritance, relics, and the right to define who belongs to a house.

CONSEQUENCES PROPOSED: Copies of conflicting records are dispersed rather than entrusted to a single claimant, preserving contradictions for later generations.

CONNECTIONS A possible in-world analogue to the author's Black Annals ancestral research ledger, and a bridge to later family-tree investigations and the Nomad Alliance.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: The author's Black Annals ledger is an editorial planning artifact; an in-world archive of this form is NOT established canon.

286 / THE HEIR WHO COUNTED THE LIVING

PRESENT DAY / FROST FANG | CANON BEAT - RECONSTRUCTED STAGING

VISUAL STUDY / Newly generated rough manga-seinen concept crop; figure identities and architectural details are not automatically canonical.

WHAT HAPPENED Yahia Yukimura's first public act as Frost Fang heir centers survivors of the southern-border tragedy rather than a military victory. His restraint makes the memorial a statement of duty.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Yahia, southern-border survivors, Frost Fang retainers, and affected families. The background figures are illustrative, not named characters.

CAUSE A man-made stampede and raiding inflicted harm on border communities; the family's silence and withheld truths deepen Yahia's burden.

CONSEQUENCES The heir's authority becomes inseparable from protecting the living and restoring older clan traditions, not celebrating conquest.

CONNECTIONS His controlled grief and Ice Drake inheritance shape the Frost Reaper arc; Amelia's white-lotus healing path can later intersect with his duty.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: Yahia's natural eyes are right purple and left blue from his perspective; his wrathful right eye turns red. No unnamed survivor or retainer is newly identified.

287 / THE THIRTEENTH ENTRY, COPIED

PRESENT DAY / VOLUME ONE, CH. 10 | CANON TEXT BEAT - SYMBOLIC COMPOSITION

VISUAL STUDY / Newly generated rough manga-seinen concept crop; figure identities and architectural details are not automatically canonical.

WHAT HAPPENED At a temporary clinic, Scribs keeps a sealed satchel containing the anomalous ledger away from children and begins copying its writing onto separate paper. The art uses an archival-table metaphor, not the literal clinic corridor.

WHO WAS INVOLVED Scribs, clinic staff, and the ledger. Other figures in the illustration are anonymous symbolic witnesses, not a confirmed scene roster.

CAUSE The ledger's disturbing behavior makes direct proximity and handling a concern; copying preserves information without treating the object as trustworthy.

CONSEQUENCES The copy creates evidence while leaving the nature and intent of the thirteenth entry unresolved.

CONNECTIONS The episode resonates with Anima's memory, the difference between names and lives, and the wider Veil themes of permission and forbidden access.

CONTINUITY GUARDRAIL: Do not invent the thirteenth entry's contents, a new victim, or a resolved explanation. The artwork is deliberately nonliteral.

SUPPLEMENT 17 / THE UNOWNED RECORD

TWILIGHT ORDER
Living Atlas - Update 17

Ten new illustrated studies across the Celestial Era, Deep History, the post-Ahk Ra house conflicts and Present Day.

Edition: v18 | Master pages: 1-299 | Previous pages preserved: 1-287 | New: 288-299

Continuity rule: Existing canon is the framework; reconstructed staging and new incidents are explicitly marked. No new historical dates, family links, celestial Mandates or manuscript edits are introduced. The whispering woman is not illustrated.

CHRONOLOGICAL INDEX & CHANGELOG

Index is ordered by in-world sequence where possible; historical dates remain intentionally unassigned. The entry pages themselves run 290-299.

CHANGELOG - VERSION 18

Preserved: All 287 pages of v17 are copied into a new merged PDF without modifying the original. Added: Two editorial pages (288-289) and ten illustrated entries (290-299). Artwork: Ten new ink-style concept panels, individually extracted from a newly generated illustrated board; they are not standalone high-resolution renders. Chronology: No invented absolute dates or chronology conversions.

Editorial caution: The first celestial encounter is not the later public Blessing of Passage. Ahk Ra's suffering never excuses his destruction of the seven cities. Saurai and Kynari histories remain equally significant. The intended future end of coerced contracts is not presented as an event already reached in Books I-XI.

290 / THE OPEN HAND, THE CLOSED FIST

CELESTIAL ERA - FIRST CONTACT | CANON PREMISE / SYMBOLIC STAGING

WHAT HAPPENED
Elohim first encountered mortal realms and discovered that mortals could transcend limits the heavens had assumed were fixed. This discovery ultimately triggered the War in Heaven; the pictured assembly is a symbolic compression, not a documented council.

WHO WAS INVOLVED
Early Elohim observers, mortal peoples and the first intermediaries. The specific gathering and faces shown are unconfirmed.

CAUSES
Mortal adaptation and transcendence challenged celestial assumptions about authority, passage and who could define a living being's future.

CONSEQUENCES
Some Elohim moved toward guidance or freedom; others toward supervision and ownership. The first outbreak of heavenly conflict belongs to an age before later mortal legal codes and cultures.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS
The covert contact of Book I precedes the public Blessing of Passage in Book II. Blessing (given), Sentinel (recognized) and Birthright (inherited) must remain distinct categories.

CONTINUITY NOTE
The architecture is a visual metaphor. No named Elohim, new Mandate, meeting date or formal treaty is established.

291 / THE KYNARI OATHROAD

DEEP HISTORY - DISPLACED COMMUNITIES | PROPOSAL - UNAPPROVED

WHAT HAPPENED
A proposed beastfolk Kynari convoy escorts families through a mountain pass while refusing a toll demanded by armed claimants. Scouts use old trail markers rather than a celestial safe-conduct.

WHO WAS INVOLVED
Unnamed Kynari clans, human refugees and possible Saurai guides. No named ancestor or modern official is asserted to have attended.

CAUSES
A proposed combination of territorial seizure, damaged roads and pressure from competing houses forces communities away from familiar settlements.

CONSEQUENCES
If adopted, the passage could establish mutual-aid customs, temporary sanctuaries and a surviving route known to later nomadic researchers.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS
Offers a possible cultural antecedent for modern Kynari communities and the Nomad Alliance, without claiming that its present-day fifteen officials existed in Deep History.

CONTINUITY NOTE
Entire encounter, location, oath and migration route are proposals. Kynari remain beastfolk, not an interchangeable human culture.

292 / SAURAI AND THE UNOWNED SKY

DEEP HISTORY - DRAGON-BLOOD FREEDOM | CANON PRINCIPLE / PROPOSED BATTLE

WHAT HAPPENED
Dragon-blood Saurai stand with dragon kin against an attempted claim of ownership. The drawn clash is an illustrative battlefield, not a newly approved historical battle.

WHO WAS INVOLVED
Free Saurai defenders, their dragon kin, allied mortals and unidentified forces seeking celestial control.

CAUSES
Coercive blood oaths and contracts attempted to reduce beings with their own agency to inheritable property or instruments of power.

CONSEQUENCES
Saurai resistance exposed the moral divide between celestial guardianship and celestial entitlement. Their defiance is pivotal, not secondary to Kynari history.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS
The Saurai stand helps clarify the War of Ascension and the divide between ownership-seeking Elohim and pro-mortal-freedom factions. Dragons are not tamable by outsiders; kinship through their own blood matters.

CONTINUITY NOTE
No named dragon, freehold, location or military victory is canonized by this illustration.

293 / THE NAMES AFTER THE SEVENTH FIRE

DEEP HISTORY - AHK RA'S SEVEN CITIES | CANON EVENT / RECONSTRUCTED AFTERMATH

WHAT HAPPENED

After Ahk Ra razed seven cities, survivors emerged among ruined archives, broken homes and extinguished shrines. This image focuses on witnesses and loss rather than a triumphant conqueror.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Surviving civilians, unnamed defenders, displaced families and the forces whose actions produced the devastation. The depicted procession is illustrative.

CAUSES

Ahk Ra's persecution and fear of his inherited power do not absolve his later atrocities. His greed, betrayals and misuse of convergent Sun and Ash power demand separate accountability.

CONSEQUENCES

Seven destroyed cities became a lasting wound: cultural records were lost, communities scattered and the memory of unchecked convergence hardened into prohibition.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

The trauma informs the Gilded Jackals' creed and the post-Ahk Ra conflicts over memory, power and responsibility. It also shadows the Eclipse line leading through Khari to Riven.

CONTINUITY NOTE

The destruction is established; specific ruins, witnesses, archival practices and this exact moment are reconstructed, not new canon.

294 / THE JACKAL PROHIBITION

DEEP HISTORY / POST-AHK RA TRANSITION | CANON CREED / PROPOSED RITUAL

WHAT HAPPENED
Masked Gilded Jackal custodians contemplate a Sun-and-Ash diagram beneath a sealed arch. Their founding imperative is preserved here: never allow Sun and Ash to converge unchecked.

WHO WAS INVOLVED
Early Gilded Jackals and possible keepers of records. The number of custodians, their masks and the depicted chamber are visual proposals.

CAUSES
The devastation associated with Ahk Ra and the feared Walking Star / Eclipse Sovereign prophecy made the convergence of powers a political and religious danger.

CONSEQUENCES
A prohibition became an organizing belief, capable of protecting people from catastrophe but also inviting secrecy, persecution and distorted histories.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS
Their legacy influences later antagonistic networks and the struggle over House Arakual's Eclipse ancestry. The founding date relative to Ahk Ra's death remains unspecified.

CONTINUITY NOTE
Do not infer a new order hierarchy, a particular relic, or a completed ritual from this scene.

295 / THE VEIL CURRENT AT LOW TIDE

DEEP HISTORY - THE VEIL | PROPOSAL - UNAPPROVED

WHAT HAPPENED
Explorers approach a gate whose luminous current appears to react to intent rather than force. The gate is imagined as a question of permission, not a prize to be seized.

WHO WAS INVOLVED
Unnamed travelers, possible Sentinel observers and Aethernox as the Veil's hidden warden (not necessarily physically present in the image).

CAUSES
Repeated attempts to cross between realms, some unauthorized, create a need to distinguish safe passage from trespass and exploitation.

CONSEQUENCES
If adopted, the discovery might produce a failed crossing, a negotiated retreat or a warning recorded in a nomadic research scroll. None is yet established.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS
The door-and-permission motif echoes Aethernox's pivotal role, Gingey's origin and the eventual effort to end coercive contracts without destroying safe realm infrastructure.

CONTINUITY NOTE
Gate design, location, key mechanics and incident are proposed. The whispering woman is neither present nor depicted.

296 / THE SENTINEL WHO HESITATED

CELESTIAL ERA - SCHISM | PROPOSAL - UNAPPROVED

WHAT HAPPENED
An unnamed Sentinel pauses before enforcing a binding command, recognizing the mortal person on the other side of the order as more than a vessel or instrument.

WHO WAS INVOLVED
An unidentified Sentinel, a mortal subject and unseen celestial superiors. No existing named Sentinel is assigned this act.

CAUSES
Contracts imposed through rituals, blood oaths, possession or artificial Sentinels could deny meaningful consent; some bindings are so severe that death may be required to break them.

CONSEQUENCES
The imagined hesitation offers a personal scale for the wider split within the Elohim. Whether the Sentinel disobeys, negotiates or fails is deliberately unresolved.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS
It foreshadows later covert aid by four elemental Elohim and eight Sentinel agents using aliases, while revealing none of their identities or the identities of the principal pro-freedom Elohim.

CONTINUITY NOTE
The choice and any disciplinary result remain proposals. Sentinel status recognizes power; it does not automatically mean power was bestowed.

297 / THE RED AUTUMN TABLE

POST-AHK RA - HOUSE CONFLICTS | PROPOSAL - UNAPPROVED

WHAT HAPPENED
Representatives of rival Black Houses debate custody of surviving maps, ancestral records and disputed border corridors after Ahk Ra's fall. The illustration imagines negotiation instead of another battlefield.

WHO WAS INVOLVED
Unspecified house envoys, neutral witnesses and possible nomadic observers. No modern character or exact founder is assigned to the table.

CAUSES
Power vacuums, inherited grievances and competing claims to the remnants of Sun-and-Ash history outlived the Walking Star himself.

CONSEQUENCES
The proposed talks might produce a short-lived safe corridor, contested archives or a failed truce. None is treated as a signed historical accord.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS
The scene could connect the Black Annals ancestral ledger to later family rivalries and the emergence of hidden political and religious groups in Books X-XI.

CONTINUITY NOTE
"Red Autumn" is an illustrative scene title only; no new canonical summit, house roster, treaty or date is approved.

298 / THE THIRTEENTH ENTRY, COPIED

PRESENT DAY - VOLUME ONE, CHAPTER TEN | CANON TEXT BEAT / SYMBOLIC ART

WHAT HAPPENED

At the temporary clinic, the ledger is kept out of the children's room. Scribs sets its sealed satchel on an examination trolley in the corridor and copies the new writing without touching the source.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Scribs, clinic staff, the children protected from the ledger and the unknown force responsible for the entry. The portrait is a symbolic sketch, not a locked character likeness.

CAUSES

The ledger's unexplained writing and the danger of bringing it near vulnerable patients require careful separation of evidence from exposure.

CONSEQUENCES

The copied text becomes an accountable record while the original remains contained; the mystery persists without a premature explanation of its agency.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

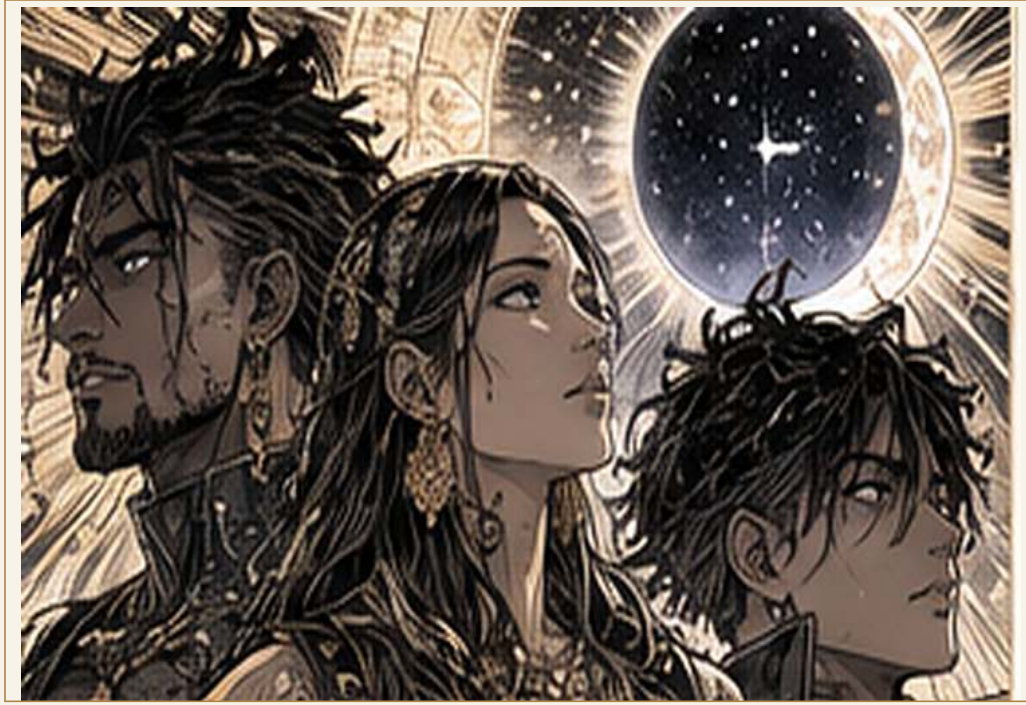
This moment supports the contemporary light-novel continuity and the wider theme that names, entries and records may preserve traces of lives across the Veil.

CONTINUITY NOTE

Do not add the whispering woman, reveal the writer of the entry or imply that Scribs touched the ledger. The scene is anchored to the Chapter Ten beat.

299 / TWO SKIES, ONE INHERITANCE

PRESENT DAY - HOUSE ARAKUAL | CANON LINEAGE / NONLITERAL COMPOSITE



WHAT HAPPENED
A symbolic composition joins Khari's solar lineage, Amara's lunar lineage and Riven's inherited Eclipse potential beneath opposing celestial cycles. It does not depict a literal family reunion.

WHO WAS INVOLVED
Khari of the Solar Throne, Amara of the Ashen Veil and their son Riven of House Arakual. The grouping is an allegorical family portrait.

CAUSES
The union of Sun and Moon lineages creates inherited powers that wax, wane and change with their respective cycles rather than remaining at constant intensity.

CONSEQUENCES
Riven inherits a living balance of forces, including the risks of inherited expectations and the possibility of choosing a different path from Ahk Ra.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS
The ancestral line remains Ara'Kai -> Ahk Ra -> Khari -> Riven. Riven's journey explores freedom, responsibility and the future termination of coerced celestial contracts.

CONTINUITY NOTE
No new ability, date, marriage detail or genealogical link is introduced. Riven's hair and weapon canon take priority over any concept-art ambiguity.

SUPPLEMENT 18 / HISTORICAL FAULT LINES

THE RIGHT TO REMAIN FREE

Celestial observation | Dragon-blood resistance | The houses after Ahk Ra

TEN NEW STUDIES / TEN CONTINUITY NOTES

This volume adds ten distinct hand-ink-inspired concept illustrations and evidence-conscious lore entries across the Celestial Era, Deep History, post-Ahk Ra house struggles, the Present Day, and the approved distant endpoint. The image compositions are concept studies cropped from a newly generated ten-panel board. Scenes labeled PROPOSAL are not manuscript events or author approvals.

PRESERVATION RECORD

299 prior pages + 12 new pages = 311 total pages / new entry pages 302-311

No new historical dates, contracts, genealogies, manuscript edits, or depicted whispering woman.

302 / THE BREAKER OF RULES WATCHES

CELESTIAL ERA - BEFORE THE PUBLIC BLESSING | CANON FRAMEWORK / PROPOSED COMPOSITION

WHAT HAPPENED

The Hallow Engine, oldest of the Elohim and known as the Breaker of Rules, is represented as a vast observing presence over early celestial architecture. Its neutrality and connection to Aethernox are established; this particular gathering, structure, and viewpoint are a symbolic proposal, not a recorded event.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

The Hallow Engine; unidentified Elohim and Sentinel observers; mortal figures shown only as a visual metaphor. No new named celestial beings are introduced.

CAUSES

Elohim contact with mortal realms exposed the possibility of mortal transcendence, challenging heavenly assumptions about authority and ownership.

CONSEQUENCES

That discovery precipitated the War in Heaven. The Hallow Engine's independent position complicates any simple division of celestial beings into obedient and rebellious camps.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

Aethernox's later role as Veil warden and Gingey's rebirth carry the door-and-permission motif forward. Covert first contact in Book I must remain distinct from the public Blessing of Passage in Book II.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL NOTE

Do not infer a literal council, a dated encounter, a new Mandate, or that the Hallow Engine approved coercive contracts.

303 / THE KYNARI TIDE-ROAD

DEEP HISTORY - DISPLACEMENT AND EXODUS | PROPOSAL - NOT CANON

WHAT HAPPENED

A proposed flotilla carries beastfolk Kynari families, elders, and young warriors away from a threatened coast. Their banners mark kinship rather than an imperial claim. The maritime route is a fresh visual hypothesis; no canonical Kynari fleet or named voyage has been established.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Kynari beastfolk of several clans, unnamed mortal navigators, displaced families, and a small number of voluntary allies. No new named houses or species are established.

CAUSES

Territorial pressure, expanding war, and forced displacement make overland refuge unsafe; communities choose collective flight rather than surrender.

CONSEQUENCES

If adopted later, the route could explain dispersed Kynari enclaves, mixed coastal settlements, and why some beastfolk communities distrust central powers.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

A possible ancestral echo for the Nomad Alliance's cross-cultural networks. This is not proof that the present-day Nomad Alliance existed during the depicted era.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL NOTE

Ship designs, location, participants, migration scale, and the outcome all remain author proposals.

304 / NO BRIDLE ON DRAGON BLOOD

DEEP HISTORY - SAURAI RESISTANCE | CANON PRINCIPLE / PROPOSED STANDOFF

WHAT HAPPENED

Saurai dragon-blood free folk confront celestial emissaries beneath a circling dragon. Their refusal of outside ownership is canon; the precise confrontation shown here is an unapproved visual reconstruction, not a newly established battle.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Saurai clan defenders, their dragon kin, unidentified Elohim-aligned enforcers, and allied mortals. Dragon bonds arise through their own blood and freedom, not outsiders' taming.

CAUSES

Attempts to impose binding contracts and claim dragon lineages as celestial property threatened Saurai autonomy.

CONSEQUENCES

Their resistance clarifies the central split between ownership and freedom and becomes pivotal to the celestial and later mortal conflicts.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

Saurai must remain as historically consequential as Kynari. Their example illuminates why pro-mortal-freedom Elohim diverged from possessive factions and why future agreements require consent.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL NOTE

No named Saurai commander, particular dragon, victory, or battlefield is canonized by this illustration.

305 / THE ASHEN VEIL'S UNSIGNED TERMS

POST-AHK RA - HOUSE CONFLICTS | PROPOSAL - NOT CANON

WHAT HAPPENED

At a tense negotiating table, representatives associated with the Ashen Veil and Solar Throne meet other surviving houses over routes, survivors, and disputed relics. The summit is an illustrative proposal, not a confirmed treaty or documented council.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Proposed Ashen Veil and Solar Throne delegates, neutral house witnesses, relief envoys, and representatives of communities harmed by Ahk Ra's campaign.

CAUSES

Ahk Ra's fall left a power vacuum and deep distrust after the destruction of seven cities. Houses disagreed over restitution, borders, and the treatment of Sun-and-Ash descendants.

CONSEQUENCES

A failed or incomplete accord could leave enclaves vulnerable, allow Black Houses to consolidate influence, and deepen the fear surrounding Eclipse inheritance.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

The eventual Ara'Kai and House Arakual lineage leads through Ahk Ra and Khari to Riven. This scene does not establish a new marriage, legal union, or territorial transfer.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL NOTE

No signatures, outcomes, formal titles, named participants, or dates are approved by this proposal.

306 / THE JACKALS' PROHIBITION

DEEP HISTORY TO POST-AHK RA - MEMORY AND CONTROL | CANON CREED / PROPOSED RECORDING SCENE

WHAT HAPPENED

The Gilded Jackals preserve a warning against the convergence of Sun and Ash: 'Never allow Sun + Ash.' Their creed and founding purpose are established. The depicted reading chamber and ceremonial record are artistic proposals.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Gilded Jackal members, anonymous archivists, and later interpreters of the seven-city catastrophe. No new founder is identified.

CAUSES

Ahk Ra's convergence and the devastation associated with the Walking Star persuaded the Jackals that a similar union must never recur.

CONSEQUENCES

A protective prohibition can harden into surveillance, persecution, or attempts to control descendants who bear an Eclipse inheritance.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

The creed helps explain hostility toward the bloodline Ara'Kai -> Ahk Ra -> Khari -> Riven. It must not erase Ahk Ra's own responsibility for atrocities or justify punishing innocent heirs.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL NOTE

The depicted ledger, initiation, room, and participants are unapproved visual inventions.

307 / THE LOW-TIDE VEIL CITY

DEEP HISTORY - VEIL GATES AND PERMISSION | PROPOSAL - NOT CANON

WHAT HAPPENED

A half-exposed city appears around a ring-shaped Veil gate during an unusual current. Travelers hesitate at the threshold while unseen rules determine whether passage is permitted. This particular location and tidal behavior are speculative.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unidentified explorers, a distant observer associated with Aethernox's guardianship, and possible Kynari and Saurai travelers. Aethernox's face is deliberately not shown.

CAUSES

Repeated illicit crossings and attempts to force forbidden doors make the difference between possessing a key and having permission critical.

CONSEQUENCES

Unauthorized entry could endanger travelers and nearby realms; a guarded passage could allow safe evacuation without treating the Veil as a resource to seize.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

Connects the permission motif to Aethernox as Hidden Hand and Veil warden, his distinctness from the Gatewarden, and Gingey's eventual path. No new Veil law is introduced.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL NOTE

The city, tide mechanism, architecture, and expedition are proposals; the warden's appearance remains intentionally ambiguous.

308 / A SENTINEL REFUSES THE ORDER

CELESTIAL ERA - CONTRACT SCHISM | PROPOSAL - NOT CANON

WHAT HAPPENED

An unnamed Sentinel hesitates when instructed to enforce a binding against a mortal. The scene visualizes the ethical split inside celestial authority, but no specific refusal, punishment, or named rebel is established.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

One unidentified Sentinel, celestial superiors, mortal petitioners, and silent witnesses. The image does not define the Sentinel's origin or contractual status.

CAUSES

Possession, ritual obligations, blood oaths, and artificial Sentinel bindings made some celestial commands coercive rather than voluntary.

CONSEQUENCES

The proposed hesitation suggests a possible opening for dissent, while the larger established schism grew from mortal transcendence and competing claims over freedom.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

Blessing means power given; Sentinel means status recognized; Birthright means inherited power. These categories must not be collapsed into the question of whether a binding is voluntary.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL NOTE

No identity, promotion, rebellion, sanction, or new celestial law is canonized here.

309 / THE FROST FANG COUNTS SURVIVORS

PRESENT DAY - YAHIA'S SOUTHERN BORDER | ESTABLISHED EVENT / ARTISTIC RECONSTRUCTION

WHAT HAPPENED

Yahia Yukimura visits people harmed by the man-made southern-border stampede and raids, honoring the living and the dead rather than celebrating military conquest. The emotional event is established; this precise arrangement of tents and bystanders is illustrative.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Yahia, Frost Fang retainers, local families, and border survivors. His partner Amelia is not required to be present in this depiction.

CAUSES

A manufactured disaster and predatory raiding exposed the failure of protection and left communities distrustful of authority.

CONSEQUENCES

Yahia's public service begins restoring trust while sharpening his burden as the youngest Fang and True Heir.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

His effort to recover neglected clan traditions and restrain the Ice Drake's wrath parallels the wider story's distinction between inherited power and chosen responsibility.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL NOTE

Yahia's natural right eye is purple and left eye blue; the red right Dragon Eye belongs only to wrathful transformation. No hidden culprit is revealed.

310 / RIVEN AT THE UNSIGNED CROSSROADS

PRESENT DAY - ECLIPSE INHERITANCE | PROPOSAL - NOT CANON

WHAT HAPPENED

Riven stands before a city under an eclipse, contemplating an ancestral burden without accepting anyone else's claim over his life. This is a symbolic crossroads, not a newly written manuscript chapter or a confirmed confrontation.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Riven of House Arakual; the remembered legacy of Khari and Amara. Tayocan (formerly Ixtli), Arelian, and the wider cast are possible later influences but are not asserted to appear in the image.

CAUSES

His inheritance converges Khari's solar cycle and Amara's lunar cycle, while the Eclipse bloodline carries the consequences of Ahk Ra's history.

CONSEQUENCES

The image frames a choice between repeating coercive ancestral patterns and building voluntary alliances while learning to control inherited power.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

The Ara'Kai -> Ahk Ra -> Khari -> Riven chain connects Deep History to the present. The future abolition of ancient contracts is an endpoint, not an event already reached in current volumes.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL NOTE

No new awakening, weapon stage, power technique, or plot resolution is established by this composition.

311 / A MORNING WITHOUT ANCIENT CHAINS

FUTURE ENDPOINT - BEYOND BOOKS I-XI | APPROVED ENDPOINT / PROPOSED VISUALIZATION

WHAT HAPPENED

Kynari, Saurai, mortals, and celestial beings look toward a rebuilt horizon after the eventual termination of all ancient celestial contracts. The endpoint is author-approved; the pictured gathering and skyline are symbolic, not a published ending scene.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Representatives of altered peoples, inherited-power lineages, Elohim, Sentinels, and independent communities. No new treaty signatories or named institutions are implied.

CAUSES

Centuries of coercion, possession, manipulation, and destructive obligations make inherited ownership morally and politically untenable.

CONSEQUENCES

New arrangements must be equal, informed, and voluntary; Anima, altered peoples, inherited powers, and essential infrastructure must survive safe transitions.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

This future resolves the thematic question raised by first contact, Saurai sovereignty, Veil permissions, and the post-Ahk Ra conflicts. It must not be inserted prematurely into Books I-XI.

CONTINUITY / APPROVAL NOTE

No specific final battle, treaty date, participant list, or implementation sequence is approved by this image.

CANON FRAMEWORK / SYMBOLIC COMPOSITION

WHAT HAPPENED

A symbolic council scene places the Hallow Engine at the edge of the Elohim order while early celestial observers confront the possibility that mortals can transcend prescribed limits. The depicted chamber and gathering are visual proposals, not a recorded meeting.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

The Hallow Engine (the oldest Elohim and Breaker of Rules), unnamed Elohim and Sentinels, and mortal observers represented only as silhouettes.

CAUSE

Elohim contact with mortal realms and discovery of mortal transcendence provoked disputes over guidance, possession, and the right to determine another being's future.

CONSEQUENCES

The ideological fracture eventually becomes part of the War in Heaven. The Hallow Engine remains distinct from factions claiming ownership; no specific speech, vote, or treaty is established here.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Its creation of Aethernox connects this celestial perspective to Veil guardianship and, much later, Gingey's rebirth. Do not automatically equate the Hallow Engine with the separately named Halo Engine.

315 / THE FLEET OF MANY KIN

DEEP HISTORY / DISPLACEMENT

INK STUDY / RECONSTRUCTED OR PROPOSED STAGING

ART / CONTINUITY NOTE

Kynari are beastfolk, not a human clan or a subordinate Saurai lineage. The fleet, its route, and all participants are PROPOSED; no new house or historical date is canonized.

PROPOSAL / KYNARI DIASPORA

WHAT HAPPENED

PROPOSAL: Kynari beastfolk guide a mixed refugee fleet away from a contested coast. The boats carry families, field supplies, and records rather than banners of conquest. This specific sea route has not been approved as historical canon.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed Kynari clan navigators, displaced human and elven families, possible Saurai escorts, and volunteer healers. No named ancestor is assigned.

CAUSE

Territorial seizure, celestial interference, and the danger of bloodline exploitation could plausibly force communities to seek safer passage.

CONSEQUENCES

If approved, the voyage would explain one branch of Kynari settlement and a practical tradition of shared refuge. Its location, date, and eventual settlement remain deliberately undecided.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Could seed humanitarian routes later used by the Nomad Alliance and help explain why beastfolk communities preserve maps, oral testimony, and cross-cultural obligations.

316 / NO BRIDLE FOR DRAGON BLOOD

DEEP HISTORY / SAURAI

INK STUDY / RECONSTRUCTED OR PROPOSED STAGING

ART / CONTINUITY NOTE

CANON: Saurai are dragon-blood free folk of equal significance to Kynari; outsiders cannot tame their dragons. PROPOSAL: this battlefield, dragon, combatants, and chronology.

CANON PRINCIPLE / PROPOSED CLASH

WHAT HAPPENED

A Saurai defender stands with a dragon before an approaching celestial force. This is a proposed composite confrontation expressing the established refusal of Saurai dragon-blood free folk to be owned or tamed by outsiders.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed Saurai fighters, a dragon responding to its own blood, and opposing Elohim-aligned enforcers. The dragon and fighters have no assigned family pedigree.

CAUSE

Attempts to classify dragon-blood freedom as property, mandate, or enforceable celestial privilege intensified conflict over consent and sovereignty.

CONSEQUENCES

Saurai resistance becomes a decisive moral fault line in the larger wars. The image does not establish a particular battle, dragon death, or victor.

LATER CONNECTIONS

The Saurai position helps clarify the split between ownership-seeking Elohim and those who support mortal freedom, shaping the Great Shift and War of Ascension.

317 / SEVEN CITIES, SEVEN WITNESSES

AHK RA / CONSEQUENCES

INK STUDY / RECONSTRUCTED OR PROPOSED STAGING

ART / CONTINUITY NOTE

CANON: seven cities were razed and Ahk Ra bears responsibility.
RECONSTRUCTION: the pictured skyline, specific survivors, and exact aftermath sequence.

CANON EVENT / ARTISTIC RECONSTRUCTION

WHAT HAPPENED

Survivors look across the ruins of one of the seven cities destroyed in Ahk Ra's campaign. The exact cityscape is reconstructed rather than copied from a named canonical location.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Civilian survivors, unnamed defenders, wandering healers, and people searching for missing relatives. Ahk Ra is the cause of the devastation, not its absolved narrator.

CAUSE

Ahk Ra's descent from persecuted heir to perpetrator included acts for which he remains accountable. Pestilence and inherited power do not erase the choices he made.

CONSEQUENCES

Mass death, scattered archives, broken alliances, and inherited fear of Sun-and-Ash convergence follow. The people affected are not reduced to scenery in his legend.

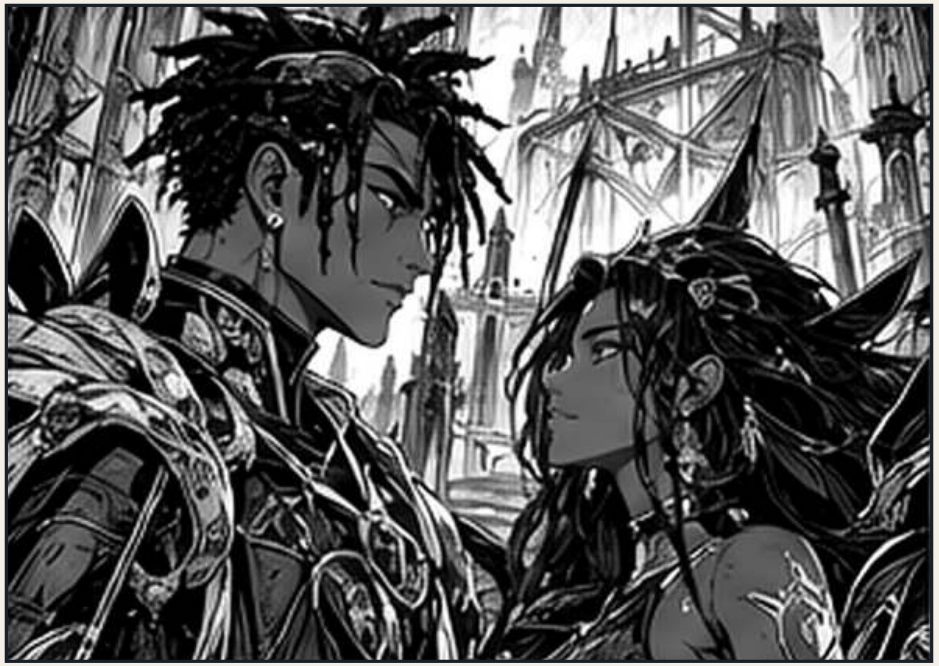
LATER CONNECTIONS

The devastation informs the Gilded Jackals' prohibition and the post-Ahk Ra struggles over relics, testimony, and who may claim the Eclipse legacy.

POST-AHK RA

318 / THE CONTRACT NO HOUSE WOULD SIGN

BLACK HOUSES / RELICS



INK STUDY / RECONSTRUCTED OR PROPOSED STAGING

ART / CONTINUITY NOTE

POST-AHK RA conflicts and rival houses are established. PROPOSAL: the port, meeting, inventory, unnamed envoys, and all treaty terms.

PROPOSAL / BLACK HOUSE INTRIGUE

WHAT HAPPENED

PROPOSAL: Two anonymous emissaries from rival Black Houses exchange a sealed relic inventory in a crowded port, each refusing to surrender sole custody of ancestral evidence.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed house envoys, hired witnesses, and a neutral scribe. The figures are not Kaisel or Lysandra, and the artwork does not assign either envoy to a named family.

CAUSE

Ahk Ra's death left rival families fighting over land, bloodline claims, forbidden artifacts, and control of the surviving historical record.

CONSEQUENCES

A temporary exchange might prevent an immediate raid while creating leverage for blackmail, theft, and future treaty failures. No specific agreement is approved.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Could link the Black Annals to later investigations of forged contracts, illicit relic keys, and factions exploiting inherited powers in the Present Day.

319 / THE GATE BENEATH THE TIDE

VEIL / PERMISSION

INK STUDY / RECONSTRUCTED OR PROPOSED STAGING

ART / CONTINUITY NOTE

CANON: Aethernox guards the Veil and permission matters. PROPOSAL: tidal activation, coastal site, explorers, key shape, and result of this encounter.

PROPOSAL / VEIL EXPLORATION

WHAT HAPPENED

PROPOSAL: A low-tide passage exposes an ancient threshold in coastal ruins. Explorers gather outside rather than forcing entry; the gate's key responds to permission, not merely to mechanical possession.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed researchers, Kynari pathfinders, Saurai scouts, and a possible Veil observer. Aethernox is not shown in a confirmed physical appearance.

CAUSE

Unstable crossings and the temptation to use recovered artifacts without understanding their terms bring expeditions to the edge of the Veil.

CONSEQUENCES

The group may retreat or record the gate rather than trespass. This scene creates no approved crossing, named portal, or new key mechanism.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Illustrates the door-and-permission motif around Aethernox, the Veil warden who helps the lost and confronts illegal crossings; it also anticipates Gingey's consent-related history.

320 / THE SENTINEL WHO LOWERED THE BLADE

CELESTIAL / COERCION

INK STUDY / RECONSTRUCTED OR PROPOSED STAGING

ART / CONTINUITY NOTE

CANON: the three empowerment categories and coercive contracts. PROPOSAL: this Sentinel, command, refusal, witnesses, and any punishment.

PROPOSAL / SENTINEL ETHICS

WHAT HAPPENED

PROPOSAL: An unnamed Sentinel is ordered to enforce a coercive binding and instead lowers the weapon before a frightened mortal witness. The illustration proposes a personal crisis, not a newly confirmed historical defection.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

One unidentified Sentinel, an Elohim superior outside the frame, and unnamed mortals. The Sentinel is neither a named secret ally nor a new member of the covert twelve.

CAUSE

The distinction between a Blessing given, Sentinel status recognized, and a Birthright inherited becomes dangerous when authorities confuse power with permission to command.

CONSEQUENCES

The decision could lead to reassignment, punishment, or escape, but none of those outcomes is canonized. The scene focuses on a moral refusal rather than a military victory.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Echoes the hidden Elohim divide and the later campaign to end compulsory contracts while preserving Anima, altered peoples, and the infrastructure they depend on.

321 / THE HOUNDS RECOGNIZE THE HEIR

RIVEN / ECLIPSE

INK STUDY / RECONSTRUCTED OR PROPOSED STAGING

ART / CONTINUITY NOTE

CANON: Riven's parentage, House Arakual, and the guardians Anubis and Seth.
SYMBOLIC: pose, place, timing, and appearance of this gathering.

CANON ELEMENTS / SYMBOLIC SCENE

WHAT HAPPENED

Riven stands between two ash-hound silhouettes as the Eclipse inheritance presses into the present. This is a symbolic composition, not a claim about the first time the hounds manifested.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Riven of House Arakual and his ash-hound guardians Anubis and Seth. Darius Eventide and other allies are part of his wider story but are not shown.

CAUSE

The Sun-and-Moon lineage of Khari and Amara converges in Riven, whose inherited powers are tied to cycles, memory, and the dangerous history of Ahk Ra.

CONSEQUENCES

Recognition of the bloodline brings responsibility and attention, not automatic moral authority. Riven must choose what to preserve and what to reject from ancestral precedent.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Links the House Arakual succession to the Eclipse Stardust path, the Veil, and the eventual challenge to coercive celestial ownership.

PRESENT DAY

322 / THE FROST FANG COUNTS THE LIVING

YAHIA / SOUTHERN BORDER

INK STUDY / RECONSTRUCTED OR PROPOSED STAGING

ART / CONTINUITY NOTE

CANON: Yahia's public honoring of survivors. VISUAL RECONSTRUCTION: camp, poses, and attendants. His natural eyes remain right purple / left blue; wrath changes only the right eye to red.

CANON EVENT / VISUAL RECONSTRUCTION

WHAT HAPPENED

Yahia Yukimura stands among survivors of the southern-border catastrophe, placing relief and remembrance before triumphal ceremony. The depicted camp is an artistic reconstruction of his first public act as Frost Fang heir.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Yahia, Frost Fang retainers, displaced civilians, and local helpers. Amelia is an important partner but is not asserted to be present at this exact gathering.

CAUSE

A man-made stampede and raiding devastated border communities. Hidden wrongdoing and his father's silence complicate Yahia's inheritance.

CONSEQUENCES

The act of honoring survivors reshapes the meaning of leadership for Yahia, whose restraint exists beside the Ice Drake's dangerous wrath.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Supports his evolution as the Frost Reaper and his effort to recover lost clan traditions without reproducing the violence of the frontier.

323 / A DAWN THAT REQUIRES CONSENT

FUTURE ENDPOINT

AFTER THE ANCIENT CONTRACTS

INK STUDY / RECONSTRUCTED OR PROPOSED STAGING

ART / CONTINUITY NOTE

APPROVED ENDGAME PRINCIPLE: end ancient contracts safely and allow only equal, informed, voluntary agreements. PROPOSAL: this ceremony, skyline, and exact participants.

APPROVED DIRECTION / PROPOSED VISUAL

WHAT HAPPENED

A cross-cultural procession looks toward a rebuilt horizon after the planned termination of all ancient celestial contracts. This is a proposed image of the approved destination, not an event already reached in Books I-XI.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Representatives of mortal peoples, Kynari beastfolk, Saurai dragon-blood free folk, and celestial beings willing to negotiate as equals. No pictured figure is assigned a new title.

CAUSE

Generations of possession, coerced oaths, forced experimentation, and exploitation demonstrate why inherited authority must yield to informed, voluntary agreement.

CONSEQUENCES

The intended transition preserves Anima, altered peoples, inherited abilities, and vital infrastructure rather than collapsing them in the name of liberation.

LATER CONNECTIONS

Serves as the distant thematic endpoint for Riven and his generation: freedom is not the absence of relationship, but the ability to choose its terms.

CHANGELOG / V20 TO V21

Preserved all 323 pages of v20 in a newly merged file; added 12 pages (cover, index, and 10 distinct rough-ink illustrations). Added clear canon/proposal boundaries, causes, consequences, participants, and forward links for each plate. No dates, names, bloodlines, treaties, or manuscript changes were approved.

Art note: new illustrations are crops from freshly generated concept sheets, not standalone full-resolution originals.

THE CARTOGRAPHERS OF MORTAL WILL

CELESTIAL ERA

VISUAL RECORD / NEW INK STUDY

Concept-board crop, regraded as rough inkwork. All figures, scenery and heraldry are interpretive unless specifically identified as established canon.

CANON FOUNDATION / PROPOSED STAGING

WHAT HAPPENED

An interpretive tableau of Elohim observers studying mortal realms after first contact. The discovery that mortals could transcend without celestial ownership unsettled the heavenly order; this particular mapping chamber is not established history.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed Elohim observers, early Sentinel envoys, and representative mortal delegates. The figures are composites, not newly named celestial authorities.

CAUSES

Mortal self-directed development challenged assumptions about who could confer power, recognition, or passage.

CONSEQUENCES

The resulting disagreement over guidance, control, and freedom helped ignite the War in Heaven. No single council or treaty is asserted here.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

Foreshadows covert early contact in Book I, the public Blessing of Passage in Book II, and the later division between ownership-seeking Elohim and defenders of mortal choice.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

Canon: first contact, mortal transcendence, and celestial schism. Proposal: the depicted gathering, map, architecture, and participants.

THE WINTER LEDGER OF MANY CLANS

DEEP HISTORY / KYNARI

VISUAL RECORD / NEW INK STUDY

Concept-board crop, regraded as rough inkwork. All figures, scenery and heraldry are interpretive unless specifically identified as established canon.

PROPOSAL / DISPLACEMENT

WHAT HAPPENED

A proposed Kynari beastfolk convoy carries a ledger of displaced households through a mountain passage. The record preserves kinship, routes, and the names of those who cannot complete the journey.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Kynari clan wardens and families, mixed mortal travelers, and unnamed Saurai scouts offered as possible allies.

CAUSES

Raiding, contested territory, and repeated upheavals forced communities to move; the exact campaign, route, and date are intentionally unassigned.

CONSEQUENCES

If adopted, the ledger becomes a practical means of reunification and a defense against later erasure of beastfolk histories.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

Could connect to post-Ahk Ra survivor networks and the Nomad Alliance without asserting a newly canonized migration or house alliance.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

Entire specific convoy, route, ledger, and Saurai escort are proposals. Kynari are established beastfolk, not a newly created species.

THE SKY CANNOT BE INHERITED AS PROPERTY

DEEP HISTORY / SAURAI

VISUAL RECORD / NEW INK STUDY

Concept-board crop, regraded as rough inkwork. All figures, scenery and heraldry are interpretive unless specifically identified as established canon.

CANON PRINCIPLE / PROPOSED STANDOFF

WHAT HAPPENED

A dragon-blood Saurai champion faces a symbolic celestial claim of ownership. The unseen dragon overhead is a free being, not a beast subdued by an outsider.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Composite Saurai defenders, unnamed celestial claimants, and a free dragon. No specific battle or named champion is assigned.

CAUSES

Celestial powers sought to classify or bind dragon-blood peoples through contracts and claims of authority.

CONSEQUENCES

Saurai resistance became a decisive expression of freedom during the wider conflicts, sharpening the split between ownership and self-determination.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

Resonates through the Great Shift and the War of Ascension, and informs the moral stakes of later celestial-contract reforms.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

Canon: Saurai sovereignty and the refusal of outsider taming. Proposal: this warrior, location, dragon, and confrontation.

THE CENSUS AFTER THE SEVENTH FIRE

DEEP HISTORY / AHK RA AFTERMATH

VISUAL RECORD / NEW INK STUDY

Concept-board crop, regraded as rough inkwork. All figures, scenery and heraldry are interpretive unless specifically identified as established canon.

CANON EVENT / PROPOSED VIEWPOINT

WHAT HAPPENED

A survivor looks over the last of seven cities razed during Ahk Ra's campaign. Rather than showing the conquest as spectacle, the illustration centers loss and the obligation to remember.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unidentified survivors and rescuers; Ahk Ra is implicated by his established actions but is not depicted as absolved by persecution or pestilence.

CAUSES

Ahk Ra's escalating greed, violent choices, and the catastrophic convergence of Sun and Ash amid pestilence.

CONSEQUENCES

Deaths, exile, broken archives, and fear of the Eclipse bloodline outlasted the battle itself.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

Feeds the Gilded Jackals' prohibition against another Sun-and-Ash convergence, the post-Ahk Ra house struggles, and the burden inherited by Khari and Riven.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

Canon: seven destroyed cities and accountability for atrocities. Proposal: the specific viewpoint, rescue effort, and census.

THE TABLE OF UNSIGNED BORDERS

POST-AHK RA / BLACK HOUSES

VISUAL RECORD / NEW INK STUDY

Concept-board crop, regraded as rough inkwork. All figures, scenery and heraldry are interpretive unless specifically identified as established canon.

PROPOSAL / POLITICAL AFTERMATH

WHAT HAPPENED

Representatives of rival Black Houses study a damaged territorial map without agreeing to divide survivors, relics, or passage rights as property.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Composite Black House delegates, an independent recorder, and possible Kynari and Saurai observers; no new house names are assigned.

CAUSES

Ahk Ra's fall left power vacuums, displaced communities, contested artifacts, and incompatible claims to legitimacy.

CONSEQUENCES

The hypothetical council ends without a binding accord. Its failure illustrates how reconstruction can become another form of domination.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

Provides a possible seed for later house rivalries, underground organizations, and defensive coalitions in the Books X-XI period.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

This meeting, its seating plan, and its outcome are unapproved proposals; no treaty, marriage, or ancestral pedigree is established.

THE EBB GATE AND THE RIGHT TO REFUSE

DEEP HISTORY / VEIL THRESHOLDS

VISUAL RECORD / NEW INK STUDY

Concept-board crop, regraded as rough inkwork. All figures, scenery and heraldry are interpretive unless specifically identified as established canon.

PROPOSAL / VEIL RESEARCH

WHAT HAPPENED

A small mixed expedition approaches a tide-exposed Veil gate whose opening does not grant automatic permission to cross.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed navigators and scholars; Kynari and Saurai observers are possible. Aethernox is relevant as the hidden Veil warden but is deliberately not depicted.

CAUSES

Dangerous crossings and the search for safer routes encouraged study of gates, keys, and consent.

CONSEQUENCES

The proposed explorers turn back rather than forcing the threshold. This is a lesson about limits, not proof of a new gate mechanism.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

Echoes Aethernox's door-and-permission motif, the preserved consent lapse, and Gingey's later complicated relationship with the Veil.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

Gate location, tide behavior, expedition, and decision are proposals. A key alone is not presented as sufficient authority.

A SENTINEL LEAVES THE ORDER UNFULFILLED

CELESTIAL ERA / SCHISM

VISUAL RECORD / NEW INK STUDY

Concept-board crop, regraded as rough inkwork. All figures, scenery and heraldry are interpretive unless specifically identified as established canon.

PROPOSAL / SENTINEL ETHICS

WHAT HAPPENED

An unnamed Sentinel pauses before enforcing a coercive mortal binding. The image imagines a choice, not an attested defection or named founding act.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

One composite Sentinel, mortal witnesses, and unseen celestial command. No member of the covert four-Elohim/eight-Sentinel network is identified.

CAUSES

The conflict between obedience to celestial hierarchy and recognition of mortal agency.

CONSEQUENCES

If adopted, the incident could expose fault lines inside the Sentinel ranks, but its result and punishment remain unassigned.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

Thematically anticipates the hidden allies who study pestilence and later support protagonists, without revealing their aliases or chronology.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

Sentinel means recognized or knighted, not automatically power granted. This incident and all identities remain speculative.

THE JACKALS AT THE REFUGEE RELAY

POST-AHK RA / HOUSE CONFLICTS

VISUAL RECORD / NEW INK STUDY

Concept-board crop, regraded as rough inkwork. All figures, scenery and heraldry are interpretive unless specifically identified as established canon.

CANON CREED / PROPOSED OPERATION

WHAT HAPPENED

Gilded Jackal watchers and animal companions hold a snowy relay while families pass between rival territories. Their vigilance can protect travelers but also restrict them.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Composite Gilded Jackal guards, Kynari travelers, and unnamed neutral guides; the pictured animals are not new named familiars.

CAUSES

After Ahk Ra, fear of another Sun-and-Ash convergence fostered surveillance of relics and bloodline claims.

CONSEQUENCES

The proposed relay demonstrates the moral ambiguity of security: stopping dangerous coercion can slide into control of innocents.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

Connects the Jackals' established "Never allow Sun + Ash" doctrine to later suspicion of the Eclipse line and Riven's struggle for self-determination.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

Canon: the Jackals' anti-convergence creed. Proposal: the relay, patrol, animal companions, and specific rescue.

RIVEN BEFORE THE UNCHOSEN HARBOR

PRESENT DAY / HOUSE ARAKUAL

VISUAL RECORD / NEW INK STUDY

Concept-board crop, regraded as rough inkwork. All figures, scenery and heraldry are interpretive unless specifically identified as established canon.

PROPOSAL / RIVEN CHARACTER STUDY

WHAT HAPPENED

Riven watches ships and distant thresholds from a crowded harbor, considering the difference between inheriting power and consenting to the obligations attached to it.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Riven of House Arakual; other figures are anonymous travelers, not confirmed appearances by Khari, Amara, or the main cast.

CAUSES

His Eclipse inheritance connects the Ara'Kai, Ahk Ra, and Khari eras while exposing him to competing celestial and mortal expectations.

CONSEQUENCES

No new awakening, journey, decision, or meeting is canonized. The illustration captures a possible quiet interval of reflection.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

The image points toward the planned end of involuntary contracts and Riven's eventual refusal to repeat ancient ownership systems.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

Canon: lineage and ethical stakes. Proposal: harbor, costume, dialogue-free moment, and chronological placement.

THE DAWN THAT KEEPS ITS PROMISE

FUTURE / AFTER THE ANCIENT CONTRACTS

VISUAL RECORD / NEW INK STUDY

Concept-board crop, regraded as rough inkwork. All figures, scenery and heraldry are interpretive unless specifically identified as established canon.

APPROVED ENDPOINT / PROPOSED VISUAL

WHAT HAPPENED

A symbolic view of communities rebuilding after the termination of all ancient celestial contracts. The scene is deliberately not assigned to a specific chapter or final ceremony.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Future mortal, Kynari, Saurai, and celestial communities; silhouettes are representative and do not confirm named survivors.

CAUSES

Centuries of coercive binding, exploitation, and inherited obligations demand a settlement based on informed and voluntary agreement.

CONSEQUENCES

Anima, inherited abilities, altered peoples, and essential infrastructure are preserved through safe transitions; new agreements require genuine consent.

CONNECTIONS TO LATER EVENTS

This is the approved long-range destination beyond the current Books I-XI arc, not an event already accomplished in the present-day storyline.

CANON / PROPOSAL BOUNDARY

Approved: abolition of ancient contracts with continuity of life and power. Proposal: all pictured people, buildings, and staging.

THE RIGHT TO CROSS

TEN NEW HISTORICAL STUDIES / PLATES 338-347

The twenty-first Living Atlas supplement follows a single question across the eras: who has the right to decide where another life may go? The answer changes from the Elohim's first observations to Saurai resistance, Veil permissions, the Black Houses' postwar claims, and Riven's unfinished choices.

Archive continuity: The first 335 pages are preserved in the separate merged v22 file. This supplement contributes pages 336-347. Scene-specific inventions are explicitly proposals; the whispering woman is never depicted.

Added 10 distinct hand-ink-style illustrated studies and 10 full lore records; appended a cover and chronological index. Preserved all prior artwork and pages in the new merged file. No new historical dates, genealogy, Mandates, manuscript changes, or canon approvals. The art originates from a newly generated concept sheet; each illustration is separately cropped and paired with editorial text.

THE THRESHOLD OF RECOGNITION

CELESTIAL ERA / FIRST CONTACT

ILLUSTRATION / CANON LIMIT

Established: first contact, discovery of transcendence, resulting schism. Proposed: architecture, meeting, participants, and timing within that process.

RELATED ARCHIVE PLATES: 326, 290

CANON FOUNDATION; COMPOSITION PROPOSED

WHAT HAPPENED

The Elohim encountered mortal self-direction and the possibility of mortal transcendence. This hall of observers is an interpretive image, not a documented first treaty or ceremony.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Early Elohim observers, mortal communities, and unnamed celestial envoys. No specific individual is identified by the artwork.

CAUSE

Mortal potential challenged celestial assumptions that passage, power, and recognition must originate in heaven.

CONSEQUENCES

Disagreement over guidance versus ownership helped trigger the War in Heaven. No formal compact is asserted here.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Leads to covert contact in Book I, the public Blessing of Passage in Book II, and the later schism between coercive and pro-freedom Elohim.

Historical illustration - not a manuscript addition.

THE STONE PASS OF MANY KIN

DEEP HISTORY / KYNARI

ILLUSTRATION / CANON LIMIT

Kynari are beastfolk and historically important. This particular pass, coalition, journey, and resulting settlements remain unapproved.

RELATED ARCHIVE PLATES: 327, 315

PROPOSAL / MIGRATION STUDY

WHAT HAPPENED

A caravan of Kynari beastfolk crosses a dangerous mountain pass alongside displaced mortals. The route and journey are a proposed illustration of wider population movements.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed Kynari clans, civilian families, human guides, and possible Saurai scouts; none are established historical individuals.

CAUSE

Territorial encroachment, resource competition, and the long aftershocks of celestial and mortal wars could have forced communities to move.

CONSEQUENCES

If adopted, such journeys would explain dispersed Kynari settlements, mutual-aid traditions, and archives preserved by travelers.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

A possible ancestral echo of later Nomad Alliance networks and post-Ahk Ra refugee routes, without assigning an invented date or pedigree.

Historical illustration - not a manuscript addition.

THE UNCLAIMED SKY

DEEP HISTORY / SAURAI

ILLUSTRATION / CANON LIMIT

Canon: Saurai sovereignty and dragon-blood freedom. Proposal: this fighter, dragon, setting, and specific confrontation.

RELATED ARCHIVE PLATES: 328, 316

CANON PRINCIPLE; SCENE PROPOSED

WHAT HAPPENED

A dragon-blood Saurai faces a dragon beneath an open sky, refusing the notion that either can be owned by an external celestial authority.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

An unnamed Saurai defender and dragon kin; the pictured confrontation is symbolic rather than an identified battle.

CAUSE

Celestial factions sought to classify bloodlines, dragons, and their gifts as property subject to binding contracts.

CONSEQUENCES

Saurai refusal clarified the divide between Elohim seeking ownership and those defending mortal freedom. Dragons remain untamable by outsiders.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

This struggle feeds the War in Heaven and later wars; Saurai independence also shapes the tragic relationships surrounding Ahk Ra.

Historical illustration - not a manuscript addition.

THE SEVENTH CITY'S QUIET

DEEP HISTORY / AHK RA AFTERMATH

ILLUSTRATION / CANON LIMIT

The seven cities and Ahk Ra's culpability are canon. No exact city plan, witness identity, chronology, or scene detail is established.

RELATED ARCHIVE PLATES: 329, 317

CANON EVENT; RECONSTRUCTED VIEW

WHAT HAPPENED

A survivor looks over ruins following the destruction of the seven cities attributed to Ahk Ra. This vantage point and lone witness are artistic reconstruction.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unidentified survivors and the absent dead; Ahk Ra is the responsible historical actor, not a figure excused by this depiction.

CAUSE

Ahk Ra's persecution, growing corruption, betrayal, and later atrocities culminated in destruction on a massive scale.

CONSEQUENCES

Lives, institutions, and testimony were lost. Surviving accounts became contested evidence for later families and resistance movements.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

The Gilded Jackals' Sun-and-Ash prohibition, post-Ahk Ra house struggles, and Riven's inherited burden all echo these events.

Historical illustration - not a manuscript addition.

THE TABLE WITHOUT A CROWN

POST-AHK RA / HOUSE CONFLICTS

ILLUSTRATION / CANON LIMIT

Post-Ahk Ra house conflicts are established. This particular meeting, attendees, treaty, and territorial outcome are not canon.

RELATED ARCHIVE PLATES: 330, 321

PROPOSAL / DIPLOMATIC TABLEAU

WHAT HAPPENED

Rival Black House delegates gather over disputed borders, records, and relics after Ahk Ra's defeat. The depicted council is a composite proposal.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed house representatives, possible Nomad mediators, and observers from mortal, Kynari, and Saurai communities.

CAUSE

The loss of a central threat left power vacuums, competing inheritance claims, and fear of renewed Sun-and-Ash convergence.

CONSEQUENCES

A hypothetical agreement could halt a local conflict while allowing rival claims and covert organizations to survive.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Frames the political inheritance of the present-day houses, the Black Annals, and later underground struggles over ancestral authority.

Historical illustration - not a manuscript addition.

THE GATE THAT REFUSES A KEY

DEEP HISTORY / THE VEIL

ILLUSTRATION / CANON LIMIT

Canon: Aethernox guards the Veil and permission matters. Proposal: this gate, low-tide conditions, travelers, and outcome.

RELATED ARCHIVE PLATES: 331, 319

PROPOSAL / THRESHOLD STUDY

WHAT HAPPENED

Travelers reach a luminous Veil gate whose opening cannot be guaranteed by a relic alone. The apparent gate and its location are proposed.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed explorers and threshold observers. Aethernox is relevant as Veil warden but is not visually identified in this scene.

CAUSE

Unauthorized crossings, forgotten permissions, and dangerous assumptions about who may enter a threshold.

CONSEQUENCES

The proposed encounter leaves travelers uncertain whether possession of a key grants the right to pass.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Reinforces Aethernox's door-and-permission motif, Gingey's rebirth history, and modern questions about illegal crossing and consent.

Historical illustration - not a manuscript addition.

THE UNRECORDED REFUSAL

CELESTIAL ERA / LATER DIVISION

ILLUSTRATION / CANON LIMIT

Canon: celestial divisions and coercive contracts. Proposal: this Sentinel, the refusal, its consequences, and its placement in the timeline.

RELATED ARCHIVE PLATES: 332, 320

PROPOSAL / UNNAMED SENTINEL

WHAT HAPPENED

A Sentinel declines a coercive instruction and protects an unidentified mortal. No established Sentinel is assigned this act.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

An unnamed Sentinel, unnamed celestial superiors, and a vulnerable mortal subject.

CAUSE

Artificial binding and compelled obedience exposed the difference between a recognized Sentinel and a person's freely chosen allegiance.

CONSEQUENCES

If adopted, the refusal could reveal concealed dissent without determining whether the Sentinel survived, defected, or was punished.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Foreshadows the later covert assistance of four Elohim and eight Sentinels, but this scene is not assigned to those twelve.

THE JACKALS AT THE RELAY

POST-AHK RA / GILDED JACKALS

ILLUSTRATION / CANON LIMIT

The Jackals and their prohibition are canon. This relay, inspection, aid arrangement, and any named participants are not.

RELATED ARCHIVE PLATES: 333, 318

PROPOSAL / MIXED-MOTIVE OPERATION

WHAT HAPPENED

Gilded Jackal agents examine a caravan's records at a relief relay. The image allows both protection of civilians and intrusive surveillance.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Unnamed Jackal operatives, Kynari displaced families, possible Saurai escorts, and local record keepers.

CAUSE

The Jackals' creed - never permit Sun and Ash to converge - can drive protective action as well as coercive scrutiny.

CONSEQUENCES

In this proposal, aid moves forward but the refugees pay a price in scrutiny, mistrust, and restricted access to relics.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Reflects the post-Ahk Ra struggle over records and bloodlines and anticipates the present-day pressure on House Arakual.

Historical illustration - not a manuscript addition.

RIVEN AT THE TIDE LINE

PRESENT DAY / HOUSE ARAKUAL

ILLUSTRATION / CANON LIMIT

Canon: lineage, cyclical inheritance, and freedom themes. Proposal: harbor, decision, dialogue, and any chronological placement.

RELATED ARCHIVE PLATES: 334, 323

PROPOSAL / CHARACTER MOMENT

WHAT HAPPENED

Riven watches a harbor skyline while deciding how much of his inherited Eclipse legacy to reveal. This location and moment are proposed.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

Riven of House Arakual; the distant figures are unidentified. Khari and Amara are present through his inheritance, not shown at the quay.

CAUSE

The convergence of Sun and Moon bloodlines, old celestial claims, and the dangers of inherited power press upon his choices.

CONSEQUENCES

The imagined pause gives Riven agency: ancestral ability does not automatically authorize him to control anyone else.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

Connects the Ara'Kai - Ahk Ra - Khari - Riven lineage to Riven's awakening, Tayocan, and the eventual struggle over celestial contracts.

Historical illustration - not a manuscript addition.

THE MORNING AFTER THE LAST OATH

FUTURE / END OF ANCIENT CONTRACTS

APPROVED ENDPOINT; SCENE PROPOSED

WHAT HAPPENED

A symbolic gathering looks toward a world in which ancient celestial contracts no longer govern the living.

WHO WAS INVOLVED

A composite of mortal peoples, Kynari, Saurai, and reformed celestial allies; no specific future attendance or grouping is fixed.

CAUSE

Centuries of coercive possession, blood oaths, experimentation, and enforced obligations make the old order untenable.

CONSEQUENCES

The approved end-state terminates ancient contracts while preserving Anima, inherited powers, altered peoples, and essential infrastructure through safe transitions.

CONNECTION TO LATER EVENTS

New agreements must be equal, informed, and voluntary. This is a future destination beyond Books I-XI, not a completed present-day event.

ILLUSTRATION / CANON LIMIT

Approved: contract termination and safeguards. Proposal: landscape, characters, ceremony, visual sequence, and immediate aftermath.
